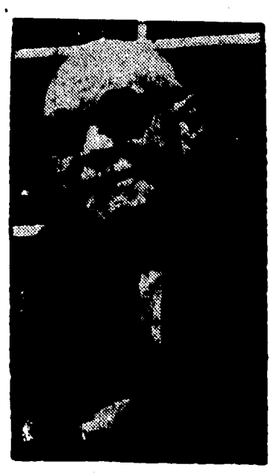
Judge Claims Kennedy Negligent In Kopechne Death



Judge James A. Boyle

BOSTON (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's claim that a wrong turn led to his plunge from a narrow bridge on Chappaquiddick Island has been disputed by an inquest judge who said the senator was negligent in the accident that killed Mary Jo Kopechne.

Kennedy said he rejected as unjustified the inference and the finding of Judge James A. Boyle, whose inquest report raised new questions about the accident that altered American politics.

Final Statement

And with his statement, the last of the Kennedy brothers said Wednesday he would speak no more of the fateful night on Chappaquiddick.

"The facts of this incident are now fully public," he said, "and eventual judgment and understanding rests where it belongs."

On Nov. 3, the 38-year-old assistant majority leader seeks re-election to the U.S. Senate. He said he did not know whether the inquest papers made public Wednesday would be used against him in the campaign.

No Clear Account

Kennedy's inquest testimony gave no clear account of his reasons for failing to report the accident to police until more than 10 hours after it happened. He denied any personal involvement with Miss Kopechne and said that at no time the night of the accident was he under the influence of alcohol.

In his tardy police report on the July 18 accident, and in his testimony to the secret inquest last Jan. 5, Kennedy said he turned by mistake onto the dirt road that led him to Dike Bridge and the accident. He said he and Miss Kopechne were headed for the ferry from Chappaquiddick back to Edgartown, on Martha's Vineyard.

Judge Doubts Facts

In the major surprise of the inquest papers, Boyle said he didn't believe it. The judge, who retires from the bench at midnight tonight, recited the inquest evidence, then declared:

"I infer a reasonable and probable explanation of the totality of the above facts is that Kennedy and Kopechne did not intend to return to Edgartown at this time; that Kennedy did not intend to drive to the ferry slip and his turn onto Dike Road was intentional."

That road leads away from the ferry crossing, across the bridge to a lonely, undeveloped beach on the easterly shore of Chappaquiddick.

Bridge Described

Boyle's report described the bridge this way:

"Dike Bridge is a wooden structure 10 feet, six inches wide, has timber curbs on each side four inches high by 10 inches wide, no other guardrails, and runs at an angle of 27 degrees to the left of the road. There are no signs or artificial lights on the bridge or its approach."

"A speed of even 20 miles per hour, as Kennedy testified to, operating a car as large as this Oldsmobile," the judge declared, "would at least be negligent and, possibly, reckless. If Kennedy knew of this hazard, his operation of the vehicle constituted criminal conduct."

Knew Of Hazard

The judge said Kennedy had been driven over the bridge twice on the day of the accident.

"I believe it probable that Kennedy knew of the hazard that lay ahead of him on Dike Road but that, for some reason not apparent from the testimony, he failed to exercise due care as he approached the bridge," the judge said.

Boyle's report, dated Feb. 18, did not explain why no additional charge was filed against Kennedy, who pleaded guilty on July 25 to leaving the scene of the accident. Boyle sentenced him to two months in jail, suspended, and a year's probation.

New Charge Possible

The possibility of new charges remained among the unanswered questions. By state Supreme Court order, the inquest papers were released only after Dist. Atty. Edmund Dinis pronounced the case closed and certified that he planned no further prosecution.

Until that time, the inquest transcript and the Boyle report were locked in a courthouse safe.

Further Criminal Action Possible Against Kennedy

BOSTON (AP) — A possibility remained today that further criminal action could result from Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's auto accident last summer in which Mary Jo Kopechne died.

"There would be nothing to stop a grand jury from reopening the case," said a highly placed legal source close to proceedings already completed. "Grand juries have great latitude in Massachusetts."

In the event of a new grand jury investigation of the accident, however, there would remain the question of a state Supreme Court ruling in the case last year.

The court, in directing that the inquest into the accident be closed to the public, declared that the testimony given at the proceeding "should not be released until all threat of prosecution was removed."

Earlier this month, Dist. Atty. Edmund Dinis, who requested the inquest, filed a formal statement saying that no further formal investigation was planned. Subsequently, the inquest transcript was ordered released and it was made public Wednesday.

Judge James A. Boyle of District Court, who presided at the inquest, said in his report, "There is probable cause to believe that . . . Kennedy operated his motor vehicle negligently."

Under Massachusetts law, this finding entitled Boyle to recommend that a charge of driving to endanger be brought against Kennedy.

He did not make that recommendation, however, nor did he explain why he refrained from doing so.

"This may be significant," the source said, "but it's difficult to say without an explanation."

Driving to endanger is a misdemeanor under Massachusetts law, with maximum punishment of a fine of $200 and up to two years in jail.

Missile Fund Cut Defeated

WASHINGTON (AP) — An effort to suspend part of the U.S. MIRV nuclear warhead buildup —which opponents said could wreck the U.S.-Soviet disarmament talks—has been defeated by the House.

An amendment to cut all $471.7 million for MIRV-tipped Minuteman III missiles from the $20.24 billion military weapons authorization was rejected Wednesday 85 to 39.

Rep. Jeffrey Cohelan, D-Calif., the amendment's sponsor, called the buildup incomprehensible in the face of U.S. efforts to negotiate disarmament with the Soviets.

He said the Soviet response could be to mount a capability to launch a first-strike nuclear attack against the United States.

But Rep. Leslie C. Arends, R-Ill., said the Soviets already appear to be building a first-strike capability and the U.S. MIRV buildup and Safeguard antimissile system are needed to deter it.

The Soviet arsenal of 275 SS-9 missiles appears aimed at knocking out U.S. retaliatory missiles in a first-strike attack, Arends said.

Russia would need only 200 SS-9s to retaliate against U.S. cities if the United States attacked first, he said.

"The fact is that the Soviets are still installing missiles that make no sense except as a threat to our Minutemen," Arends said. "We must take this threat seriously."

Military Aides See Cambodian Fight Helpful

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S.-supported South Vietnamese move into Cambodia could yield a double dividend military sources say.

As they see it, the action could ease the North Vietnamese threat to the Cambodian capital of Phnom Penh while disrupting a key base area from which the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong often have struck into South Vietnam.

Military officers suggested the apparently large-scale South Vietnamese operation into Cambodia's "Parrot's Beak" might help derail any enemy offensive moves into South Vietnam next month.

Blackmun OK Seems Assured

WASHINGTON (AP) — A three-hour hearing devoid of any opposition has cleared the way for prompt Senate Judiciary Committee approval of Judge Harry A. Blackmun's nomination to the Supreme Court.

Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss., called today's meeting in hopes of taking a vote but noted any member had the right to invoke a rule delaying action for a week.

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., said prior to the meeting he was inclined "to go a little more slowly" but hadn't decided whether to force a postponement.

At Wednesday's hearing, Bayh told Blackmun "the fact that a man of your caliber and excellence is before us now provides some salve for past wounds and confrontations."

"Perhaps these old battles have been worthwhile," said Bayh, a leader in Senate rejection of President Nixon's earlier nominations of Judge Clement F. Haynsworth of Greenville, S.C. and Judge G. Harrold Carswell of Tallahassee, Fla.

The committee's favorable attitude to Blackmun cut across party lines and political philosophies.

Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., predicted prompt confirmation of Blackmun and added "it appears you are a man of high ethical standards, as was Judge Haynsworth, and of competence, as was Judge Carswell."

Kopechnes Not Talking About Inquest Report

BERKELEY HEIGHTS, N.J. (AP) — The parents of Mary Jo Kopechne say they will defer comment on an inquest report released in Boston until they read it with a lawyer.

The Kopechnes said Wednesday night they would go to Wilkes Barre, Pa. to consult with attorney Joseph Flanagan, who has represented them in the case. Miss Kopechne was born in Wilkes Barre and was buried there last summer.

Flanagan, who was successful in preventing exhumation of Mary Jo's body for an autopsy late last year, said, "I heve ordered a copy of the inquest report and transcript and will have no comment at least until after I have read it thoroughly."

Flanagan also is representing the parents in a civil action against Sen. Edward M. Kennedy and his insurance firm in connection with the auto death. The amount of damages sought has not been disclosed.

Flanagan declined comment on what effect the inquest testimony might have on the lawsuit.

AEC Will Delay Nuclear Plant Opening, Report

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)— The president of the Michigan Steelhead and Salmon Fishermen's Association says the Atomic Energy Commission has agreed to delay opening the Palisades Nuclear Power Plant on Lake Michigan until after a public hearing.

Ronald McCandles said in Grand Rapids Wednesday that the hearing may be held in June in Kalamazoo.

The request for a delay had come from McCandles's group and five other conservation organization .

Conservationists fear that the nuclear plant would warm the nearby water and thus kill some fish, force others into deeper water, and har mthe lake.

They said the plant would use lake water and then return it to the lake 28 degrees warmer. Conservationists want assurances that a cooling system will be installed in the plant.

Criticism Running High Against Cambodia Move

Nixon To Explain Decision Tonight

WASHINGTON (AP) — Amid a storm of criticism in Congress, President Nixon addresses the nation tonight to explain his surprise decision to provide U.S. military support for a South Vietnamese thrust into Cambodia.

In a test of congressional reaction, the House scheduled a vote today on an amendment by Rep. Ogen Reid, R-N.Y., prohibiting the United States from sending ground troops into Cambodia.

Full Scale Airing

A fufll-scale airing of the administration's controversial move appeared certain when the Senate—and its Foreign Relations Committee—came back after a day's recess.

Nixon set his nationally televised address for 9 p.m. EDT. Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said the speech will relate to Cambodia and U.S. forces in Vietnam. Ziegler said a Cambodian request for direct U.S. arms aid remains under consideration.

Members of both parties joined in protest Wednesday after the decision was announced first in Saigon, then in Washington by the Pentagon, to provide advisers, air support and other aid for the South Vietnamese action.

Plan Denounced

Top Senate Democrats, including Sens. Mike Mansfield, Edward M. Kennedy, J. W. Fulbright, Edmund S. Muskie, and George S. McGovern, denounced it as a move to widen the Vietnam war.

Senior Republican members of the Foreign Relations Committee joined in. Sen. George D. Aiken of Vermont, a veteran GOP leader, cautioned the action might have an "extremely bad" effect on GOP political prospects in the November elections.

Two Back Move

The chairmen of House and Senate armed services committee, Rep. L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., and Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., backed the move. But Stennis added he opposes massive military aid to Cambodia.

Announcement of the new U.S. move came during the Senate recess and two days after a near-unanimous Senate Foreign Relations Committee strongly opposed both American aid to the new Cambodian government or help for South Vietnamese action against Communist forces in Cambodia.

The Pentagon announcement, by Asst. Defense Secretary Daniel Z. Henkin, said the U.S. Command in Saigon "is prepared to provide support" to the South Vietnamese, including "advisers, tactical air, air coordinators, medical evacuation and some logistics assistance."

Increasing Threat

Henkin said enemy sanctuaries in Cambodia "have imposed an increasing threat to the security of free world forces in South Vietnam."

The decision also came 10 days after Nixon announced further U.S. troop withdrawals from Vietnam—and predicted, "We finally have in sight the just peace we are seeking."

Noting this, Muskie told newsmen "the burden is on him to demonstrate convincingly there has been such a change" since then to warrant the new U.S. action.

Step In Wrong Direction

Mansfield called the decision to send U.S. advisers into Cambodia "the first step in the wrong direction." Noting that Capitol Hill was concerned and uneasy, the Democratic leader added: "This could now be called the Indochinese war. What is happening now is a whole new ball game."

Welfare Plan Costs Soaring; Finch Quizzed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Finance Committee called back Welfare Secretary Robert H. Finch today after his initial testimony produced sharp disagreement on the cost of President Nixon's plan to reform the welfare system.

The secretary, opening the administration's case for the bill Wednesday, acknowledged it may cost $400 million more than the original $4.4 billion estimate.

But Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., the committee's senior Republican, insisted the proposal is more likely to cost $1.25 billion over the first projection.

While several GOP members drew a bead on the program's cost and how it could be met, Democrats said the proposal raised hopes that clearly could not be fulfilled.

Finch agreed the plan cannot answer all the needs of the poor but added it is not intended as a cure-all for unemployment problems.

The secretary said the plan would reduce the nation's poverty gap by about 60 per cent, set up national standards to make the welfare system more equitable, and provide real incentives to welfare recipients to get jobs.

Williams said he believed the cost has jumped by $1.25 billion because the unemployment rate now is nearly a full percentage point higher than the 3.5 per cent figure used when the program's cost was estimated.

The Delaware senator also contended the higher benefit levels possible under the plan appeared to negate the argument that it can increase incentives for those on welfare to get jobs.

It would be possible, he said, for a family of four to get a $7,405 income without any family member doing any work.

Williams said this would be more than the after-tax income of a family whose head earned more than $9,000 in a job.

President Plans Mideast Review

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has ordered a full scale review of the Middle East situation in the wake of a State Department report that Russian pilots are flying combat planes in Egypt.

White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Wednesday, "The President has ordered an immediate and full evaluation of intelligence reports and the implication of them on the strategic balance in the Middle East."

"We regard this as a serious development and potentially dangerous," State Department Press Officer Robert J. McCloskey added.

In addition, a spokesman said, the United States plans to ask the Soviet Union what its intentions are in permitting such actions.

The Russian-piloted aircraft reportedly have not ventured into Israeli airspace, sources said, but stayed within Egyptian boundaries.

Soviet Crews also are reportedly manning Moscow-built surface-to-air missile sites.

Nixon pledged to keep a close watch on the Middle East balance of power in making his recent decision not to grant additional airplanes to Israel.

The administration reportedly will take a hard look at Israel's standing request for more warplanes. Israel currently has fewer planes than the Arab nations, but have achieved what was described as a "qualitative" balance of power through better trained pilots.

The Russian pilots are highly trained and considered better than their Arab counterparts. This sophistication by Soviets at the controls of MIG21s, it was reported, threatens the balance of power.

Speaking in New York, Undersecretary of State Elliot L. Richardson warned Russia against a new escalation in the Arab-Israeli conflict, saying it could increase "the danger of stirring up a wider conflict."

Guardsmen On Scene At OSU; 300 Arrested

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — National Guardsmen broke up a fresh demonstration at Ohio State University today as drifting crowds of students began a second day of campus disorders. More than 50 were hurt in a 24-hour span and arrests approached 300.

Guardsmen wearing gas masks fired an irritant gas into a crowd gathered on the Oval, a grassy park in mid-campus.

Columbus policeman Ralph Drown estimated up to 2,000 students were milling about the area.

Students scattered across campus as clouds of gas drifted about.

The gas broke the crowd into three or four groups and guardsmen with fixed bayonets kept the gatherings a block or more from the university administration building, scene of some of Wednesday's disorder.

Guardsmen wearing gas masks used highway department road barricades to encircle and seal off the administration building.

Gas fumes drifted into the administration building where executives closed offices and sent workers home.

Gas victims said that used by guardsmen was more irritating than gas used by city police and highway patrolmen to break up Wednesday's night's demonstrations.

Gen. Robert Canterberry of the National Guard denied his troops are using a stronger gas today than highway patrolmen used Wednesday night.

Canterberry estimated the crowd at "several hundred." He added, "We are not going to allow those people to congregate in groups of that size on the campus."

National Guardsmen had moved onto the campus at midnight to restore order after 12 hours of sporadic clashes between police and students.

More than 50 persons were injured, including 28 policemen. Seven students suffered minor gunshot wounds.

Gov. James A. Rhodes called 1,200 National Guardsmen to deal with the trouble, but only 200 actually went to the campus.

Israelis Kayo Egyptian Raid

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli troops, guns and warplanes repelled an Egyptian raid across the Suez Canal before dawn today and sank four Egyptian boats, the Israeli military command announced.

A spokesman said the Egyptians suffered losses, but there was no report of the number of casualties on either side. The Israelis said it was the third attempted Egyptian crossing in five days.

Military spokesmen said the raiders crossed the central part of the canal in eight-man boats and tried to storm an Israeli emplacement. After the Israelis drove off the attack, they continued to bombard Egyptian positions across the canal for three hours until dawn, the spokesmen said.

Tel Aviv also reported that Israeli planes pounded Egyptian positions along the entire length of the canal for more than two hours Wednesday. Israel said all the jets returned safely, but a military spokesman in Cairo said Egyptian antiaircraft fire brought down one plane.

Meanwhile, President Nixon ordered a full-scale review of the Middle East situation following Israeli and U.S. State Department reports that Soviet pilots are flying operational missions in Egypt. White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said the President had called for an evaluation of intelligence reports and the "implication off them on the strategic balance in the Middle East."

Viet Armored Force Making Progress

SAIGON (AP) — A South Vietnamese armored task force pushed 24 miles into Cambodia today, occupied one town from which the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese drove t he Cambodian army earlier this month, and at dusk was rolling into another.

The large Vietnamese task force did not fire a shot in taking Chipou and entering Prasaut, on Highway 1. But another task force thrusting in from another direction encountered heavy enemy resistance early this afternoon.

U. S. Support Noted

With U.S. advisers accompanying them and American planes and artillery supporting them, more than 15,000 South Vietnamese troops were pushing across a section of eastern Cambodia in a pincer operation to smash North Vietnamese base camps.

South Vietnamese spokesmen reported 435 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese killed, many of them by American planes.

2 Advisers Wounded

Two American advisers were wounded, the U.S. Command said. They were the first U.S. ground casualties reported in an offensive operation on Cambodian soil, although other Americans have been wounded in planes that strayed across the border.

Field reports said South Vietnamese casualties so far were 32 killed and 168 wounded, including 55 wounded, their commander said, when U.S. helicopter gunships fired by mistake on a battalion of government troops.

Link-Up Expected

Associated Press correspondent Peter Arnett reported from Chipou that the task force moving into Prasaut expected to link up Friday morning with Cambodian troops operating out of Svay Rieng, the provincial capital. But a Cambodian government spokesman in Phnom Penh said the Americans and the South Vietnamese had not informed his government of the invasion, and Cambodian forces were taking no part in the operation.

Intervention Rapped

He told a questioner that since "Cambodia is a neutral country," the Phnom Penh government "does not approve this type of intervention by foreign forces."

The Saigon government said earlier its forces had been ordered to return to Vietnam "after the termination of the operation." Tri told newsmen his forces would remain "for many days—we need much time to search the whole area."

He also claimed he had a team in Svay Rieng for liaison with the Cambodian army.

Tornado Funnels Noted Downstate

By The Associated Press

Tornado funnels were reported bobbing amidst drenching rains, scattered hail and rapid bursts of lightning in central Lower Michigan Wednesday night.

However, State Police and sheriff's offficers in the area said no major damage nor serious injuries were reported.

About the heaviest flooding was reported at Eaton Rapids in Eaton County, which had at least a foot of water in the streets. Deputy Sheriff Bill Kelly said the thunderstorm cut visibility to zero and felled many power lines.

The storm's main force was in Calhoun, Jackson, Shiawassee, Ingham County, where the weather bureau, issued tornado warnings. Law officers and the public reported numerous tornado funnels aloft, but none that caused major damage on the ground. Many trees and power lines were downed.

In a test of congressional reaction, the House scheduled a vote today on an amendment by Rep. Ogen Reid, R-N.Y., prohibiting the United States from sending ground troops into Cambodia.

Full Scale Airing

A fufll-scale airing of the administration's controversial move appeared certain when the Senate—and its Foreign Relations Committee—came back after a day's recess.

Nixon set his nationally televised address for 9 p.m. EDT. Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said the speech will relate to Cambodia and U.S. forces in Vietnam. Ziegler said a Cambodian request for direct U.S. arms aid remains under consideration.

Members of both parties joined in protest Wednesday after the decision was announced first in Saigon, then in Washington by the Pentagon, to provide advisers, air support and other aid for the South Vietnamese action.

Plan Denounced

Top Senate Democrats, including Sens. Mike Mansfield, Edward M. Kennedy, J. W. Fulbright, Edmund S. Muskie, and George S. McGovern, denounced it as a move to widen the Vietnam war.

Senior Republican members of the Foreign Relations Committee joined in. Sen. George D. Aiken of Vermont, a veteran GOP leader, cautioned the action might have an "extremely bad" effect on GOP political prospects in the November elections.

Two Back Move

The chairmen of House and Senate armed services committee, Rep. L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., and Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., backed the move. But Stennis added he opposes massive military aid to Cambodia.

Announcement of the new U.S. move came during the Senate recess and two days after a near-unanimous Senate Foreign Relations Committee strongly opposed both American aid to the new Cambodian government or help for South Vietnamese action against Communist forces in Cambodia.

The Pentagon announcement, by Asst. Defense Secretary Daniel Z. Henkin, said the U.S. Command in Saigon "is prepared to provide support" to the South Vietnamese, including "advisers, tactical air, air coordinators, medical evacuation and some logistics assistance."

Increasing Threat

Henkin said enemy sanctuaries in Cambodia "have imposed an increasing threat to the security of free world forces in South Vietnam."

The decision also came 10 days after Nixon announced further U.S. troop withdrawals from Vietnam—and predicted, "We finally have in sight the just peace we are seeking."

Noting this, Muskie told newsmen "the burden is on him to demonstrate convincingly there has been such a change" since then to warrant the new U.S. action.

Step In Wrong Direction

Mansfield called the decision to send U.S. advisers into Cambodia "the first step in the wrong direction." Noting that Capitol Hill was concerned and uneasy, the Democratic leader added: "This could now be called the Indochinese war. What is happening now is a whole new ball game."

Welfare Plan Costs Soaring; Finch Quizzed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Finance Committee called back Welfare Secretary Robert H. Finch today after his initial testimony produced sharp disagreement on the cost of President Nixon's plan to reform the welfare system.

The secretary, opening the administration's case for the bill Wednesday, acknowledged it may cost $400 million more than the original $4.4 billion estimate.

But Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., the committee's senior Republican, insisted the proposal is more likely to cost $1.25 billion over the first projection.

While several GOP members drew a bead on the program's cost and how it could be met, Democrats said the proposal raised hopes that clearly could not be fulfilled.

Finch agreed the plan cannot answer all the needs of the poor but added it is not intended as a cure-all for unemployment problems.

The secretary said the plan would reduce the nation's poverty gap by about 60 per cent, set up national standards to make the welfare system more equitable, and provide real incentives to welfare recipients to get jobs.

Williams said he believed the cost has jumped by $1.25 billion because the unemployment rate now is nearly a full percentage point higher than the 3.5 per cent figure used when the program's cost was estimated.

The Delaware senator also contended the higher benefit levels possible under the plan appeared to negate the argument that it can increase incentives for those on welfare to get jobs.

It would be possible, he said, for a family of four to get a $7,405 income without any family member doing any work.

Williams said this would be more than the after-tax income of a family whose head earned more than $9,000 in a job.

President Plans Mideast Review

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has ordered a full scale review of the Middle East situation in the wake of a State Department report that Russian pilots are flying combat planes in Egypt.

White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Wednesday, "The President has ordered an immediate and full evaluation of intelligence reports and the implication of them on the strategic balance in the Middle East."

"We regard this as a serious development and potentially dangerous," State Department Press Officer Robert J. McCloskey added.

In addition, a spokesman said, the United States plans to ask the Soviet Union what its intentions are in permitting such actions.

The Russian-piloted aircraft reportedly have not ventured into Israeli airspace, sources said, but stayed within Egyptian boundaries.

Soviet Crews also are reportedly manning Moscow-built surface-to-air missile sites.

Nixon pledged to keep a close watch on the Middle East balance of power in making his recent decision not to grant additional airplanes to Israel.

The administration reportedly will take a hard look at Israel's standing request for more warplanes. Israel currently has fewer planes than the Arab nations, but have achieved what was described as a "qualitative" balance of power through better trained pilots.

The Russian pilots are highly trained and considered better than their Arab counterparts. This sophistication by Soviets at the controls of MIG21s, it was reported, threatens the balance of power.

Speaking in New York, Undersecretary of State Elliot L. Richardson warned Russia against a new escalation in the Arab-Israeli conflict, saying it could increase "the danger of stirring up a wider conflict."

Guardsmen On Scene At OSU; 300 Arrested

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — National Guardsmen broke up a fresh demonstration at Ohio State University today as drifting crowds of students began a second day of campus disorders. More than 50 were hurt in a 24-hour span and arrests approached 300.

Guardsmen wearing gas masks fired an irritant gas into a crowd gathered on the Oval, a grassy park in mid-campus.

Columbus policeman Ralph Drown estimated up to 2,000 students were milling about the area.

Students scattered across campus as clouds of gas drifted about.

The gas broke the crowd into three or four groups and guardsmen with fixed bayonets kept the gatherings a block or more from the university administration building, scene of some of Wednesday's disorder.

Guardsmen wearing gas masks used highway department road barricades to encircle and seal off the administration building.

Gas fumes drifted into the administration building where executives closed offices and sent workers home.

Gas victims said that used by guardsmen was more irritating than gas used by city police and highway patrolmen to break up Wednesday's night's demonstrations.

Gen. Robert Canterberry of the National Guard denied his troops are using a stronger gas today than highway patrolmen used Wednesday night.

Canterberry estimated the crowd at "several hundred." He added, "We are not going to allow those people to congregate in groups of that size on the campus."

National Guardsmen had moved onto the campus at midnight to restore order after 12 hours of sporadic clashes between police and students.

More than 50 persons were injured, including 28 policemen. Seven students suffered minor gunshot wounds.

Gov. James A. Rhodes called 1,200 National Guardsmen to deal with the trouble, but only 200 actually went to the campus.

Israelis Kayo Egyptian Raid

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli troops, guns and warplanes repelled an Egyptian raid across the Suez Canal before dawn today and sank four Egyptian boats, the Israeli military command announced.

A spokesman said the Egyptians suffered losses, but there was no report of the number of casualties on either side. The Israelis said it was the third attempted Egyptian crossing in five days.

Military spokesmen said the raiders crossed the central part of the canal in eight-man boats and tried to storm an Israeli emplacement. After the Israelis drove off the attack, they continued to bombard Egyptian positions across the canal for three hours until dawn, the spokesmen said.

Tel Aviv also reported that Israeli planes pounded Egyptian positions along the entire length of the canal for more than two hours Wednesday. Israel said all the jets returned safely, but a military spokesman in Cairo said Egyptian antiaircraft fire brought down one plane.

Meanwhile, President Nixon ordered a full-scale review of the Middle East situation following Israeli and U.S. State Department reports that Soviet pilots are flying operational missions in Egypt. White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said the President had called for an evaluation of intelligence reports and the "implication off them on the strategic balance in the Middle East."

Viet Armored Force Making Progress

SAIGON (AP) — A South Vietnamese armored task force pushed 24 miles into Cambodia today, occupied one town from which the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese drove the Cambodian army earlier this month, and at dusk was rolling into another.

The large Vietnamese task force did not fire a shot in taking Chipou and entering Prasaut, on Highway 1. But another task force thrusting in from another direction encountered heavy enemy resistance early this afternoon.

U. S. Support Noted

With U.S. advisers accompanying them and American planes and artillery supporting them, more than 15,000 South Vietnamese troops were pushing across a section of eastern Cambodia in a pincer operation to smash North Vietnamese base camps.

South Vietnamese spokesmen reported 435 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese killed, many of them by American planes.

2 Advisers Wounded

Two American advisers were wounded, the U.S. Command said. They were the first U.S. ground casualties reported in an offensive operation on Cambodian soil, although other Americans have been wounded in planes that strayed across the border.

Field reports said South Vietnamese casualties so far were 32 killed and 168 wounded, including 55 wounded, their commander said, when U.S. helicopter gunships fired by mistake on a battalion of government troops.

Link-Up Expected

Associated Press correspondent Peter Arnett reported from Chipou that the task force moving into Prasaut expected to link up Friday morning with Cambodian troops operating out of Svay Rieng, the provincial capital. But a Cambodian government spokesman in Phnom Penh said the Americans and the South Vietnamese had not informed his government of the invasion, and Cambodian forces were taking no part in the operation.

Intervention Rapped

He told a questioner that since "Cambodia is a neutral country," the Phnom Penh government "does not approve this type of intervention by foreign forces."

The Saigon government said earlier its forces had been ordered to return to Vietnam "after the termination of the operation." Tri told newsmen his forces would remain "for many days—we need much time to search the whole area."

He also claimed he had a team in Svay Rieng for liaison with the Cambodian army.

Tornado Funnels Noted Downstate

By The Associated Press

Tornado funnels were reported bobbing amidst drenching rains, scattered hail and rapid bursts of lightning in central Lower Michigan Wednesday night.

However, State Police and sheriff's offficers in the area said no major damage nor serious injuries were reported.

About the heaviest flooding was reported at Eaton Rapids in Eaton County, which had at least a foot of water in the streets. Deputy Sheriff Bill Kelly said the thunderstorm cut visibility to zero and felled many power lines.

The storm's main force was in Calhoun, Jackson, Shiawassee, Ingham County, where the weather bureau, issued tornado warnings. Law officers and the public reported numerous tornado funnels aloft, but none that caused major damage on the ground. Many trees and power lines were downed.

C&NW Asks To Abandon 52.74 Mile Ore Route

The Chicago & North Western Railway Co. has petitioned the Interstate Commerce Commission in Washington D.C. for permission to abandon its "ore line" from Escanaba to Antoine in Dickinson County.

Iron ore hauling service from the two iron mines still operating at Stambaugh would be provided on another route through Powers, according to Paul Schilling, assistant ore superintendent of Escanaba.

He said the railroad hasn't used the line for hauling ore since last year and no longer has need to maintain the line for iron ore traffic. The only two mines still operating at Stambaugh are the Homer Mine of Hannah Mining Co. and the Sherwood Mine of Inland Steel Co.

No other service was provided on the line, Schilling said.

The line runs a total of 52.74 miles from Escanaba through Delta, Menominee and Dickinson counties to Antoine near Iron Mountain. It has been used strictly for iron ore hauling.

Schilling said the railroad formerly hauled empty cars to Antoine via Powers and returned the full loads over the line for which abandonment is proposed. With the decline in the iron ore mining in the Stabaugh-Iron River area, the problems of meeting trains no longer require that separate routes be maintained, he said.

Duing winters recently, the ore line right-of-way has not been plowed and has been used as a snowmobile trail.

Schilling said that if the application for abandonment is approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission that the railroad will use rails and ties from the line on other parts of its system.

The application has been given Finance Docket No. 26080 by the ICC.

If approved, the abandonment will be the third by the C&NW in the Upper Peninsula in the past year. Approval of abandonment of some 36 miles of C&NW track from Narenta in Delta County to Felch in Dickinson County was approved by the ICC, although an appeal to the order has been filed. Approval to abandon the Gibbs City line in Iron County also was granted.

Tech Researchers Patent Pellets Made Of Fly Ash

HOUGHTON — A process to convert a major waste product and source of pollution into a commercially valuable material has been developed by Michigan Tech University's Institute of Mineral Research.

The waste product is fly ash, produced at the rate of 20 million tons a year by coal-fired electric power plants. This fine dust is collected to prevent air pollution, but storage is a problem and disposal is costly.

Michigan Tech research has patented a process to convert fly ash into small pellets. Potential commercial applications include use as aggregate in highway construction and as fertilizer in agricluture and forestry. Actual recovery of such metals as iron and alumina from the ash also is possible according to Prof. M. Earl Volin, director of the Institute.

Disposal Problems

Fly ash is considered one of the nation's greatest solid waste disposal problems. Each ton of coal produces 200 pounds. U. S. production of the material in 10 years is estimated at 40 to 50 million tons a year, a staggering 100 billion pounds. The ash's major components are iron, silica and alumina, with minor amounts of magnesia, lime, titanium, sodium, and potassium.

Michigan Tech's research began two years ago on a 15-ton sample provided by Detroit Edison's Trenton Channel Plant. The principal investigators were Dr. M. Adnan Goksel, associate professor of mineral research, and Dr. Stephen G. Shetron, research forester at Michigan Tech's Ford Forestry Center. Prof. Volin pointed out that Duane M. Thayer, associate professor of metallurgical engineering, and his students also played an important part in the basic research.

Additives Mixed

The pellets are produced by a low-temperature agglomerating process developed at the IMR. The ash is mixed with such additives as calcium hydroxide and hardened by steam at approximately 200 degrees centigrade.

Dr. Goksel noted that the pellets appear to be suitable as an aggregate for all types of medium-weight concrete, for highway construction and for the manufacture of bricks, blocks and other prefabricated building materials.

Fly ash has potential as a soil additive to conserve moisture and as a fertilizer for slow release of soil nutrients, Dr. Shetron said. Slow-release fertilizers currently available are too costly for use over large areas, such as forest tracts. This type of fertilization could be used to change a soil's physical characteristics and enable it to sustain more valuable trees.

Escanaba Gifts Help In Vietnam

The last of 14 packages of clothing, school supplies and candy gathered by members of the Calvary Baptist Church Women's Missionary Society and others under the direction of Rev. Ronald J. McDonell have arrived in Vietnam from Escanaba, Mich.

Recipients were members of a small Protestant church and school led by Rev. Huynh Van Thien.

The Phu Cuong minister explained through an interpreter that he found excellent use for everything that came in the packages. Most of the clothing in the first parcels was given to the poorer members of the congregation. The remaining articles were presented "to those more fortunate," for further distribution, Rev. Thien said.

School enrollment has increased more than 50 per cent since last fall (from 130 to approximately 200) and the pencils, paper and other supplies were desperately needed and sincerely appreciated at the time of their arrival, Rev. Thein said. The candy provided the enticement Reverend Thien sometimes requires to keep his students coming to classes. Education is free, but some children wouldn't attend without additional motivation.

Rev. Thien expressed humble thanks to the congregation of the Calvary Baptist Church for their unsolicited assistance. The combined efforts of Rev. McDonell, the Women's Missionary Society, and others made this "Do something for someone else Project," an overwhelming success.

Thayer, associate professor of metallurgical engineering, and his students also played an important part in the basic research.

Additives Mixed

The pellets are produced by a low-temperature agglomerating process developed at the IMR. The ash is mixed with such additives as calcium hydroxide and hardened by steam at approximately 200 degrees centigrade.

Dr. Goksel noted that the pellets appear to be suitable as an aggregate for all types of medium-weight concrete, for highway construction and for the manufacture of bricks, blocks and other prefabricated building materials.

Fly ash has potential as a soil additive to conserve moisture and as a fertilizer for slow release of soil nutrients, Dr. Shetron said. Slow-release fertilizers currently available are too costly for use over large areas, such as forest tracts. This type of fertilization could be used to change a soil's physical characteristics and enable it to sustain more valuable trees.

New Plat Book Goes On Sale

The new 1970 Delta County Plat Books have been published and may be obtained at the cooperative extension service office in the Delta County Building, 310 Ludington St.

The new 60-page book includes 38 detailed maps of Delta County, an index to locate anyone owning over five acres of land and a fishermen's directory listing major lakes, rivers and trout streams. Size, location and fish species present also are indicated.

All federal and state owned lands are colored in green. A county business directory, a camp and park directory and a page of facts about land descriptions also is included.

Books sell for $5 and proceeds are used to promote the 4-H youth program in Delta County.

Escanaba Gifts Help In Vietnam

The last of 14 packages of clothing, school supplies and candy gathered by members of the Calvary Baptist Church Women's Missionary Society and others under the direction of Rev. Ronald J. McDonell have arrived in Vietnam from Escanaba, Mich.

Recipients were members of a small Protestant church and school led by Rev. Huynh Van Thien.

The Phu Cuong minister explained through an interpreter that he found excellent use for everything that came in the packages. Most of the clothing in the first parcels was given to the poorer members of the congregation. The remaining articles were presented "to those more fortunate," for further distribution, Rev. Thien said.

School enrollment has increased more than 50 per cent since last fall (from 130 to approximately 200) and the pencils, paper and other supplies were desperately needed and sincerely appreciated at the time of their arrival, Rev. Thein said. The candy provided the enticement Reverend Thien sometimes requires to keep his students coming to classes. Education is free, but some children wouldn't attend without additional motivation.

Rev. Thien expressed humble thanks to the congregation of the Calvary Baptist Church for their unsolicited assistance. The combined efforts of Rev. McDonell, the Women's Missionary Society, and others made this "Do something for someone else Project," an overwhelming success.

Dr. R. J. Embs Joins Chemical Society Staff

Dr. Richard J. Embs, son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Embs, 507 S. 8th St., Escanaba, has joined the staff of the American Chemical Society's Chemical Abstracts Service in Columbus, Ohio.

Dr. Embs, received a Bachelor of Science degree in chemistry in 1957 from Western Michigan University, and M. S. and Ph. D. degrees in food science from Michigan State University in 1965 and 1969, respectively. He is an assistant abstractor in the abstracting department at CAS.

Chemical Abstracts Service is an information center for chemical science and technology. Its staff of 1,000 scientists and supporting personnel, assisted by 3,000 part-time volunteer scientist-abstractors in 70 nations, compresses, organizes and indexes all of the world's published reports of chemical research and development.

Digested and indexed information is made available to scientists throughout the world both in a weekly publication, "Chemical Abstracts," and on magnetic tape for searching by computer.

The human body contains approximately 50 trillion cells.

Lions To Send Young Escanaban To Switzerland

A free trip to Switzerland for a five-week visit this summer is awaiting a young person from the City of Escanaba.

The Escanaba Lions Club will send a representative to Switzerland in an International Youth Exchange program which will also bring a young resident of Switzerland to Escanaba this summer.

The trip is valued at between $1,000 and $2,000, said Gary Cry, youth exchange chairman for the Lions Club, and includes transportation, passport, required immunizations, lodging, food and spending money.

"It's the chance of a lifetime for someone," Cyr said.

Interested young persons, male or female, who wish to be considered for the trip have been invited to submit an essay on "Why I would like to represent my city and county in Switzerland" by May 13 to the Escanaba Lions Club, P. O. Box 627, Escanaba, 49829.

Interview Planned

Cyr emphasized that the essays do not have to be literary masterpieces and encouraged any young person between the ages of 16 and 20 to participate.

Essays should be confined to 500 words, Cyr indicated, but do not have to be that long.

Semi-finalists will be notified by May 20 by a member of the judging committee and will be asked to appear before the judging board for a personal interview.

Cyr said the interview will be weighed heavily in the final selection.

Young people interested do not have to be sons or daughters of Lions Club members to qualify, he said, and are not required to be attending either Escanaba or Holy Name High Schools or Bay de Noc Community College.

Leave July 11

Winner of the all-expenses paid trip to Switzerland will be announced by the Lions Club on May 27. A first runnerup also will be chosen as a "back up" for the nominee in event that the winner cannot participate.

The Escanaba representative will leave the city July 11 and stay in Switzerland through Aug. 15.

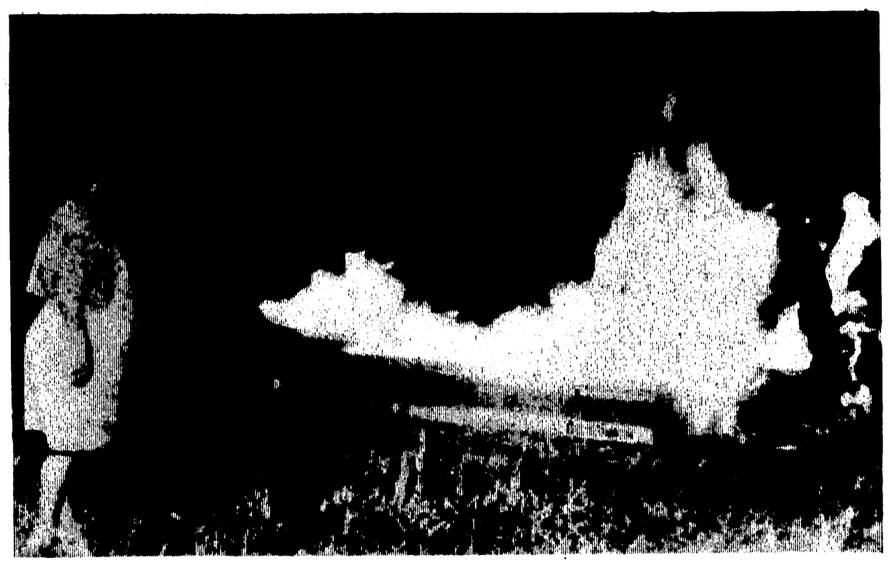
Chief To Retire

BENTON HARBOR (AP) — Fire Chief Ralph Hetherington says he will retire Aug. 7 after 25 years with the Benton Harbor department.

Hetherington, 49, has been chief since July, 1968. He will be able to retire at half pay.



ED MINNICH and his wife sentimentally watch 11 wooden fishing boats from their boat livery in Algonac go up in flames Tuesday because of the fishing ban on the St. Clair River. Minnich said he decided to burn the 14-foot boats because they were old anyway and "wouldn't be much good laying idle for the summer." Put out of business by the fishing ban brought on by mercury pollution, Minnich says he will keep his tackle and bait shop and remaining 14 aluminum boats "ready and waiting" for any change in the fishing situation. U-M Glee Club Sings Tuesday

In appearance, today's college students usually aren't too formal these days.

But the University of Michigan Glee Club which will appear in Escanaba next Tuesday at the William W. Oliver auditorium will present an entirely different picture in their concert attire of white ties and tails.

The ties and tails are traditional for the glee club. In fact, one of three long-playing albums the club has recorded is entitled "White Tie and Tails." The other two albums are "On Tour" and "Michigan Songs."

The Glee Club is directed by Willis Patterson, an associate professor of voice at the University's School of Music.

The two-hour concert begins at 8:15 p. m. and is sponsored by the Delta County University of Michigan Alumni Club and the Escanaba Kiwanis Club.

Tickets are available at $1.50 for adults and $1 for students from Escanaba Kiwanis Club members, at the University of Michigan Extension Service office, Gust Asp's, Beck's Western Auto, Ernie's Party Store and the Delta Music Center.

Grant Approved For U.P. Bridge

LANSING (AP) — The Upper Great Lakes Regional Commission has given final approval for a $600,000 supplemental grant to build a new bridge between Menominee and Marinette, Wis.

Gov. William Milliken said the grant will enable the communities to proceed with construction of the $2.4 million span.

Varnum Proposes Protest Penalties

LANSING—Rep. Charles H. Varnum (R-Manistique) today fired off a letter to University of Michigan President Robben Fleming proposing that money penalties be imposed on institutions and instructors when students are denied access to classes.

Varnum said his proposal was prompted by the recent student boycott at Ann Arbor, but that it should apply to all college campuses.

Varnum specifically proposed a policy of refunding a portion of a student's tuition money and docking the pay of an instructor who refuses to teach.

Varnum, a member of the House Committee on Colleges and Universities and a former teacher, said.

"It's my opinion, that the right to dissent, which is fundamental in a Democracy, does not include the liberty to deny another person's right to an education.

"If the institution allows a small minority of students to deny this right to others, it should suffer an economic penalty through refunding student fees. Likewise, if an instructor decides to refuse to teach due to sympathy for a protest or other reason then his pay should be reduced proportionately.

"Hopefully, this would reduce situations where campus protests trample on the rights of those who are not taking part in the demonstration. I want to assure that the normal educational process is not interrupted by any dissident minority."

Seven Persons Injured In Three Area Traffic Accidents

State Police of the Gladstone Post investigated three separate traffic accidents on Wednesday in which a total of seven persons were injured.

Officers said a car driven by Larry Johnson, 22, of Rock, northbound on County Rd. D-1, struck a car driven by Carlyn Kirschner, 20, of Powers, at the intersection of M-35, about 11 p.m.

Police said Johnson's vision was impaired by the heavy fog and he did not see the Kirschner vehicle, which was traveling east on M-35.

Johnson was ticketed for failure to yield the right of way, and sought his own treatment of injuries.

Carlyn Kirschner, and a passenger in the vehicle, Ann Kirschner, were both taken to the St. Francis Hospital where they were reported in fair condition today.

Another accident occurred on County Rd. 509, just north of County Rd. I-40, about 12:15 a.m.

Police said Kay F. Jackson, 22, 1404½ Wisconsin Ave., Gladstone, lost control of her car on a curve. The vehicle ran off the right side of the road, struck 13 trees, knocking 11 of them down, and rolled over, coming to rest upside down.

Kay Jackson and a passenger in the car, Joseph McGonagle, 22, 818 Wisconsin Ave., Gladstone, both received minor injuries and sought their own treatment, police said. She was ticketed for violation of the basic speed law.

A third accident occurred about two miles west of M-35 on County Rd. A-10, about 6 p.m., involving a head-on collision of two motorcycles.

Officers said Michael D. Nelson, Jaeger Rd., Escanaba, was traveling east on County Rd. A-10, when his motorcycle ran head on with a west-bound motorcycle, driven by Gerald T. LeClair, of 217 N. 10th St., Escanaba.

Both were taken to St. Francis Hospital. Nelson was treated and released. LeClaire was admitted and was reported in fair condition today.

State Police are continuing their investigation.

Hospital

Mrs. Jeanette Thibault of Rapid River was dismissed today from St. Mary's Hospital in Marquette where she had been a patient for the last week. She will enter St. Luke's Hospital, Marquette, on Monday and will undergo cataract surgery on Tuesday.

Delaying Tactic

A number of years ago when the State Highway Dept. was talking seriously about building the Gladstone to Rapid River freeway, the access road question at north Gladstone created quite a problem for the Highway Dept. engineering staff. The freeway will swing north around the existing trunkline, a feature that will direct most of the traffic away from the motels along present U. S. 2, and the plans developed at that time by the highway engineering staff for an access route off the freeway at north Gladstone simply were not acceptable to the resort owners in the area and consquently were not acceptable to the City Commission of Gladstone, either.

Quite of number of meetings and discussions were held with the end result that the project was delayed. Officially, the blame was laid to lack of funds, but the argument over the exit certainly was a major factor in the postponement decision. The Delta County Road Commission approved the proposal Nov. 8, 1965. It wasn't until March 11, 1968, that the City Commission of Gladstone finally agreed.

Now, with the badly-needed freeway back on schedule for this summer, the same problem pops up again.

A group of resort owners appeared before the City Commission this week to protest the proposed design. The exit to the north from the southbound lanes isn't acceptable, they said, and the City Commission agreed, voting to ask the Highway Commission for a change in the design.

Highway design engineering to provide maximum efficiency at the greatest safety with the least possible cost isn't exactly the newspaper's thing, but it appears that the basic problem rests in construction costs and possibly in available land.

To change the present design to avoid the 90-degree left turn off the southbound lanes would require an exit ramp off the right side of the proposed freeway in a cloverleaf design with an overpass or underpass so that vehicles could cross the northbound lanes in safety — a design which highway engineers apparently do not feel is justified by either use or cost or both. Instead, the design provides for a deceleration lane, allowing southbound vehicles to come to a stop or glide before proceeding across the northbound lanes for a northerly exit. A deceleration lane also is planned from the northbound traffic lanes.

From a safety standpoint, the design obviously isn't the best the Highway Dept. could develop if cost was not a consideration. Overpasses, underpasses and cloverleafs could be built which would allow traffic to proceed in almost any direction without being required to stop or even slow down greatly. But structures send the cost skyrocketing.

From an access standpoint, the design probably isn't the best, either.

Bids on the job are scheduled to be let June 17 with completion to follow in about two years. Money is available now. It may not be in several months or several years if the Highway Dept. is forced to redesign the entire intersection.

No question that construction of a four-lane, controlled access freeway leading north around the resort area at the head of Little Bay de Noc will significantly reduce the tourist traffic passing the motels. And, unless increased promotion and directional signing can compensate, the freeway probably will produce an adverse economic impact on the owners.

The complaint that the intersection does not facilitate easy traffic flow in a northerly direction on the present route of U. The intersection design is a minor point when compared to directing the mainstream of traffic away from the area.

A Gladstone-to-Rapid River freeway is necessary to eliminate the bottleneck of traffic which presently exists in the area. It also will be necessary to handle the tremendous volume of pulpwood track traffic which will be generated by the new pulp mill at the Escanaba Paper Co.

Who Will Be 'Goat' For Soviet Failure?

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

Some individuals are on the spot in Soviet Russia.

The economy has not been performing well, and considering that this is the 100th anniversary of Lenin's birth, when everyone is hailing the infallible Communist Messiah, nobody who values his head would dream of blaming economic failure on the Marxist-Leninist philosopohy. Individuals must be singled out as the culprits, and the Klemlinologists, most of whom were taken by surprise when Premier Khrushchev was ousted, are busy speculating on the identity of the sacrificial goats.

Conceivably the "collective leadership" of Leonid Brezhnev, the Secretary General of the Communist Party, and Premier Alexei Kosygin could be ousted from below, in a repeat performance of what they did to Khrushchev when the later was negligently taking a vacation.

Kosygin has been "sick," which may be a straw in the wind. He is vulnerable as an economic "planner." Brezhnev, however, has not been acting as a man who is about to leave his rear unguarded in the current jockeying for Kremlin position.

He has been making speeches about "serious shortcomings" in the construction industry, which has not relieved the Russian housing shortage. And he has been saying much about the failure of the plant managers to fulfill their quotas for steel and chemical production, and about the disasters on the farm front, which hasn't been supplying the cities with enough meat, milk, and eggs.

The impersonal villian mentioned by Brezhnev is vodka. However, someone must be responsible for letting drunkenness interfere with industry, and this means that Alexander Shelepin, who runs the trade unions, has something to explain.

Or the villain could be Mikhail Suslov, the party theorist and ideologist who could be put on the carpet for failure to inspire the masses with a sense of dedication to all the Leninist goals.

According to Radio Liberty's well-informed Kremlinologist, Christian Duevel, Brezhnev has neatly maneuvered himself into a position that sets him apart from co-leader Kosygin.

Some time ago Brezhnev's "collected works" were published in a two-volume edition in Bulgaria. The "tryout" performance, roughly equivalent to a Boston or New Haven opening of a show destined for Broadway, got rave notices in Bulgarian circles, one of which was reprinted in Kommunist in Moscow. Along with the reprinting of the Bulgarian review the prediction was made that Brezhnev would soon be published in Russia as a "Marxist-Leninist classic."

Now it has been made official: a two-volume edition of Brezhnev's speeches and articles is scheduled to appear sometime during "the second quarter" of 1970, to be sold for one ruble and ninety kopecks. The title will be "On a Leninist Course."

Ironically, as Duevel points out, the Brezhnev "classic" will be compelled to omit articles and speeches dating back to the pre-1964 period, most of which abounded in tributes to "Khrushchev's wisdom and insight." There is poetic justice in this, for Khrushchev himself was compelled to forget his own praise of Stalin when he began his deStalinization crusade.

Predictably nobody will make any published note of the fact that the Brezhnev "collected works" begin with speeches and articles of 1964.

The combination of Brezhnev's recent tough talk about the faltering Soviet economy and the announcement, in Novye Knigi SSSR, that "the speeches and articles of L. I. Brezhnev are a brilliant testimony to the firmness, scientific foundation, and consistency of the general course of the CPSU," does not indicate that Brezhnev is ready to give way to somebody else as the Soviet boss.

He has deftly maneuvered to place the blame for poor economic performance on the officials who are directly involved with production. Meanwhile, he has been promoting himself to a troika position with Marx and Lenin as a "classical" source of Communist wisdom.

If Brezhnev should fall in a future shakeup, it will be because of super-plotters whose existence is unknown to the West. There could be such plotters, but if they are really there our Kremlinologists have yet to spot them.

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
1 NT	Pass	Pass	2 ♠
Pass	4 ♠

Opening lead—king of diamonds.

The opponents' bidding frequently guides declarer to the best line of play, and in some cases it will cause him to make plays he would normally not even consider.

Take this case where South is in four spades. It does not take very much imagination for him to realize, when dummy comes down, that West has practically every missing high card:

There are 12 points in dummy and South sees 11 in his own hand, which means that even if West, for his 16 to 18 point notrump, has only 16, East still cannot have more than one point.

This knowledge, derived from the bidding, has an important bearing on the play. South's potential losers are a diamond, a spade, and either one or two hearts.

Ordinarily, declarer would try to limit his heart losers to one by leading the suit twice from dummy towards his K-Q, hoping to find East with the ace. If this dream came true, he would lose only one heart trick.

But, West having opened with one notrump, South knows that this plan cannot succeed. He can be sure that if he plays a heart to the queen it will be smothered by the ace and he will later lose a second heart trick.

Declarer therefore tackles the suit, after drawing trumps, by leading a heart from dummy to his nine. As it happens, this play succeeds because East has the J-10. Nor can East frustrate declarer by playing the ten when the suit is first led. South's reply to this would be to play the queen and later finesse the nine.

It is only fair to add that leading to the nine is a forlorn hope, since West more often than not will have either the ten or jack. But it is clearly the right play to make because it offers some chance for the contract, while a lead to the queen offers none.

Being Idle Pleases Former Video Star

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Take the high pressure out of a television star's life, and what do you have? Well, in the case of Garry Moore, you have a relaxed philosopher and a happy man.

"It would scare hell out of me if I were suddenly faced with doing a big hit show regularly again," he said. "I couldn't stand the anxiety."

Garry, one of the best-liked men in show business, remembers with pleasure—but with no desire to repeat them—the crowded years when he was the star of two of the nation's 15 top-rated network shows. In entertainment circles it was reported he was earning an awesome $30,000 a week.

"When you're real hot," said Garry, "you're working almost every moment you're awake. Somebody has you by the ear all the time, even when you're riding in a cab.

"This is why actors are so self-centered. They are constantly turned back in on themselves by other people as well as by their own inclinations."

Today Garry restricts his activities largely to a weekly broadcast for the "Voice of America" and a five-times-a-week chore as emcee of a new edition of "To Tell The Truth," the longtime television game favorite.

Since he probably has enough in the bank to keep steak on his table for several generations, why does he continue working at all?

"Well, I didn't do anything except occasional spot appearances for 2½ years," he said. "You get so you want to have a place to go when you wake up in the morning. Also it serves as a platform for other things you want to do.

"If you don't keep your name alive, you can't service the other things."

The "other things," which Moore didn't specify, are charities in which he is active.

"It may sound terrible to say so, but I have no big remaining goals in show business," he remarked. "My goals are to sail my boat"—he has a 40-foot ketch—"keep my friends, and enjoy life.

"One of the things I like most about being on 'To Tell The Truth' is that I'm just a hired hand.

"When I had two shows of my own running, I didn't know it was particularly difficult until I stopped. Now I could no more do that again than I could go to the moon.

"One of the big problems of having your own show is that you are responsible for the welfare of so many people. Too much hinges on you.

"You have to be aware even of the second trombone player's troubles with his wife—and do something about them."

Ann Landers

Youth, 16, Offering Some Sound Advice

Dear Ann Landers: Here's a message for "Had It," the mother of a teen-age Cop-Out. "Keep yourself clean. Respect older people. Accept responsibility. The world doesn't owe you anything. Get moving. Make a contribution." These are the same rules I was raised by and I'm 16—a member of your son's generation. Apparently you believe all teenagers are alike. You are mistaken.

It's obvious from your letter that you and your husband have given your son too much freedom and too much of everything. You probably feel guilty because you have let him walk all over you. You also let him mouth off and be obnoxious. You say your son has been kicked out of two schools for smoking marijuana but you would send him to a third school if he can get in someplace. Why? I'll bet he wouldn't have been out for smoking marijuana if it was his own money going down the drain. Why make the same mistake a third time?

Quit asking yourself where you failed and start to make some demands on that spoiled son. Don't let him give you that old line about inheriting a lousy world. Your generation inherited a lousy world, too. It's what we do with that lousy world that counts. Smoking marijuana won't help.

Lay down the law to your son, which is what you should have done years ago. If he rebels, kick him out. I know you love him, but maybe being forced to make his own way in this world will make a man out of him.—M. W. of Phoenix

Dear Ann Landers: We live in a four-family flat. The people below us work crazy hours—when they are on the night shift they sleep during the day. When they are on the split shift they sleep at unpredictable hours. We never know if they are in or out.

We have a six-month baby who makes a lot of laundry. My washing machine is directly above our neighbor's bedroom. I have to run at least two loads every day. The neighbors complain that this interferes with their rest.

Like most women I do my vacuuming in the morning and this also bothers them. Twice last month when we had guests they pounded on the pipes with a monkey-wrench and beat on our ceiling with a broom handle. This can be very embarrassing when you are trying to carry on a conversation.

Yesterday the baby cried and woke them up. They called on the phone and screamed "Don't you know this is Sunday?" My husband told them WE knew it was Sundoy but the baby didn't."

We have never had any trouble with neighbors before and we would like to resolve our problems with these people because we cannot move. Will you suggest a solution?—People Who Want Peace

Dear People: Invite the neighbors for a cup of coffee and let them know you want peace. Offer to do your laundry and vacuuming when they are at work. Explain that you can't control the baby's crying but you'll do your best. When they see you are interested in a better relationship the chances are good that they will cooperate. The solution in a word is—communication.

Delaying Tactic

A number of years ago when the State Highway Dept. was talking seriously about building the Gladstone to Rapid River freeway, the access road question at north Gladstone created quite a problem for the Highway Dept. engineering staff. The freeway will swing north around the existing trunkline, a feature that will direct most of the traffic away from the motels along present U. S. 2, and the plans developed at that time by the highway engineering staff for an access route off the freeway at north Gladstone simply were not acceptable to the resort owners in the area and consquently were not acceptable to the City Commission of Gladstone, either.

Quite of number of meetings and discussions were held with the end result that the project was delayed. Officially, the blame was laid to lack of funds, but the argument over the exit certainly was a major factor in the postponement decision. The Delta County Road Commission approved the proposal Nov. 8, 1965. It wasn't until March 11, 1968, that the City Commission of Gladstone finally agreed.

Now, with the badly-needed freeway back on schedule for this summer, the same problem pops up again.

A group of resort owners appeared before the City Commission this week to protest the proposed design. The exit to the north from the southbound lanes isn't acceptable, they said, and the City Commission agreed, voting to ask the Highway Commission for a change in the design.

Highway design engineering to provide maximum efficiency at the greatest safety with the least possible cost isn't exactly the newspaper's thing, but it appears that the basic problem rests in construction costs and possibly in available land.

To change the present design to avoid the 90-degree left turn off the southbound lanes would require an exit ramp off the right side of the proposed freeway in a cloverleaf design with an overpass or underpass so that vehicles could cross the northbound lanes in safety — a design which highway engineers apparently do not feel is justified by either use or cost or both. Instead, the design provides for a deceleration lane, allowing southbound vehicles to come to a stop or glide before proceeding across the northbound lanes for a northerly exit. A deceleration lane also is planned from the northbound traffic lanes.

From a safety standpoint, the design obviously isn't the best the Highway Dept. could develop if cost was not a consideration. Overpasses, underpasses and cloverleafs could be built which would allow traffic to proceed in almost any direction without being required to stop or even slow down greatly. But structures send the cost skyrocketing.

From an access standpoint, the design probably isn't the best, either.

But from a practical point of view, the design probably is the best.

Bids on the job are scheduled to be let June 17 with completion to follow in about two years. Money is available now. It may not be in several months or several years if the Highway Dept. is forced to redesign the entire intersection.

No question that construction of a four-lane, controlled access freeway leading north around the resort area at the head of Little Bay de Noc will significantly reduce the tourist traffic passing the motels. And, unless increased promotion and directional signing can compensate, the freeway probably will produce an adverse economic impact on the owners.

The complaint that the intersection does not facilitate easy traffic flow in a northerly direction on the present route of U. The bidding:

West	North	East	South
1 NT	Pass	Pass	2 ♠
Pass	4 ♠

Opening lead—king of diamonds.

The opponents' bidding frequently guides declarer to the best line of play, and in some cases it will cause him to make plays he would normally not even consider.

Take this case where South is in four spades. It does not take very much imagination for him to realize, when dummy comes down, that West has practically every missing high card:

There are 12 points in dummy and South sees 11 in his own hand, which means that even if West, for his 16 to 18 point notrump, has only 16, East still cannot have more than one point.

This knowledge, derived from the bidding, has an important bearing on the play. South's potential losers are a diamond, a spade, and either one or two hearts.

Ordinarily, declarer would try to limit his heart losers to one by leading the suit twice from dummy towards his K-Q, hoping to find East with the ace. If this dream came true, he would lose only one heart trick.

But, West having opened with one notrump, South knows that this plan cannot succeed. He can be sure that if he plays a heart to the queen it will be smothered by the ace and he will later lose a second heart trick.

Declarer therefore tackles the suit, after drawing trumps, by leading a heart from dummy to his nine. As it happens, this play succeeds because East has the J-10. Nor can East frustrate declarer by playing the ten when the suit is first led. South's reply to this would be to play the queen and later finesse the nine.

It is only fair to add that leading to the nine is a forlorn hope, since West more often than not will have either the ten or jack. But it is clearly the right play to make because it offers some chance for the contract, while a lead to the queen offers none.

Being Idle Pleases Former Video Star

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Take the high pressure out of a television star's life, and what do you have? Well, in the case of Garry Moore, you have a relaxed philosopher and a happy man.

"It would scare hell out of me if I were suddenly faced with doing a big hit show regularly again," he said. "I couldn't stand the anxiety."

Garry, one of the best-liked men in show business, remembers with pleasure—but with no desire to repeat them—the crowded years when he was the star of two of the nation's 15 top-rated network shows. In entertainment circles it was reported he was earning an awesome $30,000 a week.

"When you're real hot," said Garry, "you're working almost every moment you're awake. Somebody has you by the ear all the time, even when you're riding in a cab.

"This is why actors are so self-centered. They are constantly turned back in on themselves by other people as well as by their own inclinations."

Today Garry restricts his activities largely to a weekly broadcast for the "Voice of America" and a five-times-a-week chore as emcee of a new edition of "To Tell The Truth," the longtime television game favorite.

Since he probably has enough in the bank to keep steak on his table for several generations, why does he continue working at all?

"Well, I didn't do anything except occasional spot appearances for 2½ years," he said. "You get so you want to have a place to go when you wake up in the morning. Also it serves as a platform for other things you want to do.

"If you don't keep your name alive, you can't service the other things."

The "other things," which Moore didn't specify, are charities in which he is active.

"It may sound terrible to say so, but I have no big remaining goals in show business," he remarked. "My goals are to sail my boat"—he has a 40-foot ketch—"keep my friends, and enjoy life.

"One of the things I like most about being on 'To Tell The Truth' is that I'm just a hired hand.

"When I had two shows of my own running, I didn't know it was particularly difficult until I stopped. Now I could no more do that again than I could go to the moon.

"One of the big problems of having your own show is that you are responsible for the welfare of so many people. Too much hinges on you.

"You have to be aware even of the second trombone player's troubles with his wife—and do something about them."

Ann Landers

Youth, 16, Offering Some Sound Advice

Dear Ann Landers: Here's a message for "Had It," the mother of a teen-age Cop-Out. "Keep yourself clean. Respect older people. Accept responsibility. The world doesn't owe you anything. Get moving. Make a contribution." These are the same rules I was raised by and I'm 16—a member of your son's generation. Apparently you believe all teenagers are alike. You are mistaken.

It's obvious from your letter that you and your husband have given your son too much freedom and too much of everything. You probably feel guilty because you have let him walk all over you. You also let him mouth off and be obnoxious. You say your son has been kicked out of two schools for smoking marijuana but you would send him to a third school if he can get in someplace. Why? I'll bet he wouldn't have been out for smoking marijuana if it was his own money going down the drain. Why make the same mistake a third time?

Quit asking yourself where you failed and start to make some demands on that spoiled son. Don't let him give you that old line about inheriting a lousy world. Your generation inherited a lousy world, too. It's what we do with that lousy world that counts. Smoking marijuana won't help.

Lay down the law to your son, which is what you should have done years ago. If he rebels, kick him out. I know you love him, but maybe being forced to make his own way in this world will make a man out of him.—M. W. of Phoenix

Dear Ann Landers: We live in a four-family flat. The people below us work crazy hours —when they are on the night shift they sleep during the day. When they are on the split shift they sleep at unpredictable hours. We never know if they are in or out.

We have a six-month baby who makes a lot of laundry. My washing machine is directly above our neighbor's bedroom. I have to run at least two loads every day. The neighbors complain that this interferes with their rest.

Like most women I do my vacuuming in the morning and this also bothers them. Twice last month when we had guests they pounded on the pipes with a monkey-wrench and beat on our ceiling with a broom handle. This can be very embarrassing when you are trying to carry on a conversation.

Yesterday the baby cried and woke them up. They called on the phone and screamed "Don't you know this is Sunday?" My husband told them WE knew it was Sundoy but the baby didn't."

We have never had any trouble with neighbors before and we would like to resolve our problems with these people because we cannot move. Will you suggest a solution?—People Who Want Peace

Dear People: Invite the neighbors for a cup of coffee and let them know you want peace. Offer to do your laundry and vacuuming when they are at work. Explain that you can't control the baby's crying but you'll do your best. When they see you are interested in a better relationship the chances are good that they will cooperate. The solution in a word is—communication.

City Official's Allowance Cut, Rides Motorbike

ROSEVILLE, Mich. (AP) —Because the city plans to reduce his car allowance, Roseville Treasurer Raymond J. Raleigh is riding his neighbor's motorcycle while on official business this week.

Beginning July 1, Raleigh and other officials of this Detroit suburb will receive 10 cents for each mile they drive on city business, rather than the present prepaid $750 a year.

"There's no way I can come out even on 10 cents a mile," Raleigh said. "If I have to drive my 3-year-old car on the job, I'm going to lose money."

So, last Sunday Raleigh took a fast lesson on his neighbor's small trail bike, and Monday he "vro-o-omed" to work for the first time.

Raleigh says he'll try out his new transportation at least until the end of the week "to see if it's feasible for my work."

So far, he says, the only problem has been "a lack of luggage space to carry things in. But I guess we can get around that."

Raleigh's new wheels don't impress Acting City Manager James Bottomley, who recommended the reduced car allowance for all city officials while also assigning a city car to the city clerk.

"The clerk has a heck of a lot more work to do than the treasurer, who only collects taxes," Bottomley said.

Dinner Planned For Schweigert

SAULT STE. MARIE— Thomas F. Schweigert, who has announced his retirement from the state Senate after more than 10 years of service, will be honored here by friends of this community May 16 at 7:30 p. m. at a recognition dinner scheduled for Lake Superior State College's Canusa Hall.

W. H. Treloar of Marquette, retired publisher of Panax newspapers in the Upper Peninsula, will be the master of ceremonies.

A native of Detroit, Sen. Schweigert represents the 37th Senatorial district and is the acting lieutenant governor of the state of Michigan. He graduated from Highland Park High Schol in 1935 and earned a B. S. degree in forestry from Michigan State University in 1939.

A consulting forester and land surveyor, he was elected to the state Senate for the first time in 1960 and has been re-elected four times since.

As a senator, he has represented one of the largest districts in the state of Michigan. The 37th district includes areas of Alger, Alpena, Antrim, Charlevoix, Cheboygan, Chippewa, Delta, Emmett, Luce, Mackinac, Montmorency, Otsego, Presque Isle and Schoolcraft counties.

Before his appointment as lieutenant governor in 1969, Sen. Schweigert served as president of the state Senate.

In making the announcement that he would not be seeking re-election to a fifth term in the senate, Sen. Schweigert said, "I feel that in the 10 years I have served in the senate, I have accomplished many of the aims I had set for the people of the 37th district. I feel that a good start has been made on solving many of the problems facing the district and that a person with fresh ideas should carry on from here.

"For the last several months, I have been exploring other areas of public service and I may have an announcement of my future plans before long."

Besides being instrumental in making LSSC a separate four-year college, he has also been instrumental in reducing tolls at the Mackinac Bridge, expanding Petoskey, Alpena, Clear Lake and other state parks in the area, expanding the growth of community colleges throughout the State and expanding many airport facilitie in the district during his service in the Senate.

All Lake Erie Fish Remain Off Market

LANSING (AP) — All fish from Lake Erie will be kept off the market pending mercury tests and Michigan's commercial walleye season on Lake Erie will be delayed, Gov. William Milliken announced Wednesday.

Meanwhile, Michigan authorities are testing ringneck pheasants for mercury and plan also to test waterfowl. This follows the finding of mercury in four ringnecks.

In announcing the delay in the scheduled Friday opening of the commercial walleye season and the plans to test Lake Erie fish, Milliken also said:

—Sport-caught fish from Lake Erie should not be eaten, "until a more definitive determination can be made of mercury levels in various species of fish." Milliken said that while average mercury levels of Lake Erie fish are running below those of the closed-to-fishing Lake St. Clair and St. Clair River, some species are exceeding the government-specified danger level of .55 parts per million of mercury.

—A five-man task force, including two members of the Legislature, will be created to make recommendations on compensation for those affected by the mercury-scare bans.

—The advisory against eating fish from the Detroit River remains in effect, although "no conclusions can be made at this time" about the levels of mercury. So far, Milliken has not extended the fishing closure to the Detroit River.

—Preliminary results of fish testing in Lake Michigan and Lake Huron indicate "there is no basis for concern on mercury levels at this time."

—Continued sampling in Lake St. Clair and the St. Clair River show that 50 per cent of the fish tested have excessively high levels of mercury.

—The State Water Resources Commission is studying the feasibility of removing mercury contaminants in the bottom muds of the Detroit and St. Clair Rivers.

Milliken also said he has asked the Departments of Natural Resources and Public Health to determine whether a catch-and-release program of sport fishing can be permitted in the St. Clair River and Lake St. Clair.

"I will make a decision and public announcement on this shortly," Milliken said.

Abortion Reform Backers Witness Senate Hearing

LANSING (AP)—Women who want Michigan's 124-year-old abortion law reformed packed the Senate gallery Wednesday to listen to early debate on the question.

The only woman Senator, N. Lorraine Beebe, won their special attention when she opposed a suggestion to demand a popular vote on the issue before any approved measure became law.

"Partly tongue in cheek," Mrs. Beebe said, "I might support this if you specify that only women could vote."

The gallery erupted into long applause and Sen. John Toepp, presiding officer, rapped his gavel 10 times before quiet was restored.

"If there is any further outburst," said Toepp, repeating the rules of the Senate, "I will have the gallery cleared."

Many of the women had come to Lansing from across the state to talk to their own lawmakers about abortion reform and tell a news conference of their united support for the proposal.

Abortion Reform Debate Heats Up

LANSING (AP)—As the Michigan Senate struggles toward a showdown vote on abortion reform, some attorney members contend the pending bill is full of legal loopholes and should be sent to committee for further study.

"That would "bury" the abortion question, argues Sen. Gilbert Bursley, R-Ann Arbor, sponsor of the measure.

Others maintain, however, that if there are legal questions, the judiciary committee would clear them up and report out "a better bill."

Spurring the talk of "loop holes" are Sens. Basil Brown, a Highland Park Democrat who backs reform, and James Fleming, a Jackson Republican who heads the antireform faction in the Senate.

Coalition Hinted

"There is a coalition being formed to get this bill off the floor so we won't have to face abortion this year," charged Sen. N. Lorraine Beebe, R-Dearborn, chairman of the committee which wrote the substitute to Bursley's original bill.

Brown and Fleming, both attorneys and members of the judiciary committee, pointed specifically Wednesday to a 90-day residency requirement in the proposal, which would allow a woman resident to obtain an abortion for any reason during the first 90 days of pregnancy.

Calling the residency stipulation "unenforceable," Fleming offered an amendment calling for a woman to certify her residency under oath before any abortion proceedings might begin.

Proposal Defeated

The Senate defeated that proposal on a voice vote.

Also turned down were proposed amendments that would have granted a husband "veto power" over his wife's planned abortion or called for a public vote on abortion reform before any measures approved by the Legislature took effect.

Judiciary Chairman Robert Richardson, R-Saginaw, offered the "consent" amendment, with Fleming's support. It was defeated 15-6.

"Speaking as a husband and the father of three boys, I think the husband has the right to be consulted," said Richardson. "If he is a family man, living with his wife, he has the right to be consulted."

Objects To "Language"

Richardson objected to the "in-between language" of the bill, which calls for a doctor to take "all reasonable and diligent steps to notify the husband" if he is living with his wife.

Fleming called that language "undefinable and unworkable."

Sen. Alvin Degrow, R-Pigeon, opposed giving the husband "veto power over what his wife does in this instance. If there could be a choice — should he carry the child or should she carry the child? — then he should have consent rights."

Mrs. Beebe said that a couple would have discussed any planned abortion before the woman saw a doctor "if they have a working marriage." If they don't, she suggested, then the state had no business requiring such consent.

Levin Backs Women

"If there is a difference of opinion, then the woman should have the ultimate say," declared Sen. Sander Levin, D-Berkley. "This bill says that government and certainly the father not be king."

The Senate turned down the referendum proposal, offered by Sen. Charles Youngblood, D-Detroit, on a voice vote.

"This is a moral and religious question," Youngblood said. "We should give the people a chance to vote."

"It is a moral question, but it is a personal moral question," countered Mrs. Beebe. "Just because I'm for or against (abortion reform), I don't have the right to impose my will on others."

The Senate endorsed a Bursley Amendment that struck a penalty clause included in the bill, which would have set a 15-year jail sentence, $7,500 fine or both for violation of the law.

Seeks Office

LANSING (AP)—Rep. Clifford Smart, R-Walled Lake, announced Wednesday he will seek a fourth term in the Michigan House. He represents the 60th district.

Abortion Reform Backers Witness Senate Hearing

LANSING (AP)—Women who want Michigan's 124-year-old abortion law reformed packed the Senate gallery Wednesday to listen to early debate on the question.

The only woman Senator, N. Lorraine Beebe, won their special attention when she opposed a suggestion to demand a popular vote on the issue before any approved measure became law.

"Partly tongue in cheek," Mrs. Beebe said, "I might support this if you specify that only women could vote."

The gallery erupted into long applause and Sen. John Toepp, presiding officer, rapped his gavel 10 times before quiet was restored.

"If there is any further outburst," said Toepp, repeating the rules of the Senate, "I will have the gallery cleared."

Many of the women had come to Lansing from across the state to talk to their own lawmakers about abortion reform and tell a news conference of their united support for the proposal.

Abortion Reform Debate Heats Up

LANSING (AP)—As the Michigan Senate struggles toward a showdown vote on abortion reform, some attorney members contend the pending bill is full of legal loopholes and should be sent to committee for further study.

"That would "bury" the abortion question, argues Sen. Gilbert Bursley, R-Ann Arbor, sponsor of the measure.

Others maintain, however, that if there are legal questions, the judiciary committee would clear them up and report out "a better bill."

Spurring the talk of "loop holes" are Sens. Basil Brown, a Highland Park Democrat who backs reform, and James Fleming, a Jackson Republican who heads the antireform faction in the Senate.

Coalition Hinted

"There is a coalition being formed to get this bill off the floor so we won't have to face abortion this year," charged Sen. N. Lorraine Beebe, R-Dearborn, chairman of the committee which wrote the substitute to Bursley's original bill.

Brown and Fleming, both attorneys and members of the judiciary committee, pointed specifically Wednesday to a 90-day residency requirement in the proposal, which would allow a woman resident to obtain an abortion for any reason during the first 90 days of pregnancy.

Calling the residency stipulation "unenforceable," Fleming offered an amendment calling for a woman to certify her residency under oath before any abortion proceedings might begin.

Proposal Defeated

The Senate defeated that proposal on a voice vote.

Also turned down were proposed amendments that would have granted a husband "veto power" over his wife's planned abortion or called for a public vote on abortion reform before any measures approved by the Legislature took effect.

Judiciary Chairman Robert Richardson, R-Saginaw, offered the "consent" amendment, with Fleming's support. It was defeated 15-6.

"Speaking as a husband and the father of three boys, I think the husband has the right to be consulted," said Richardson. "If he is a family man, living with his wife, he has the right to be consulted."

Objects To "Language"

Richardson objected to the "in-between language" of the bill, which calls for a doctor to take "all reasonable and diligent steps to notify the husband" if he is living with his wife.

Fleming called that language "undefinable and unworkable."

Sen. Alvin Degrow, R-Pigeon, opposed giving the husband "veto power over what his wife does in this instance. If there could be a choice — should he carry the child or should she carry the child? — then he should have consent rights."

Mrs. Beebe said that a couple would have discussed any planned abortion before the woman saw a doctor "if they have a working marriage." If they don't, she suggested, then the state had no business requiring such consent.

Levin Backs Women

"If there is a difference of opinion, then the woman should have the ultimate say," declared Sen. Sander Levin, D-Berkley. "This bill says that government and certainly the father not be king."

The Senate turned down the referendum proposal, offered by Sen. Charles Youngblood, D-Detroit, on a voice vote.

"This is a moral and religious question," Youngblood said. "We should give the people a chance to vote."

"It is a moral question, but it is a personal moral question," countered Mrs. Beebe. "Just because I'm for or against (abortion reform), I don't have the right to impose my will on others."

The Senate endorsed a Bursley Amendment that struck a penalty clause included in the bill, which would have set a 15-year jail sentence, $7,500 fine or both for violation of the law.

Nation's High Schools Like Boiling Cauldrons

By WILLIAM J. WAUGH

WASHINGTON (AP) — America's high schools—from the ghettoes to the suburbs—today are like boiling cauldrons.

No one can predict when the pot will boil over, but already violence, vandalism and noisy protest are common.

In February alone, a government survey showed, there were 43 incidents at high schools resulting in police being called 19 times to make 257 arrests—and many incidents go unreported.

Like Steam From Teapot

These confrontations are like the steam issuing from a bubbling teapot—they are the most visible manifestation of the widespread student unrest detected in a nationwide Associated Press study.

The study indicated that only a tiny percentage of the nation's 18 million high school students are in open, sometimes violent, rebellion. But, at the same time, student complaints dominated scores of interviews.

Students from New York to California say their schools operate in a prison-like atmosphere—armed guards, fenced schoolyards and in one California school locked classroom doors.

Other Complaints

Other complaints range from racism to censored newspapers, uninspired teachers to unrealistic regulations and refusal of school administrators and parents to listen to student demands for an education relevant to the world they must compete in.

Government officials are becoming increasingly concerned.

"I'm upset with the trend in the country," said youthfufl Tobey Moffett, director of the U.S. Office of Education's section on students and youth.

As incidents increase there is a demand for stricter rules by parents, administrators and politicians.

Police Not Feared

"There is no evidence that tougher rules, stricter discipline or calling the police cools the situation. It only serves to increase the tension. You are not going to scare kids into submission. They have neither respect nor fear of the police."

What's behind the widespread unrest and the more limited outright rebellion and radicalization of America's teenagers?

It's a complicated jigsaw puzzle, but students say they are reacting to racism, poverty, war, low quality of education and denial of their rights by principals, administrators, parents and politicians.

Situation Inhuman

"The current generation in the high schools has discovered that the situation they confront as students is inhuman and the status they hold is one of subjugaion," said teacher Marc Libarle in the introduction of a book he co-edited, "The High School Revolutionaries."

"There is nothing radical about what the students are asking—the right to form their clubs such as anti-war or political the right to dress as they wish, the right to a fair trial if accused," said Ira Glasser, New York Civil Liberties Union attorney who has been active in student cases.

Youth Won't Take It

Glasser, 32, added "my generation used to gripe but didn't fight. Today's youngster is not willing to take it."

"Because of TV," he continued, "many youngsters are aware of social problems before they can read. Anyone under 25 years of age has always lived under the shadow of nuclear war. That's significant. They know doom is just around the corner."

Glasser said in almost every instance where a school has trouble the students were rebuffed when they sought redress of grievances in an orderly fashion.

"When students become militant, they do so because of long frustration," he concluded.

Agitators Blamed

Once turmoil starts, many school administrators blame outside agitators. But Moffett said "there is a lot of evidence that outside agitators can't be blamed as the chief perpetrators of trouble."

He adds, however, that "external influence such as drugs, racism and war does influence school conduct."

Students say drugs are easy to get, on or off school grounds.

Ken Blumenthal, a senior and top scholar at Sullivan High in affluent North Chicago, said:

"It's abundant. Kids don't go much for liquor. Pot is easier to get and cheaper."

Mrs. Lillyann Mitchell, associate editor of a Teamster Union newspaper and mother of four who took an active part in calming St. Louis' predominantly black Beaumont High, sees other factors underlying the tumult.

Children Ashamed

"Our children love us," she observed, "but they say 'you couldn't help yourself so you can't help us.' The white children are ashamed of what their parents have permitted. That's why they wear long hair, dress sloppily. They want to be identified with the underprivileged."

Beaumont is a typical school where trouble began to brew but school officials and parents didn't see it coming. Last Oct. 16 the students were refused permission to stage a special Vietnam Moratorium program. The pot began to simmer, and boiled over during a Negro History Week program earlier this year.

Skits Presented

Four of six skits depicting contemporary Negro history had been presented when a school official stopped the program on the grounds profanity had been used.

Mrs. Mitchell said the "profanity consisted of such words as honkey and pig, none of so-called four letter words."

In the wake, three popular teachers were fired by telegrams which said "the cause of your termination is insubordination to the school administration . . ." The dismissals have been withdrawn but the teachers are not yet back in school.

Students reponded with boycotts. Police were called and although, according to Mrs. Mitchell, the students were peaceful they were pushed around and some arrested.

Several Shutdowns

Beaumont got a new principal —but not until there were several shutdowns and some vandalism. Commented Mrs. Mitchell: "This may be a blessing in disguise. The kids may have shown us the way."

Halfway across the continent, Roosevelt High in east Los Angeles has run the gamut of disruption after student demands —more money for college counselling, elimination of IQ tests and more Mexican-American studies—have gone largely unheeded.

Student leaders Jorge Rodriquez and Freddie Plank, each 17 and both instrumental in setting up Euclid High school for 50 other expelled students, describe Roosevelt "as like a prison. It's fenced. Gates are locked. Guards patrol the grounds and halls."

Classroom Doors Locked

A new principal has inaugurated what is called the "clean sweep." When the tardy bell rings, classroom doors are locked. Monitors go through the halls and herd youngsters they find into a cafeteria. Caught three times and a student must have his parents come to school.

"How can a locked door create an educational atmosphere?" asked Marlin Foxworth, a young teacher who is sympathetic to the students.

Plank and Rodriquez accused Los Angeles police of brutality during a recent demonstration which ended with both of them expelled. Foxworth, watching the demonstration from a window, gave this description:

"The police gave the kids five minutes to clear out. The kids didn't move and the police formed a semicircle and moved in. Three girls hugged each other and police broke them up. One girl actually was thrown bodily through the air. Another's arm was twisted until she whined with pain. They called them foul names and referred to them as dirty Mexicans."

2 Police Chiefs Shot In Battle With Gunman

MEMPHIS, Mich. (AP)—Two police chiefs were shot, one fatally, by a gunman who later was killed by a police bullet in his barricaded home, some 15 miles southwest of Port Huron in the Michigan thumb.

Chief Clifford Anger of Memphis was wounded and Chief William Lewis of nearby Capac was killed in the shootout.

Police said the incident began when Anger stopped a man, identified as Clifford Dulaney, 53, near his home in Memphis to talk about an old traffic violation. Authorities said the two men had been feuding for some time.

After a brief conversation, the man told Anger he was going to his house, about 200 yards away. As he walked away, witnessed reported, the man pulled out a .45 caliber automatic pistol and fired five shots at Anger, hitting him in the leg and stomach. Anger was reported in serious condition Wednesday night in a Mount Clemens hospital.

An off duty officer who witnessed the shooting radioed for assistance from Anger's nearby patrol car. Officers from neighboring cities and State Police posts rushed to the Dulaney home, where the gunman had holed up.

Police said Dulaney opened fire at the officers with a .300 Savage rifle. One of his shots ricocheted off a tree and struck Chief Lewis, killing him, police said.

The police then opened fire on the home with guns and tear gas. After the shooting from the house stopped, police waited about 20 minutes for the gas to clear. Eight men wearing gas masks entered the home and found Dulaney dead on the floor with a bullet wound in the head.

DNR Predicts There Will Be Plenty Fish

TRAVERSE CITY (AP) — The chief of the fish division of the State Department of Natural Resources has predicted that there will be more steelhead, lake trout, Coho and Chinook salmon for Michigan sportsmen to catch this year.

Dr. Wayne Tody told the Traverse City Area Chamber of Commerce that this year's steelhead run was the best in recent years and should be still better in 1971.

Tody reported there are more lake trout than in 1969 and the number of Coho salmon has doubled from last year. In adition, he said the Chinook salmon caught this year should range from 20 to 50 pounds while last year's catch averaged about 18 pounds.

The only dark spot in Tody's evaluation of the fishing picture was perch numbers. He said there are still too many alewives in the Great Lakes—for good perch fishing. The alewives compete with perch for food.

Tody noted that the department has changed its policies in recent years and that now if there is conflict between sport and commercial fishermen, "the department will put sport fishermen first and commercial fishermen second."

He said that before 1966 about 95 per cent of the department's efforts were concentrated upon inland waters but now the only work in most inland waters "must be one primarily of maintenance."

Despite the bright fishing outlook, Tody warned that, "if we don't control the environment, we can't expect to have good fishing."

Man Faces Charge Of Manslaughter In Youth's Death

NEW BOSTON (AP)—Donald Sands, 40, of New Boston, a part-time Huron Township police officer, has been charged with manslaughter in the shooting death of a 17-year-old New Brunswick youth.

The shooting took place March 4 when, Sands said, he found David Patch, 17, prying open a vending machine in a gas station.

Sands said he fired his shotgun when the youth whirled around with an object in his hand that the policeman said he thought was a gun. The object was a screwdriver.

Ore Tailings Not Affecting Fish: Expert

DULUTH, Minn. (AP) — A federal expert said Wednesday that it does not seem probable—from data available to date—that taconite tailings discharged into Lake Superior have direct adverse effects on fish or public water supplies.

Dr. Donald I. Mount, director of the National Water Quality Laboratory at Duluth, reported on a study made by his staff the past year. He made the report Wednesday at a reconvened session of the federal-state Lake Superior Enforcement Conference at Duluth.

Dr. Mount said the tailings discharged by the Reserve Mining Co. plant at Silver Bay, Minn., cause green water along the Minnesota shore.

He said there is "an adverse public reaction to the aesthetic appearance of this coloration. In my judgment, the effect of Reserve's discharge should be assessed in terms of altering the lake's appearance, rather than the toxic effects on fish and fish food organisms, or endangering water supplies."

Mount said, however, that bacterial and algal growth promotion and contribution of dissolved solids from the tailings contribute in an adverse way to water quality.

In Washington, Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D - Wis., has urged the Lake Superior Conference to take strong action to halt pollution of Lake Superior by Reserve Mining Co. with its taconite tailings.

Federal evidence, Nelson said, shows the tailings from the big mining company have spread over areas of a 1,000 square mile portion of Lake Superior, including Wisconsin as well as Minnesota waters.

LANSING (AP)—A bill Rep. Philip Pittenger, R-Lansing, says would "make developers of land in Michigan deliver to the buyer what is promised in a contract" has been introduced in the Michigan House.

Draft Director Tarr Discloses Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — New Draft Director Curtis B. Tarr is about to review—and perhaps rewrite—the 30-year accumulation of orders left behind by his predecessor, Gen. Lewis B. Hershey.

In an exclusive interview, Tarr said he wants to give local boards guidelines to make their decisions more uniform—a reform long demanded by draft critics.

Tarr's remarks—as veiled by academic caution as Hershey's were by folksy jokes—revealed a belief that after three decades of directives from Hershey, many local draft boards still are not sure how to do their job.

Chief Legal Adviser

He said Keith McWilliams, a Des Moines, Iowa, lawyer, will become his chief legal officer within the next month, wading into the legacy of orders and memoranda to local boards and state directors.

Questioned on other aspects of draft policy, Tarr:

—Confirmed for the first time that President Nixon plans for an all-volunteer army of 2.5 million men, as estimated by a commission headed by Former Defense Secretary Thomas R. Gates.

—Said the administration does not want this army full of career soldiers, and anticipates volunteers will drop out after four to eight years and make room for young newcomers.

—Disclosed he is campaigning to make the membership of local draft boards younger and more "racially representative."

—Disclosed that a reduction in the number of local boards, which now number 4,087, is being considered.

Pay Raises Sought

In a message to Congress last Thursday, President Nixon sought payraises and benefits to encourage an all-volunteer army. But he warned it could not be achieved quickly and said the draft should be made fairer in the meantime.

As a start, Nixon barred all future occupational, agricultural and parent deferments, and sought congressional authorization to phase out student exemptions.

Said Tarr, in the interview, "All of the other thinking that I know of concerning reform relates to administrative actions that we can take here and throughout the system.

Understands Job

He said McWilliams "understands that one of his first jobs is going to be to go through all of the information that is in the hands of people at the local board and is used as a guide for their activity—regulations, memoranda and all kinds of directives.

"We think we can improve the information in the hands of people at local boards and at state headquarters.

"We think that if we do this, it will lead to more uniform decisions throughout the nation."

At the same time, Tarr said he is trying to improve the local boards themselves.

"The President has made it reasonably clear to us that he would like to have the local boards more representative of the population from which young people are drawn and would like to see more youth in the system at all levels," he said.

Will Explain Philosophy

"I am seeking to do this by visiting state headquarters, trying to impress state directors with the kind of philosophy we hope to have."

Local board members are appointed by the President upon recommendation by state governors, who Tarr said usually rely on recommendations from the state draft directors.

"The thing I was the most pleased about," he said, "was the attitude of the state directors in recognizing this to be a problem."

He said it is not a matter of "rooting out" present board members, but of making appointments to replace the 12 to 15 per cent who leave annually and to fill new seats when boards expand.

Did Sample Studies

Tarr said the General Services Administration—housekeeper for the government—did some sample studies "and concluded that we could get along with fewer boards," Tarr said in answer to a question about reducing and consolidating the large number of draft boards.

This, too, has been a reform frequently proposed—most notably by a commission, which reported to President Johnson in 1967.

"They suggested a more extensive, more definitive study be udertaken and we have authorized them to go ahead in conjunction with the Budget Bureau," Tarr said.

Not Sure Of Plan

Questioned on prospects for achieving an all-volunteer Army through President Nixon's $3.5 billion program of pay and benefits, Tarr said the administration does not really know how well the plan will work.

But he said military life "attracts a unique type of personality" who would prefer it over civilian life "given the freedom of choice and reasonably comparable economic opportunities."

The administration does not want an all-career Army, however, he said.

"I think this point needs to be emphasized," he said, "because in the kind of armed forces we want, we need some people for long periods of time but we need other people, and perhaps even more, who are on a rotating basis.

"...The Army would be hurt, would be crippled, if all of their enlistments stayed for 20 years."

Will Not Run

LANSING (AP)—Rep. Harry Rohlfs, R-Akron, who has been in the Michigan House since 1964, said Wednesday he will not seek re-election.

"There comes a time in a man's life when retirement begins to sound good," Rohlfs said. "At nearly age 68, I think it is time to see some of this wonderful country and spend some time with my family."

Economic 'Hat Trick' Eyed By Pres. Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — The economic signs remain mixed—some up, some down—but the Nixon administration is mounting a strong campaign to convince the nation it can "pull off the hat trick of economic history," restore stability without a recession.

A strong stock market rally and the first drop in the Wholesale Price Index in 18 months gave economic planners some grounds for joy Wednesday. The Dow Jones industrial average gained 13.06 points in recovering from its lowest point in six years.

But on the other side, New York economist Pierre Rinfret, a former Nixon campaign adviser, said an escalation of the war in Southeast Asia would mean worsened inflation and "the end of the American economy as we have known it."

And two little-noticed indicators gave a further clue to the nation's troubled business conditions—a rise in factory layoffs and a drop in help-wanted newspaper ads.

Rinfret's view was challenged by Treasury Undersecretary Charles E. Walker, who asserted at a seminar both attended:

"I believe this administration is about to pull off the hat trick of economic history—restoring price stability after four years of inflation, without an old-fashioned recession or an unacceptable level of unemployment."

Another Treasury official gave the sensitive financial markets no cause for cheer, however. Paul A. Volcker, the undersecretary for monetary affairs, said corporate tax collections are $1 billion to $5 billion behind the amount predicted in January.

As a result, he said, the current federal budget is only "in the neighborhood of balance." President Nixon forecast a $1.3 billion surplus 2½ months ago.

The stock market's recovery from its earlier slump was nearly torpedoed by the Pentagon's announcement that U.S. advisers will go into Cambodia with South Vietnamese troops.

The average was up 7 points when the announcement came, but inside an hour had dropped 11. But it recovered for the largest gain in a month.

Mayor Awarded Emergency Power At River Rouge

RIVER ROUGE (AP) — The River Rouge City Council, meeting late into the night Tuesday, passed an emergency ordinance detailing the powers of the mayor.

These include the power to declare a state of emergency and to impose a curfew. They also spelled out his rights to limit the sale of gasoline and liquor and the numbers of people who can congregate on a city street at any one time.

Monday night the state legislature defeated a bill allowing the mayors such powers.

The River Rouge Council took the action after disturbances by youths broke out Monday. A curfew has been imposed since then.

Livery Owner Burns 14 Boats - No Fishing

ALGONAC, Mich. (AP)— Ed Minnich, who reported $25,000 income from his Algonac boat livery last year, burned all of his wooden boats this week.

Minnich figured he might as well because mercury pollution of Lake St. Clair will keep his boat livery closed this year.

The 11 wooden boats which Minnich and his wife watched go up in flames Tuesday night were old and needed repairs to keep them serviceable for another two or three years.

"They wouldn't be much good laying over idle for the summer," Minnich said, adding that it would be senseless to spend money on repairing boats that probably would never hit the water this year.

But Minnich said he'll keep his 14 remaining boats—all aluminum—"ready and waiting" in case Canadian officials lift their ban on fishing in Lake St. Clair.

Minnich and his wife aren't the only members of their family feeling the economic pinch created by the April 15 fishing ban.

Minnich's brother, Wilford, operates a boat livery and sells tackle, bait and gasoline along the Middle Channel on Harsens Island, not far from here. He figures to lose money too.

Most cakes taste best the day they are baked, but a few like pound cake and angelfood, benefit from overnight storage before they are cut and served. A frosted cake will keep better than a cake that has no frosting because the frosting usually helps to keep the cake moist.

Price Of Beer To Be Raised?

LANSING — Michigan's troubled legislature is ready to tackle the price of beer.

And Rep. William B. Fitzgerald (D-Detroit) is confused by all the fuss.

Fitzgerald sponsored a bill April 3, 1969, to fix the merchant's markup on beer at 22 per cent, from an uncontrolled average of 15 per cent, or a 16-cent increase on a $4.25 case.

The bill passed the House and went to the Senate on June 9, 1969, and has lain in the Senate Liquor Committee since that time, unattended.

Opposes Bill

Now comes Dianne McKaig, executive director of the Michigan Consumers Council opposing "in principle any form of price fixing which manipulates retail prices . . .

"Price fixing is basically incompatable with the free enterprise system and if some retailers are able to sell beer at a lower price, it should be their right to do so," Miss McKaig said.

"It should be also the right of the consumer to purchase commodities at a cost reflecting marketplace competition. I don't know why he'd (Fitzgerald) want to stop loss leaders."

Fitzgerald said he sponsored the bill for the Michigan Package Liquor Dealers Association to halt loss leaders because it constitutes unfair competition.

$14 Million Boost

Miss McKaig said the bill, by boosting the markup from 15 to 22 per cent, would raise beer prices by $14 million a year on the 48.5 million cases sold each year in Michigan.

"Michigan consumers should not be required by State law to spend this additional $14 million a year, particularly when no economic necessity or justification for such a cost increase exists."

She said that the food chain stores and the independents both oppose the bill and the Department of Commerce said "enforcement . . . would be a practical impossibility."

It was enough to make Fitzgerald cry in his stein.

"What's this all about?" he asked. "The bill's been over in the Senate committee for almost a year. And where was Miss McKaig when the liquor commission gave the wine makers a raise last year, only that was a flat 60 cents a bottle.

Business Regulated

"The beer business is highly regulated. You can sell only during certain hours, you can't sell to the general public (you must be 21, remember).

"Here's a guy who runs a store on a 15 per cent markup, and we tip waitresses that much. Only theirs is 100 per cent profit."

Miss McKaig said she'd heard the bill was to be taken up in the Senate and wanted to state the Consumer Council's position before it was too late.

"But it's an old story around here," Fitzgerald said. "Things are going along and suddenly you get hit with a rock.

"What's going on?"

Cable Car Sex Victim Wins Damages

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A 29-year-old former Sunday School teacher who claimed a cable car accident left her with insatiable sexual desires has won $50,000 damages.

An eight-woman, four-man jury returned the award verdict Wednesday in favor of Gloria Sykes, who maintained that psychological injury from the accident six years ago led her to have sexual intercourse with 100 men in the past year.

Miss Sykes had sought $500,000 damages from the city-owned Municipal Railway.

During the trial Miss Sykes, wearing a miniskirt and with her long blonde hair in a pony tail, testified that she was a virgin until she was a 22-year-old coed at the University of Michigan, but subsequently had two affairs there.

She came to San Francisco two weeks before the accident on Sept. 29, 1964. A Hyde Street cable car on which she was riding slipped its cable, plunged down a hill and slammed into a power pole.

Her visible injuries consisted of bruises on her thigh, calf and forehead and two black eyes.

A parade of former lovers and psychiatrists testified during the month-long trial.

Miss Sykes told the jury she received no pleasure from the numerous sexual encounters and once underwent an abortion.

19 Prep Students Arrested In City School Rampage

DETROIT (AP) — Two Detroit junior high schools reopened today after student walkouts Wednesday led to sporadic looting and heavy window damage.

Two police officers were injured and 19 persons arrested in the flareup.

The incidents occurred at Drew Junior High on Detroit's Northwest Side and at Jackson Junior High on the city's East Side.

Some 300 students staged a brief rampage at Drew, smashing 37 plexiglass windows, 18 glass door panels, two drinking fountains and several fire extinguishers at the modernistic building which was opened last January.

An American flag was lowered from its pole and burned in the school entranceway.

At Jackson Junior High, some students refused to return to school after a false fire alarm was turned in. They roamed through the neighborhood, smashing windows in nearby homes and stores, including a jewlery store where looters grabbed some merchandise.

The trouble at Drew Junior High started at midmorning when about 150 students walked out to protest the transfer of a substitute teacher.

The Bark River - Harris Board of Education approved the purchasing of a convection oven and a milk cooler through the National School Lunch Program.

'Joint' Gifts Cause Uproar

LANSING (AP) — Gov. William Milliken and a group of Michigan legislators today received in the mail what some believed were marijuana cigarettes.

Several senators, including acting Lt. Gov. Thomas Schweigert, R-Petoskey, received the cigarettes, and Rep. Loren Anderson, R-Pontiac, said he counted at least 23 House members who got what appeared to be "joints," a slang term for marijuana cigarettes.

Anderson asked the Michigan State Police to analyze the contents of the cigarettes and, if possible, check for fingerprints on the envelopes.

The cigarettes were mailed in official Wayne State University envelopes, which Anderson said "in all fairness could have been stolen."

Rep. Leonard Walton, D-Detroit, meanwhile, checked with postal officials to check on the mailing which had gone through a stamping machine.

Along with the cigarette-like enclosure, the legislators received a sheet of instructions on how to smoke a "joint". In the lower left-hand corner was a White Panther symbol. The White Panthers were in Lansing Tuesday calling for legalization of marijuana as well as the release of John Sinclair, their leader, who was sentenced to prison for possession of marijuana.

In Detroit, Dr. William R. Keast, president of Wayne State University, received a similar envelope in the mail today. He turned it over to the WSU Safety Department for investigation.

Wayne State spokesmen said the envelopes which bore the mark of the College of Education were available in many places on the campus making the job of trying to track them virtually impossible.

Meanwhile, Rep. James F. Smith, R-Davison, said he had talked with WSU officials about the envelopes today.

"The main thing now is to find out who is responsible for this blatant taunting of our laws and see that this action does not go unanswered," he said.

Both Anderson and Walton said the metered stamp machine used to print postage on envelopes sent to the Capitol had been traced to Wayne State.

Anderson said a second envelope had been sent to the State Police Crime LAB at East Lansing.

"This may be the biggest put-on," Anderson said, "but it does show what you can do." He said he was convinced the appeal was a "legitimate demonstration" of concern for modification of state narcotics laws.

Committee Formed To Back Milliken

LANSING (AP) — Political supporters of Gov. William Milliken announced today the formation of the "Michigan for Milliken Committee," aimed at boosting the campaign for his first elected term as governor.

S. John Byington, former campaign manager for George Romney and a Milliken appointee, said he had not talked with the governor about the committee before today, but that Milliken had been "pleased" with endorsement by the group.

Byington admitted, however, that members of the governor's staff "were aware of what I was doing."

The committee announcement appeared to signal the opening of Milliken's campaign for the post for which he has yet to formally announce his candidacy.

Milliken recently told newsmen that "'if I am a candidate," he would select U.S. Atty. James Brickley as his running mate.

Byington said the committee first would circulate petitions for Milliken, then distribute Milliken bumper stickers and brochures.

A campaign biography written by Dan Angell has been distributed in recent weeks.

Mrs. John Finegan is to be executive director of the committee. She has been chairman of the Michigan's women's commission.

Byington said committee offices have been opened in Lansing and in Detroit's Industrial Building.

Captains, Crew Fined $200 For Illegal Fishing

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—The captains and crewmen of two Canadian fishing boats seized by Ohio officials on Lake Erie were assessed $200 fines Wednesday and had their nets and catches confiscated.

The fines were levied against Captains James Greenslade and David Ryerse and six crewmen.

The fishermen were hit hardest by confiscation of their nets, valued at a total of $7,000.

Ryerse, captain of the B&E, said he would try to replace the nets, valued at about $3,000, but said he could be out of business for the year.

"Confiscation went out with the stone age," Ryerse protested. He also lost 3,300 pounds of pike worth about $600.

Greenslade, captain of the Donna Gay II, had $4,000 worth of nets and $800 worth of pike confiscated. He said he had other nets at his home base, Port Dover, Ont.

Both captains pleaded guilty in Painesville Municipal Court to fishing in Ohio waters.

Lake Erie Fish Served; Milliken Irked With Menu

LANSING (AP) -- It was billed as a "Michigan Fish Dinner," but those who dined in the Capitol rotunda Wednesday evening ate fish from Ontario Waters of Lake Erie.

An aide to Gov. William Milliken said that when the governor learned of the origin of the menu, he sent someone out to seek Michigan fish on the market.

However, the aide said, most of the fish available in the Lansing area this season are from Canada.

The fish served at the dinner all were tested for mercury contamination, he added.

The feed was sponsored by the Great Lakes Fisheries Council, with the governor and legislabers as co-hosts.

Assassination Plot Backfires

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Police say a group of extremists who were "anti-Negro, anti-Jewish and antipolice" plotted to assassinate Superior Court Judge Alfred Gitelson who last February ordered integration of Los Angeles public schools.

The plot was foiled, police say, by undercover policemen who infiltrated the group so well that they were chosen as the assassins.

Police Chief Edward M. Davis disclosed the asserted plot Wednesday and said the 64-year-old judge and his family were under police protection.

Police said they found literature at the home of one of five men arrested indicating the group was "anti-Negro, anti-Jewish and anti-police." Gitelson is Jewish.

Market Loses Ground After Early Upswing

NEW YORK (AP) The stock market began a modest retreat from early morning gains in moderately active trading.

At 11 a.m. the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 1.59 to 738.98, after earlier having been up more than 4.

Advances outnumbered declines by nearly 2 to 1. In the opening, advances were ahead almost 4 to 1.

Analysts said the early morning upswing centered around professional traders, with the general public staying on the sidelines. Uncertainty over new Cambodian developments is adding to the caution, analysts said.

The market Wednesday staged what analysts called a strong technical rally in one of its best sessions in over a month. Trading was heavy with 15.8 million shares changing hands.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials closed up 13.06 at 737.39. This was the largest single day gain since March 25, when the Dow average jumped 16.37 to 790.13. The New York Stock Exchange's index of some 1,200 common stocks rose 0.90 at 44.98.

The rally came on the heels of a heavy sell-off following news that the U.S. was providing advisers and tactical air strikes for South Vietnamese operations in Cambodia. Analysts attributed the selling wave to a temporary panic reaction.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange also closed higher in the most active trading of the year. The Amex price-change index closed up .28 at 22.03. Volume was 5.67 million shares, heaviest since last Dec. 31 when more than 11 million shares changed hands.

Price Of Beer To Be Raised?

LANSING — Michigan's troubled legislature is ready to tackle the price of beer.

And Rep. William B. Fitzgerald (D-Detroit) is confused by all the fuss.

Fitzgerald sponsored a bill April 3, 1969, to fix the merchant's markup on beer at 22 per cent, from an uncontrolled average of 15 per cent, or a 16-cent increase on a $4.25 case.

The bill passed the House and went to the Senate on June 9, 1969, and has lain in the Senate Liquor Committee since that time, unattended.

Opposes Bill

Now comes Dianne McKaig, executive director of the Michigan Consumers Council opposing "in principle any form of price fixing which manipulates retail prices . . .

"Price fixing is basically incompatable with the free enterprise system and if some retailers are able to sell beer at a lower price, it should be their right to do so," Miss McKaig said.

"It should be also the right of the consumer to purchase commodities at a cost reflecting marketplace competition. I don't know why he'd (Fitzgerald) want to stop loss leaders."

Fitzgerald said he sponsored the bill for the Michigan Package Liquor Dealers Association to halt loss leaders because it constitutes unfair competition.

$14 Million Boost

Miss McKaig said the bill, by boosting the markup from 15 to 22 per cent, would raise beer prices by $14 million a year on the 48.5 million cases sold each year in Michigan.

"Michigan consumers should not be required by State law to spend this additional $14 million a year, particularly when no economic necessity or justification for such a cost increase exists."

She said that the food chain stores and the independents both oppose the bill and the Department of Commerce said "enforcement . . . would be a practical impossibility."

It was enough to make Fitzgerald cry in his stein.

"What's this all about?" he asked. "The bill's been over in the Senate committee for almost a year. And where was Miss McKaig when the liquor commission gave the wine makers a raise last year, only that was a flat 60 cents a bottle.

Business Regulated

"The beer business is highly regulated. You can sell only during certain hours, you can't sell to the general public (you must be 21, remember).

"Here's a guy who runs a store on a 15 per cent markup, and we tip waitresses that much. Only theirs is 100 per cent profit."

Miss McKaig said she'd heard the bill was to be taken up in the Senate and wanted to state the Consumer Council's position before it was too late.

"But it's an old story around here," Fitzgerald said. "Things are going along and suddenly you get hit with a rock.

"What's going on?"

19 Prep Students Arrested In City School Rampage

DETROIT (AP) — Two Detroit junior high schools reopened today after student walkouts Wednesday led to sporadic looting and heavy window damage.

Two police officers were injured and 19 persons arrested in the flareup.

The incidents occurred at Drew Junior High on Detroit's Northwest Side and at Jackson Junior High on the city's East Side.

Some 300 students staged a brief rampage at Drew, smashing 37 plexiglass windows, 18 glass door panels, two drinking fountains and several fire extinguishers at the modernistic building which was opened last January.

An American flag was lowered from its pole and burned in the school entranceway.

At Jackson Junior High, some students refused to return to school after a false fire alarm was turned in. They roamed through the neighborhood, smashing windows in nearby homes and stores, including a jewlery store where looters grabbed some merchandise.

The trouble at Drew Junior High started at midmorning when about 150 students walked out to protest the transfer of a substitute teacher.

Kindergarten registration at the Bark River-Harris Elementary School will be on Wednesday, May 6, 8:30 to 12 noon and 1 to 3:30 p. m. The child must be five by Dec. 1, 1970. Parents are to bring the child's birth certificate. Regular kindergarten will not be held on this date.

The Menominee County School Administrator's Association elected Clifford Luft, Hermansville superintendent, president and Charles Pearson, Bark River-Harris High School principal as secretary.

The Bark River - Harris Board of Education approved the purchasing of a convection oven and a milk cooler through the National School Lunch Program.

'Joint' Gifts Cause Uproar

LANSING (AP) — Gov. William Milliken and a group of Michigan legislators today received in the mail what some believed were marijuana cigarettes.

Several senators, including acting Lt. Gov. Thomas Schweigert, R-Petoskey, received the cigarettes, and Rep. Loren Anderson, R-Pontiac, said he counted at least 23 House members who got what appeared to be "joints," a slang term for marijuana cigarettes.

Anderson asked the Michigan State Police to analyze the contents of the cigarettes and, if possible, check for fingerprints on the envelopes.

The cigarettes were mailed in official Wayne State University envelopes, which Anderson said "in all fairness could have been stolen."

Rep. Leonard Walton, D-Detroit, meanwhile, checked with postal officials to check on the mailing which had gone through a stamping machine.

Along with the cigarette-like enclosure, the legislators received a sheet of instructions on how to smoke a "joint". In the lower left-hand corner was a White Panther symbol. The White Panthers were in Lansing Tuesday calling for legalization of marijuana as well as the release of John Sinclair, their leader, who was sentenced to prison for possession of marijuana.

In Detroit, Dr. William R. Keast, president of Wayne State University, received a similar envelope in the mail today. He turned it over to the WSU Safety Department for investigation.

Wayne State spokesmen said the envelopes which bore the mark of the College of Education were available in many places on the campus making the job of trying to track them virtually impossible.

Meanwhile, Rep. James F. Smith, R-Davison, said he had talked with WSU officials about the envelopes today.

"The main thing now is to find out who is responsible for this blatant launting of our laws and see that this action does not go unanswered," he said.

Both Anderson and Walton said the metered stamp machine used to print postage on envelopes sent to the Capitol had been traced to Wayne State.

Anderson said a second envelope had been sent to the State Police Crime LAB at East Lansing.

"This may be the biggest put-on," Anderson said, "but it does show what you can do." He said he was convinced the appeal was a "legitimate demonstration" of concern for modification of state narcotics laws.

Committee Formed To Back Milliken

LANSING (AP) — Political supporters of Gov. William Milliken announced today the formation of the "Michigan for Milliken Committee," aimed at boosting the campaign for his first elected term as governor.

S. John Byington, former campaign manager for George Romney and a Milliken appointee, said he had not talked with the governor about the committee before today, but that Milliken had been "pleased" with endorsement by the group.

Byington admitted, however, that members of the governor's staff "were aware of what I was doing."

The committee announcement appeared to signal the opening of Milliken's campaign for the post for which he has yet to formally announce his candidacy.

Milliken recently told newsmen that "'if I am a candidate," he would select U.S. Atty. James Brickley as his running mate.

Byington said the committee first would circulate petitions for Milliken, then distribute Milliken bumper stickers and brochures.

A campaign biography written by Dan Angell has been distributed in recent weeks.

Mrs. John Finegan is to be executive director of the committee. She has been chairman of the Michigan's women's commission.

Byington said committee offices have been opened in Lansing and in Detroit's Industrial Building.

Captains, Crew Fined $200 For Illegal Fishing

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP)— The captains and crewmen of two Canadian fishing boats seized by Ohio officials on Lake Erie were assessed $200 fines Wednesday and had their nets and catches confiscated.

The fines were levied against Captains James Greenslade and David Ryerse and six crewmen.

The fishermen were hit hardest by confiscation of their nets, valued at a total of $7,000.

Ryerse, captain of the B&E, said he would try to replace the nets, valued at about $3,000, but said he could be out of business for the year.

"Confiscation went out with the stone age," Ryerse protested. He also lost 3,300 pounds of pike worth about $600.

Greenslade, captain of the Donna Gay II, had $4,000 worth of nets and $800 worth of pike confiscated. He said he had other nets at his home base, Port Dover, Ont.

Both captains pleaded guilty in Painesville Municipal Court to fishing in Ohio waters.

Market Loses Ground After Early Upswing

NEW YORK (AP) The stock market began a modest retreat from early morning gains in moderately active trading.

At 11 a.m. the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 1.59 to 738.98, after earlier having been up more than 4.

Advances outnumbered declines by nearly 2 to 1. In the opening, advances were ahead almost 4 to 1.

Analysts said the early morning upswing centered around professional traders, with the general public staying on the sidelines. Uncertainty over new Cambodian developments is adding to the caution, analysts said.

The market Wednesday staged what analysts called a strong technical rally in one of its best sessions in over a month. Trading was heavy with 15.8 million shares changing hands.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials closed up 13.06 at 737.39. This was the largest single day gain since March 25, when the Dow average jumped 16.37 to 790.13. The New York Stock Exchange's index of some 1,200 common stocks rose 0.90 at 44.98.

The rally came on the heels of a heavy sell-off following news that the U.S. was providing advisers and tactical air strikes for South Vietnamese operations in Cambodia. Analysts attributed the selling wave to a temporary panic reaction.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange also closed higher in the most active trading of the year. The Amex price-change index closed up .28 at 22.03. Volume was 5.67 million shares, heaviest since last Dec. 31 when more than 11 million shares changed hands.

Lake Erie Fish Served; Milliken Irked With Menu

LANSING (AP) — It was billed as a "Michigan Fish Dinner," but those who dined in the Capitol rotunda Wednesday evening ate fish from Ontario Waters of Lake Erie.

An aide to Gov. William Milliken said that when the governor learned of the origin of the menu, he sent someone out to seek Michigan fish on the market.

However, the aide said, most of the fish available in the Lansing area this season are from Canada.

The fish served at the dinner all were tested for mercury contamination, he added.

The feed was sponsored by the Great Lakes Fisheries Council, with the governor and legislabors as co-hosts.

Assassination Plot Backfires

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Police say a group of extremists who were "anti-Negro, anti-Jewish and antipolice" plotted to assassinate Superior Court Judge Alfred Gitelson who last February ordered integration of Los Angeles public schools.

The plot was foiled, police say, by undercover policemen who infiltrated the group so well that they were chosen as the assassins.

Police Chief Edward M. Davis disclosed the asserted plot Wednesday and said the 64-year-old judge and his family were under police protection.

Police said they found literature at the home of one of five men arrested indicating the group was "anti-Negro, anti-Jewish and anti-police." Gitelson is Jewish.

FDA Investigating Agency Cover-Ups

By G.C. THELEN Jr.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Food and Drug Administration is investigating charges that agency officials have manipulated laboratory results for years to avoid weakening or contradicting established government policies on food additives and pesticide safety.

The charges, leveled by Dr. Howard L. Richardson, chief pathologist in the FDA's Bureau of Science, contend middle-level bureaucrats with limited scientific training have expunged conclusions and recommendations from reports on animal experiments because they cast doubt on FDA policies.

The findings might have caused FDA policy makers to reconsider "safe" labels for certain food additives and coloring agents and to re-estimate permissible pesticide levels for food.

Richardson's Oct. 20, 1969—dated memorandum to then FDA Commissioner Herbert L. Ley triggered a high-level, ongoing investigation, headed by Dr. Dale R. Lindsay, associate commissioner for science.

Ley, in an interview this week, termed Richardson's allegations "extremely sensitive and of major importance." Ley left the FDA last December and is now a private consultant.

A pathologist employed by the FDA especially to probe the charges has found substantial support for Richardson's position.

Reports Modified

"There have been modifications of statements and reports" said the consultant, Dr. Harold B. Stewart, retired chief pathologist for the National Cancer Institute. Stewart emphasized in an interview his findings were still preliminary.

Richardson's allegations, according to one congressional expert on the FDA, "cast doubt on the integrity of all FDA scientific positions for decades."

The FDA is a primary research center on the effects of additives and pesticides on human health and Richardson's charges deal with these factors —not drugs.

Richardson went directly to Ley, avoiding bureaucratic channels, after reviewing an FDA seedling experiment involving the artificial sweetener cyclamate done 20 years before.

Restrictions Imposed

The government imposed restrictions on cyclamates in 1969 after outside experiments linking the chemicals to bladder cancer, genetic damage and birth defects in animals.

Richardson, who joined the agency in 1968, said the old FDA slides and laboratory work sheets revealed what he termed a suspiciously high incidence of cancer in the test animals. The cancer findings were not mentioned in the published report.

The pathologist who conducted the original research told Richardson a nonpathologist superior had written the report and that he, the pathologist, had only signed it.

Decisions Supported

Richardson quoted the superior who prepared the 1951 report as saying policy decisions were "made on high level, and it was up to him, Dr. F to see that the official positions were carried out . . . the pathologist had to support such decisions, as he, Dr. F had been reinterpreting data for 30 years."

Richardson's memorandum—as supplied to the Associated Press by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare —used initials rather than names of involved officials. The original memo included names.

Experts believe cyclamates might not have been widely used—or possibly even permitted — if the 1951 cancer findings had been known by scientists.

Separation Blamed

Richardson blamed what he termed the disgraceful scientific climate in the FDA on separation of research experts from top policy officials by a middle level of bureaucracy.

The middle officials are determined to protect their jobs by supporting top level policy decisions at all costs, he said.

Asked to comment on the probe, current FDA Commissioner Dr. Charles C. Edwards said through a spokesman: "I am determined that we will make the maximum effort to make the judgment of our scientists available as quickly as possible to top officials of the FDA and the department."

Edwards has taken at least one step to meet the complaints of Richardson and other like-inded scientists.

He has inaugurated a special new reporting channel to allow scientists to take "extremely important information" directly to the commissioner, bypassing normal bureaucratic stops.

Policeman Shot; Suspect Faces Murder Charge

BENTON HARBOR (AP) — A 33-year-old Florida man was charged in a warrant Wednesday with first - degree murder in the fatal shooting of Benton Township police officer.

Everett Harrison, whose last known address was Pompano Beach, Fla., was being held as a police prisoner at a Benton Harbor hospital in fair condition with bullet wounds.

Harrison was arrested after the early morning shooting of Benton Township Sgt. Robert Stevens, who was killed while he was drinking coffee with another officer in a Benton Harbor restaurant.

Sheriff's deputies said Stevens and Deputy David Tiefenbach were drinking coffee when a man entered, grabbed Steven's pistol and fired at him.

Right To Curb Speech Under Fire In Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three states whose laws are under attack before the Supreme Court say they have the right to curtail speech if it endangers the security of the state.

"New York has the right to prevent advocacy," said Maria L. Marchs, that state's assistant attorney general," "which is one step before the explosion."

Frederick J. Ludwig, chief assistant district attorney general for Queens County, said New York's criminal anarchy statute was used to foil a plot by black militants to sabotage subways, power plants and other facilities.

Eleanor J. Piel, attorney for a youth charged under the statute, told the court police used the statute in a harrassing action directed "against the thoughts of these defendants."

The New York law was upheld by a three-judge federal panel, but California's criminal syndicalism law and Illinois' law against threats have been overturned by similar courts.

New arguments in all three cases were heard Wednesday because the Supreme Court was unable to reach decisions in the various appeals heard last year.

The court also is hearing rearguments on Texas' "disturbing the peace" law which has been declared an unconstitutional restraint on peaceful protest by a lower court.

The 1902 New York criminal anarchy statute was used against 10 black militants charged with advocating overthrow of the government through sabotage and assassination.

An issue raised in all the cases was whether the federal courts should not have intervened in the state prosecutions because of a federal law limiting the use of federal injunctions in such cases.

Eye Moratorium On Reassessments

LANSING (AP)—Two Democratic state senators want a three-year moratorium on property reassessments.

Sens. John Bowman, D-Roseville, and John McCauley, D-Grosse Isle, have proposed a bill to that effect.

"Public outcry against dramatically escalating increases in property taxes calls for immediate and positive action on the part of the Legislature," Bowman said.

FDA Investigating Agency Cover-Ups

By G.C. THELEN Jr.

The New York law was upheld by a three-judge federal panel, but California's criminal syndicalism law and Illinois' law against threats have been overturned by similar courts.

New arguments in all three cases were heard Wednesday because the Supreme Court was unable to reach decisions in the various appeals heard last year.

The court also is hearing rearguments on Texas' "disturbing the peace" law which has been declared an unconstitutional restraint on peaceful protest by a lower court.

The 1902 New York criminal anarchy statute was used against 10 black militants charged with advocating overthrow of the government through sabotage and assassination.

An issue raised in all the cases was whether the federal courts should not have intervened in the state prosecutions because of a federal law limiting the use of federal injunctions in such cases.

Eye Moratorium On Reassessments

LANSING (AP)—Two Democratic state senators want a three-year moratorium on property reassessments.

Sens. John Bowman, D-Roseville, and John McCauley, D-Grosse Isle, have proposed a bill to that effect.

"Public outcry against dramatically escalating increases in property taxes calls for immediate and positive action on the part of the Legislature," Bowman said.

Parents Against 'Shuttling' Plans

Parents at the Hiawatha School don't want their children "shuttled around" to other schools as evidenced by open discussion during Tuesday night's board of education meeting at the township school.

No decision was made on how the board will absorb an anticipated "surplus" of sixth graders at Hiawatha next year. All of the 28 parents at the meeting felt their children should attend their Hiawatha School and not be bused to the Lincoln School, one of the alternatives the board is considering.

The board said they were attempting to resolve the problem with the least possible inconvenience to students and parents, preserve the quality of education by not creating combination or double grades and in the least expensive way (not hiring an additional teacher).

Suggested was leasing or buying a portable classroom (discarded because of excessive expense and because an additional teacher would have to be hired), transferring the kindergarten to the gym thereby providing an additional classroom (unsatisfactory to the kindergarten teacher), reopening the Mueller School and transferring students throughout the district back to their respective township schools (also too expensive).

A hint of dissatisfaction, coupled with a misunderstanding of the complexity of the Area Board's problems in the total school district, was obvious in off-handed remarks various parents made throughout the discussion.

The dissatisfaction is apparently linked with the reorganization of the individual school districts into the Manistique Area Schools—voter-approved four years ago—and emanates from a feeling that "the township has lost control of our school which we built and are still paying for," as one parent said.

Board President Denton Nelson said the board is concerned about every single child in the Manistique Area Schools—city and township alike—and is attempting to provide the best education possible with the money available.

No immediate decision is necessary on the Hiawaha pupil situation since the board was seeking parent reaction to the situation in an effort to find the best possible solution.

Four architectural firms will be interviewed next month as the board attempts to explore the possibility or a building remodeling program.

The four firms, including G. Arntzen & Company, Escanaba; Gjelsteen & Seaborg, Menominee; Warren Holmes, Lansing; and Kainlauri, Ann Arbor, were chosen from 17 firms who indicated an interest.

A special committee will evaluate the $500 bid of Jim Tennyson of Gulliver for the old Doyle School property and report at the May 12 meeting which will be held at the new Doyle School.

Nelson announced a special education meeting in Rapid River this weekend and a conference on School Building Programs in Marquette on May 8.

Female Jockey Slated To Ride In 96th Derby

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Diane Crump stood on the threshold today of becoming the first girl to ride in the Kentucky Derby, America's most glamorous horse race.

Standing between her and racing history were possible injury to her mount, another change of mind by the colt's interests and mud—the latter the most likely.

Early today trainer Don Divine told The Associated Press by telephone from his Louisville motel room that W. L. Lyons Brown's Fathom would run in Saturday's derby and Miss Crump would ride him.

Earlier, Divine had said that Fathom, who had finished seventh of 10 3-year-olds in Tuesday's Derby Trial, would not start in the 1¼ mile $125,000-added Derby. He said Brown had left the decision on whether to start the colt in the Derby to him.

But of the change in plans, Divine said "the owner wants to run and he pays the bills, so okay we'll run."

Asked his opinion of Fathom going in the Derby, Divine answered "if it comes up really muddy, I believe he'll let me take him out."

The Trial was run on an off-track and the weather forecast for Saturday said there was a 40 pct. chance of showers.

Should Fathom run in the Derby he is expected to join at least 16 other 3-year-olds.

The field was to be officially set today with entries being made from 7-9:30 A.M. EDT. The draw for post positions was to be held at 10 a.m.

Listed as the top probables for the 96th running of the Derby are Raymond Curtis' My Dad George, Samuel Agnew's Terlago, Mrs. Ethel D. Jacobs' Personality, Sonny Werblin's Silent Screen and Mr. and Mrs. Ted Gary's Corn Off The Cob.

Other probables included E. V. Benjamin III's and J. M. Jones Jr.'s Action Getter, Lin-Drake Farm's Dr. Berhman, Robert Lehmann's Dust Commander. Alan Magerman's George Lewis, Mrs. Jacob's High Echelon, Mrs. J.S. Dean's Holy Land, Hor-Jac Stable's Naskra, Charles Engelhard's Protanto, W. C. Robinson's Admiral's Shield, Dr. Richard Kuhn's and Walter Hickey's Robin's Bug and Steve Carson's and Irving Apple's Rancho Lejos.

Ishpeming Pair Third In ABC

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Frito Lay's Potato Chips of Lansing clung to first place in the regular teams division of the American Bowling Congress tournament Wednesday with a score of 3,057. That was five points ahead of second place AAA Trucking of Scranton, Pa.

Ishpeming's Bob and Don Maki are in third place in the regular doubles division with 1,310.

Plenty Of Hitting Occurs In Oriole, Bosox Clashes

By The Associated Press

It was just about a tosssup where the most hitting was taking place—in Chicago where Baltimore was using bats or in Boston where the Red Sox and Oakland A's were using balls.

The Orioles contented themselves with legitimate hitting, using five home runs—three by Paul Blair—to bury Chicago 18-2.

The Red Sox and A's aimed at each other instead of the ball with Boston pitcher Sonny Siebert and Oakland slugger Reggie Jackson the main participants in an old fashioned beanball war. When they got back to baseball, the Sox beat the A's 5-3.

Elsewhere in the American League Wednesday, Detroit trimmed Kansas City 8-2, Minnesota blanked Cleveland 1-0, Washington shut out Milwaukee 4-0 and California topped New York 3-2.

Home Run Power

Blair, Ellie Hendricks and Boog Powell all walloped three-run homers for the Orioles, who sprayed 20 hits around Comiskey Park.

Blair's first homer with two on came in the third inning and an inning later, he connected with one on. He capped his big night with a solo shot in the ninth inning.

The White Sox were never in the game with Baltimore building a 16-0 lead in the first five innings. The heavy hitting made it easy for Jim Palmer, who notched his third victory and contributed to the offense with two singles. Bill Melton homered for the White Sox.

Siebert struck out nine batters in the first five innings but got himself thrown out of the Boston-Oakland game in the beanball melee.

Fight Begins

It all started when Oakland's Chuck Dobson hit Siebert with a pitch in the Red Sox's fifth. When Siebert headed menacingly towards the mound, both benches emptied out, but the umpires kept the peace. They couldn't quite do that an inning later when Siebert's first pitch plunked Jackson.

Jackson was restrained by Umpire Bill Haller but the Oakland bench charged the mound and decked Siebert. Players poured on the field from both dugouts and bullpens and just when order seemed restored, Jackson charged through a crowd of players at Seibert and both went down in another brawl.

Siebert, Jackson, Oakland pitcher John Odom and Boston Coach George Thomas all were thrown out of the game. The umpires didn't have to bother ejecting Dobson. The Red Sox took care of that with two doubles and a single by Luis Alvarado keying Boston's attack.

Twins Win

Stan Williams bailed Jim Kaat out of a ninth inning jam and Minnesota shaded Cleveland on an unearned run.

Williams came on with runners on first and second and two out in the ninth and picked Tony Horton off second base to end the game.

The Twins got the only run they needed in the third inning when Tony Oliva scored from second as Cleveland third baseman Graig Nettles let Rich Reese's two-out bouncer get through for an error.

Aurelio Rodriguez and Frank Howard slammed homers and Dick Bosman scattered seven hits as Washington trimmed Milwaukee.

It was the second homer in as many days for Rodriguez, who was acquired Sunday from California. Ed Stroud added three hits for the Senators.

Bosman's complete game was only the second this season for the Washington pitching staff.

California trimmed New York with Andy Messersmith, Paul Doyle and Ken Tatum combining to limit the Yanks to seven hits.

Ken McMullen, who came to the Angels from Washington in the Rodriguez trade, drove in the deciding run with an eighth inning single as the Angels won in New York for the first time since Aug. 27, 1968.

Horton, Tigers Whip Royals

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Willie Horton is an impatient man with a baseball bat in his hands, and he says that is his biggest downfall.

"If I ever conquered that — being patient — I'd take my chances in this game," the barrel - chested Detroit outfielder said Wednesday night after slamming his first homer of the season and a triple to lead the Tigers to an 8-2 victory over Kansas City.

"I want to do so well; I want to hit so well, and the pitchers know that," Horton said. "I should have 20 walks, but it's the other way around...strikeouts..."

Horton claims he isn't concerned about hitting home runs, just hitting. For that reason, he said, he didn't surprise himself by not hitting a homer until the Tigers' 17th game.

However, Horton his nine home runs in spring training and had hit four by this stage of the 1969 season. So, the silence of his bat came as a surprise to a lot of other people.

"I don't worry about home runs, really, as long as I'm swinging all right," he said. "With me, it's just getting a ball to hit.

"Ted Williams proved that to me. In Washington, I didn't see a fastball. He showed me that they're going to pitch me slow breaking stuff. And I've just got to be patient."

Horton's homer, a towering blow to left-center, gave Detroit a 2-0 lead in fourth inning and his triple was the key blow in a two-run Tigers sixth that gave young Mike Kilkenny all the runs he needed to post a victory in his first start of the season.

"I didn't know what to expect," said Kilkenny, who had pitched only 1 2-3 innings of relife until Wednesday night. "I think I got tired. A pitcher hates to admit that, but it's the truth. All in all, I was fairly saisfied."

Kilkenny said he felt strong, perhaps too strong. "You tend to overthrow when you feel that strong," he said, "and that affects your control. Mine wasn't the best, but it was adequate."

The Royals broke Kilkenny's shutout bid with a run in the eighth on Ellie Rodriguez' single then added another on Amos Otis' triple and a sacrifice fly in the ninth. Fred Lasher spelled Kilkenny and got the final two outs.

Besides Horton's heroics, rookie outfielder Elliott Maddox hit his first major league homer for the Tigers, a two-run blow in the ninth, Al Kaline had a triple and Mickey Stanley got three hits.

Penguins Face Crucial Game

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Pittsburgh Penguins will need their characteristic resilience to bounce back against the St. Louis Blues in the sixth game of the best-of-seven Stanley Cup semifinals tonight.

The Blues lead the series 3-2 and this game could spell elimination for the Penguins.

For two years the Penguins watched while other teams in the National Hockey League's Division made the playoffs.

This season the Penguins finished second in the division behind the Blues.

The Blues took the first two games of the playoffs on their home ice, and the Penguins won the next two at Pittsburgh. Tuesday night St. Louis handily won 5-0.

"We haven't done anything easy all year," says Penguin Coach Red Kelly. "We've bounced back before. Don't be surprised if we're in St. Louis again Sunday."

To win, the Penguins will need to muster more offense than they did in the last game when they got only 21 shots on goal.

"I've said all along that no matter what game it is, we still have to beat them there," said Kelley. "Now it looks like game No. 7."

The Blues have won 15 straight playoff games on their home ice and the Penguins have scored only four goals in seven games during the season and playoffs. They have not won a game at St. Louis all year.

"We weren't outskated that badly," Kelly said of Tuesday's game. "We just stood around and let them roam all over the ice."

Knicks In Lead; Win In Overtime

LOS ANGELES (AP) — New York's Knickerbockers proved once and for all they can't be shocked out of the National Basketball Association championship.

Jerry West put them to the test Wednesday night. The Los Angeles Laker ace lofted a desperation shot with less than two seconds remaining. It dropped through the hoop 55 feet away at the buzzer.

Knicks Fail To Falter

The score then stood 102-102 going into overtime in the third game of this best- of-seven championship playoff. If New York was to falter, the Laker ace had provided them the cause.

Yet Dick Barnett, the guard the Lakers traded away five years ago, and Willis Reed reacted to the challenge to bring the Knicks a 111-108 victory.

Reed's free throw, his last of 38 points, and a windup field goal by Barnett finished the scoring to give the Knickerbockers a 2-1 series edge.

Barnett tallied 11 in the final quarter when the Knicks scored 34 to 29 for Los Angeles.

West scored 34 for the losers and Wilt Chamberlain added 21 plus 26 rebounds, although once again Reed, Most Valuable Player in the NBA, outplayed the veteran ace of the Westerners.

Reed Stars

In addition to his 38 points, Reed hauled down 17 rebounds, ably assisted by Dave DeBusschere with 15. The latter also contributed 21 points, including key baskets from outside in the final regulation period.

New York remains in Los Angeles to meet the Lakers Friday night, again at the Forum, where a sellout crowd of 17,000 watched the third game.

The Lakers, who won the second outing at Madison Square Garden 105-103 after losing the opener 124-112, jumped into a quick lead and held a 56-42 halftime advantage.

West accummulated 16 points by the intermission but New York limited him to a single free throw in the third period.

Walt Frazier explained: "Burnett and I alternated guarding him. Nobody can guard him an entire game and expect to do any offense. You just run out of gas. At that, we weren't getting as many open shots as in the first game."

Pressure Shooter

Barnett commented: "I thought the shot West made was the greatest pressure shot that I've ever seen."

Dick said he took the last shot in the overtime period because he was open but actually it had been planned for Bill Bradley to take it.

Coach Red Holzman said: "Obviously there is not much difference between our two clubs. I don't think off that game anybody could say which club was better."

Holzman said the Knicks did not have any particular strategy and intimated the same would be true Friday night.

The Lakers coach, Joe Mullaney said: "We've had trouble all year getting rebounds on the offensive board and we had the same trouble this time. We just had too many turnovers in the second half."

Packers Acquire Veteran Player

GREEN BAY, Wis. — The Green Bay Packers Wednesday got tight end Jacque MacKinnon, 30, from the San Diego Chargers in exchange for an undisclosed choice in the 1971 draft.

MacKinnon, 6 feet 4 inches and 240 pounds, made the American Football League All-Star squad in 1968, and is regarded as one of the best blocking tight ends in football. He will be in his 10th pro season. He went to Colgate.

His acquisition will make tight end one of the most populous positions on the team. The Packers traded earlier to get John Hilton from the Pittsburgh Steelers, and used a first round draft choice to take Rich McGeorge of Elon College. The 1969 regular, Marv Fleming, will become a free agent at midnight Thursday and is expected to be traded shortly thereafter.

Mud Hens Beaten Again By Tides

By The Associated Press

The Toledo Mud Hens would be just as happy if the Tidewater Tides didn't come back during the rest of the International League season—especially pitchers.

The Tides completed a three-game sweep by routing the Mud Hens 15-4 Wednesday night and remaining within half a game of the league - leading Syracuse Chiefs. It was the heaviest bombardment of the series that saw the Tides bang out 51 hits and score 34 runs.

Les Rohr gave up 11 hits, two more than the Mud Hens had collected in the two previous defeats—10-2 and 9-1—but he also collected two hits of his own, giving Tidewater pitchers a 9-for-13 series at bat.

Syracuse held its lead with a 4-3 victory over the Columbus Jets, but the Rochester Red Wings tumbled to third place in an 8-6 defeat by the Louisville Colonels, their second in a row after eight straight victories.

Carty Extends Hit Streak As Braves Dump Cardinals

By The Associated Press

Rico Carty claims he is not a streak hitter but National League pitchers haven't stopped the Dominican Dandy in three weeks with the St. Louis Cardinals moundsmen his latest victims.

19 Games

Carty, whose ninth inning double got Atlanta a tie before the Braves exploded four more times in a 10-6 victory over the Cards Wednesday night, also extended his hitting streak to 19 games.

"I'm not a streak hitter," the 29-year old Braves' left fielder said. "I don't know what kind of hitter I am."

Cards reliever Chuck Taylor found out in the ninth when Carty drilled a double to right, tying the game at 6-6 before Richie Allen's error of Felix Millan's bouncer sent across the lead run.

Before the inning was over, Nelson Briles had wild pitched another run across and winning reliever Bob Priddy drove in the last pair with a single.

In other National League contests, Chicago belted Pittsburgh 10-5, Cincinnati downed Houston 5-3, Los Angeles stopped Philadelphia 6-1, Montreal routed San Diego 10-0 and San Francisco edged New York 8-6.

Braves Rally

Carty, 29, who went hitless opening day April 7, hasn't been without a hit in a game since. Wednesday night, Rico was shut out in three at bats before walking in the eighth when the Braves rallied for four runs to get within 6-5 of the Cards.

Then in the big ninth, Atlanta's Tony Gonzales drew a one-out walk, moved to second on Hank Aaron's single and crossed on Carty's two-bagger. The hit—in his last chance—raised his batting average to .411 on 30 hits. He also has 18 runs batted in.

Carty, a .311 lifetime hitter in his six years in the majors says "I'm a lucky hitter. Sometimes it's better to be lucky than good."

But teammate Clete Boyer disagrees with the Dominican Republic slugger, who was sidelined in 1968 with a bout of tuberculosis. "This guy can hit anybody alive," he said.

Cards' Manager Red Schoendienst didn't have too much to say but did say, "They got nine runs in a hurry, didn't they?

Billy Williams, playing in his 9th consecutive game, slammed a homer and single for three RBI as the Cubs battered the Pirates, who had stopped their 11-game winning string Tuesday. Willie Smith added a homer for the Cubs, his first.

Williams' blast was his seventh of the season.

Merritt Wins No. 5

Jim Merritt became the major's first five-game winner but needed relief help in the Reds' triumph, which maintained their West Division lead to 5½ games over San Francisco and Los Angeles.

Clay Carroll bailed out lefthander Merritt in the eighth inning after Houston, losing its eighth straight, cracked the sixth double off Merritt, who has lost once this season. John Bench had a two-run double for Cincinnati while Joe Pepitone had a solo homer for the Astros.

Andy Kosco's two-run homer helped the Dodgers end the Phillies' six-game winning streak and Claude Osteen twirled a five hitter for his second straight victory after three losses. Kosco's third homer of the season, in the fifth inning, keyed a three-run gdodger explosion.

Padres Win

Home runs by Ollie Brown and Al Ferrara backed the three-hit pitching of Pat Dobson, snapping the Padres' six-game losing streak in the romp over Montreal.

Dobson, 2-2, became the first Padre to go the distance this season in San Diego's first 21 games. The right-hander struck out 11 and walked six.

Ron Hunt, who rapped out four hits, singled in the eighth with the bases loaded, driving in the lead run in San Francisco's triumph. Hal Lanier added a three-run homer and Bobby Bonds a solo shot for the Giants. Mike Jorgensen and Donn Clendenon had homers for the Mets.

Pitches No-Hitter

DETROIT (AP) — Freshman Doug Konieczny, who turned down a Detroit Tiger contract to attend Wayne State University, pitched a no-hitter Wednesday to give the Tartans a 3-0 victory in the second game of a doubleheader with the University of Detroit.

Detroit won the first game 7-5.

Konieczny struck out 10 in the game, but made going rough for himself as he loaded the bases three times on walks. He gave up a total of 10 walks in the game.

Colonels Advance In ABA Playoffs

By The Associated Press

Gene Moore of the Kentucky Colonels finally solved his foul problems—and in the process led his team into their first American Basketball Association Eastern Division finals.

Moore, who picked up four quick fouls Wednesday night and played only 10 minutes of the first half, came back to lead a second half Kentucky rally as the Colonels downed the New York Nets 112-101 to win their best-of-seven division semi-finals 4-to-3.

The Colonels travel to Indianapolis Friday night to open their best-of-seven division finals with the Indiana Pacers. The division - winning Pacers gained their berth by sweeping their semi-final series with the Carolina Cougars in four games.

The Western Division finals open tonight with Los Angeles playing at Denver. The Stars upset Dallas by taking their semi-final playoffs in six games, while Western Division champ Denver needed seven games to eliminate the Washington Caps.

Moore, who at 6-9 and 225 pounds is the mainstay of the Colonels' front line, led the league in disqualifications during the regular season and fouled out of four of the playoff-games — including Wednesday night's contest.

However, he managed to stay in the game until the final minute — and by that time Kentucky had a 14 point lead. Moore finished with 19 points and hit nine of 14 shots from the field.

A pair of Colonel substitute — George Tinsley and Wayne Chapman — also played a major role in the victory. They combined for nine points in the final two minutes of the first half to bring Kentucky from a 10-point deficit to within 48-46 at halftime.

The Nets fade-out continued in the second half, as Kentucky went ahead at 52-50 with 10:38 left in the third quarter and never looked back.

New York managed to come within four points on two occasions in the final period but never caught up.

Seven Colonels hit double figures — Louie Dampier 22, Moore 19, Jim Ligon 15, Sam Smith and Darel Carrier 14 each and Tinsley and Chapman 11 apiece.

Sonny Dove had 24 points for the Nets, while Levern Tart added 23 and Ed Johnson 20.

New York had a 3-2 edge in the series, but lost at home 116-113 to the Colonels Tuesday night.

Female Jockey Slated To Ride In 96th Derby

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Diane Crump stood on the threshold today of becoming the first girl to ride in the Kentucky Derby, America's most glamorous horse race.

Standing between her and racing history were possible injury to her mount, another change of mind by the colt's interests and mud—the latter the most likely.

Early today trainer Don Divine told The Associated Press by telephone from his Louisville motel room that W. L. Lyons Brown's Fathom would run in Saturday's derby and Miss Crump would ride him.

Earlier, Divine had said that Fathom, who had finished seventh of 10 3-year-olds in Tuesday's Derby Trial, would not start in the 1¼ mile $125,000-added Derby. He said Brown had left the decision on whether to start the colt in the Derby to him.

But of the change in plans, Divine said "the owner wants to run and he pays the bills, so okay we'll run."

Asked his opinion of Fathom going in the Derby, Divine answered "if it comes up really muddy, I believe he'll let me take him out."

The Trial was run on an off-track and the weather forecast for Saturday said there was a 40 pct. chance of showers.

Should Fathom run in the Derby he is expected to join at least 16 other 3-year-olds.

The field was to be officially set today with entries being made from 7-9:30 A.M. EDT. The draw for post positions was to be held at 10 a.m.

Listed as the top probables for the 96th running of the Derby are Raymond Curtis' My Dad George, Samuel Agnew's Terlago, Mrs. Ethel D. Jacobs' Personality, Sonny Werblin's Silent Screen and Mr. and Mrs. Ted Gary's Corn Off The Cob.

Other probables included E. V. Benjamin III's and J. M. Jones Jr.'s Action Getter, Lin-Drake Farm's Dr. Berhman, Robert Lehmann's Dust Commander, Alan Magerman's George Lewis, Mrs. Jacob's High Echelon, Mrs. J.S. Dean's Holy Land, Her-Jac Stable's Naskra, Charles Engelhard's Protanto, W. C. Robinson's Admiral's Shield, Dr. Richard Kuhn's and Walter Hickey's Robin's Bug and Steve Carson's and Irving Apple's Rancho Lejos.

Plenty Of Hitting Occurs In Oriole, Bosox Clashes

By The Associated Press

It was just about a tosssup where the most hitting was taking place—in Chicago where Baltimore was using bats or in Boston where the Red Sox and Oakland A's were using balls.

The Orioles contented themselves with legitimate hitting, using five home runs—three by Paul Blair—to bury Chicago 18-2.

The Red Sox and A's aimed at each other instead of the ball with Boston pitcher Sonny Siebert and Oakland slugger Reggie Jackson the main participants in an old fashioned beanball war. When they got back to baseball, the Sox beat the A's 5-3.

Elsewhere in the American League Wednesday, Detroit trimmed Kansas City 8-2, Minnesota blanked Cleveland 1-0, Washington shut out Milwaukee 4-0 and California topped New York 3-2.

Home Run Power

Blair, Ellie Hendricks and Boog Powell all walloped three-run homers for the Orioles, who sprayed 20 hits around Comiskey Park.

Blair's first homer with two on came in the third inning and an inning later, he connected with one on. He capped his big night with a solo shot in the ninth inning.

The White Sox were never in the game with Baltimore building a 16-0 lead in the first five innings. The heavy hitting made it easy for Jim Palmer, who notched his third victory and contributed to the offense with two singles. Bill Melton homered for the White Sox.

Siebert struck out nine batters in the first five innings but got himself thrown out of the Boston-Oakland game in the beanball melee.

Fight Begins

It all started when Oakland's Chuck Dobson hit Siebert with a pitch in the Red Sox's fifth. When Siebert headed menacingly towards the mound, both benches emptied out, but the umpires kept the peace. They couldn't quite do that an inning later when Siebert's first pitch plunked Jackson.

Jackson was restrained by Umpire Bill Haller but the Oakland bench charged the mound and decked Siebert. Players poured on the field from both dugouts and bullpens and just when order seemed restored, Jackson charged through a crowd of players at Seibert and both went down in another brawl.

Siebert, Jackson, Oakland pitcher John Odom and Boston Coach George Thomas all were thrown out of the game. The umpires didn't have to bother ejecting Dobson. The Red Sox took care of that with two doubles and a single by Luis Alvarado keying Boston's attack.

Twins Win

Stan Williams bailed Jim Kaat out of a ninth inning jam and Minnesota shaded Cleveland on an unearned run.

Williams came on with runners on first and second and two out in the ninth and picked Tony Horton off second base to end the game.

The Twins got the only run they needed in the third inning when Tony Oliva scored from second as Cleveland third baseman Graig Nettles let Rich Reese's two-out bouncer get through for an error.

Aurelio Rodriguez and Frank Howard slammed homers and Dick Bosman scattered seven hits as Washington trimmed Milwaukee.

It was the second homer in as many days for Rodriguez, who was acquired Sunday from California. Ed Stroud added three hits for the Senators.

Bosman's complete game was only the second this season for the Washington pitching staff.

California trimmed New York with Andy Messersmith, Paul Doyle and Ken Tatum combining to limit the Yanks to seven hits.

Ken McMullen, who came to the Angels from Washington in the Rodriguez trade, drove in the deciding run with an eighth inning single as the Angels won in New York for the first time since Aug. 27, 1968.

Carty Extends Hit Streak As Braves Dump Cardinals

By The Associated Press

Rico Carty claims he is not a streak hitter but National League pitchers haven't stopped the Dominican Dandy in three weeks with the St. Louis Cardinals moundsmen his latest victims.

19 Games

Carty, whose ninth inning double got Atlanta a tie before the Braves exploded four more times in a 10-6 victory over the Cards Wednesday night, also extended his hitting streak to 19 games.

"I'm not a streak hitter," the 29-year old Braves' left fielder said. "I don't know what kind of hitter I am."

Cards reliever Chuck Taylor found out in the ninth when Carty drilled a double to right, tying the game at 6-6 before Richie Allen's error of Felix Millan's bouncer sent across the lead run.

Before the inning was over, Nelson Briles had wild pitched another run across and winning reliever Bob Priddy drove in the last pair with a single.

In other National League contests, Chicago belted Pittsburgh 10-5, Cincinnati downed Houston 5-3, Los Angeles stopped Philadelphia 6-1, Montreal routed San Diego 10-0 and San Francisco edged New York 8-6.

Braves Rally

Carty, 29, who went hitless opening day April 7, hasn't been without a hit in a game since. Wednesday night, Rico was shut out in three at bats before walking in the eighth when the Braves rallied for four runs to get within 6-5 of the Cards.

Then in the big ninth, Atlanta's Tony Gonzalez drew a one-out walk, moved to second on Hank Aaron's single and crossed on Carty's two-bagger. The hit—in his last chance—raised his batting average to .411 on 30 hits. He also has 18 runs batted in.

Carty, a .311 lifetime hitter in his six years in the majors says "I'm a lucky hitter. Sometimes it's better to be lucky than good."

But teammate Clete Boyer disagrees with the Dominican Republic slugger, who was sidelined in 1968 with a bout of tuberculosis. "This guy can hit anybody alive," he said.

Cards' Manager Red Schoendienst didn't have too much to say but did say, "They got nine runs in a hurry, didn't they?

Billy Williams, playing in his 9th consecutive game, slammed a homer and single for three RBI as the Cubs battered the Pirates, who had stopped their 11-game winning string Tuesday. Willie Smith added a homer for the Cubs, his first.

Pitches No-Hitter

DETROIT (AP) — Freshman Doug Konieczny, who turned down a Detroit Tiger contract to attend Wayne State University, pitched a no-hitter Wednesday to give the Tartans a 3-0 victory in the second game of a doubleheader with the University of Detroit.

Detroit won the first game 7-5.

Konieczny struck out 10 in the game, but made going rough for himself as he loaded the bases three times on walks. He gave up a total of 10 walks in the game

Williams' blast was his seventh of the season.

Merritt Wins No. 5

Jim Merritt became the major's first five-game winner but needed relief help in the Reds' triumph, which maintained their West Division lead to 5½ games over San Francisco and Los Angeles.

Clay Carroll bailed out lefthander Merritt in the eighth inning after Houston, losing its eighth straight, cracked the sixth double off Merritt, who has lost once this season. John Bench had a two-run double for Cincinnati while Joe Pepitone had a solo homer for the Astros.

Andy Kosco's two-run homer helped the Dodgers end the Phillies' six-game winning streak and Claude Osteen twirled a five hitter for his second straight victory after three losses. Kosco's third homer of the season, in the fifth inning, keyed a three-run gdodger explosion.

Padres Win

Home runs by Ollie Brown and Al Ferrara backed the three-hit pitching of Pat Dobson, snapping the Padres' six-game losing streak in the romp over Montreal.

Dobson, 2-2, became the first Padre to go the distance this season in San Diego's first 21 games. The right-hander struck out 11 and walked six.

Ron Hunt, who rapped out four hits, singled in the eighth with the bases loaded, driving in the lead run in San Francisco's triumph. Hal Lanier added a three-run homer and Bobby Bonds a solo shot for the Giants. Mike Jorgensen and Donn Clendenon had homers for the Mets

Horton, Tigers Whip Royals

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Willie Horton is an impatient man with a baseball bat in his hands, and he says that is his biggest downfall.

"If I ever conquered that — being patient — I'd take my chances in this game," the barrel - chested Detroit outfielder said Wednesday night after slamming his first homer of the season and a triple to lead the Tigers to an 8-2 victory over Kansas City.

"I want to do so well; I want to hit so well, and the pitchers know that," Horton said. "I should have 20 walks, but it's the other way around...strikeouts..."

Horton claims he isn't concerned about hitting home runs, just hitting. For that reason, he said, he didn't surprise himself by not hitting a homer until the Tigers' 17th game.

However, Horton his nine home runs in spring training and had hit four by this stage of the 1969 season. So, the silence of his bat came as a surprise to a lot of other people.

"I don't worry about home runs, really, as long as I'm swinging all right," he said. "With me, it's just getting a ball to hit.

"Ted Williams proved that to me. In Washington, I didn't see a fastball. He showed me that they're going to pitch me slow breaking stuff. And I've just got to be patient."

Horton's homer, a towering blow to left-center, gave Detroit a 2-0 lead in fourth inning and his triple was the key blow in a two-run Tigers sixth that gave young Mike Kilkenny all the runs he needed to post a victory in his first start of the season.

"I didn't know what to expect," said Kilkenny, who had pitched only 1 2-3 innings of relife until Wednesday night. "I think I got tired. A pitcher hates to admit that, but it's the truth. All in all, I was fairly saisfied."

Kilkenny said he felt strong, perhaps too strong. "You tend to overthrow when you feel that strong," he said, "and that affects your control. Mine wasn't the best, but it was adequate."

The Royals broke Kilkenny's shutout bid with a run in the eighth on Ellie Rodriguez' single then added another on Amos Otis' triple and a sacrifice fly in the ninth. Fred Lasher spelled Kilkenny and got the final two outs.

Besides Horton's heroics, rookie outfielder Elliott Maddox hit his first major league homer for the Tigers, a two-run blow in the ninth, Al Kaline had a triple and Mickey Stanley got three hits.

Knicks In Lead; Win In Overtime

LOS ANGELES (AP) — New York's Knickerbockers proved once and for all they can't be shocked out of the National Basketball Association championship.

Jerry West put them to the test Wednesday night. The Los Angeles Laker ace lofted a desperation shot with less than two seconds remaining. It dropped through the hoop 55 feet away at the buzzer.

Knicks Fail To Falter

The score then stood 102-102 going into overtime in the third game of this best- of-seven championship playoff. If New York was to falter, the Laker ace had provided them the cause.

Yet Dick Barnett, the guard the Lakers traded away five years ago, and Willis Reed reacted to the challenge to bring the Knicks a 111-108 victory.

Reed's free throw, his last of 38 points, and a windup field goal by Barnett finished the scoring to give the Knickerbockers a 2-1 series edge.

Barnett tallied 11 in the final quarter when the Knicks scored 34 to 29 for Los Angeles.

West scored 34 for the losers and Wilt Chamberlain added 21 plus 26 rebounds, although once again Reed, Most Valuable Player in the NBA, outplayed the veteran ace of the Westerners.

Reed Stars

In addition to his 38 points, Reed hauled down 17 rebounds, ably assisted by Dave DeBusschere with 15. The latter also contributed 21 points, including key baskets from outside in the final regulation period.

New York remains in Los Angeles to meet the Lakers Friday night, again at the Forum, where a sellout crowd of 17,000 watched the third game.

The Lakers, who won the second outing at Madison Square Garden 105-103 after losing the opener 124-112, jumped into a quick lead and held a 56-42 halftime advantage.

West accummulated 16 points by the intermission but New York limited him to a single free throw in the third period.

Walt Frazier explained: "Burnett and I alternated guarding him. Nobody can guard him an entire game and expect to do any offense. You just run out of gas. At that, we weren't getting as many open shots as in the first game."

Pressure Shooter

Barnett commented: "I thought the shot West made was the greatest pressure shot that I've ever seen."

Dick said he took the last shot in the overtime period because he was open but actually it had been planned for Bill Bradley to take it.

Coach Red Holzman said: "Obviously there is not much difference between our two clubs. I don't think off that game anybody could say which club was better."

Holzman said the Knicks did not have any particular strategy and intimated the same would be true Friday night.

The Lakers coach, Joe Mullaney said: "We've had trouble all year getting rebounds on the offensive board and we had the same trouble this time. We just had too many turnovers in the second half."

Penguins Face Crucial Game

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Pittsburgh Penguins will need their characteristic resilience to bounce back against the St. Louis Blues in the sixth game of the best-of-seven Stanley Cup semifinals tonight.

The Blues lead the series 3-2 and this game could spell elimination for the Penguins.

For two years the Penguins watched while other teams in the National Hockey League's Division made the playoffs.

This season the Penguins finished second in the division behind the Blues.

The Blues took the first two games of the playoffs on their home ice, and the Penguins won the next two at Pittsburgh. Tuesday night St. Louis handily won 5-0.

"We haven't done anything easy all year," says Penguin Coach Red Kelly. "We've bounced back before. Don't be surprised if we're in St. Louis again Sunday."

To win, the Penguins will need to muster more offense than they did in the last game when they got only 21 shots on goal.

"I've said all along that no matter what game it is, we still have to beat them there," said Kelley. "Now it looks like game No. 7."

The Blues have won 15 straight playoff games on their home ice and the Penguins have scored only four goals in seven games during the season and playoffs. They have not won a game at St. Louis all year.

"We weren't outskated that badly," Kelly said of Tuesday's game. "We just stood around and let them roam all over the ice."

Colonels Advance In ABA Playoffs

By The Associated Press

Gene Moore of the Kentucky Colonels finally solved his foul problems—and in the process led his team into their first American Basketball Association Eastern Division finals.

Moore, who picked up four quick fouls Wednesday night and played only 10 minutes of the first half, came back to lead a second half Kentucky rally as the Colonels downed the New York Nets 112-101 to win their best-of-seven division semi-finals 4-to-3.

The Colonels travel to Indianapolis Friday night to open their best-of-seven division finals with the Indiana Pacers. The division - winning Pacers gained their berth by sweeping their semi-final series with the Carolina Cougars in four games.

The Western Division finals open tonight with Los Angeles playing at Denver. The Stars upset Dallas by taking their semi-final playoffs in six games, while Western Division champ Denver needed seven games to eliminate the Washington Caps.

Moore, who at 6-9 and 225 pounds is the mainstay of the Colonels' front line, led the league in disqualifications during the regular season and fouled out of four of the playoff games — including Wednesday night's contest.

However, he managed to stay in the game until the final minute — and by that time Kentucky had a 14 point lead. Moore finished with 19 points and hit nine of 14 shots from the field.

A pair of Colonel substitute — George Tinsley and Wayne Chapman — also played a major role in the victory. They combined for nine points in the final two minutes of the first half to bring Kentucky from a 10-point deficit to within 48-46 at halftime.

The Nets fade-out continued in the second half, as Kentucky went ahead at 52-50 with 10:38 left in the third quarter and never looked back.

New York managed to come within four points on two occasions in the final period but never caught up.

Seven Colonels hit double figures — Louie Dampier 22, Moore 19, Jim Ligon 15, Sam Smith and Darel Carrier 14 each and Tinsley and Chapman 11 apiece.

Sonny Dove had 24 points for the Nets, while Levern Tart added 23 and Ed Johnson 20.

New York had a 3-2 edge in the series, but lost at home 116-113 to the Colonels Tuesday night.

Packers Acquire Veteran Player

GREEN BAY, Wis. — The Green Bay Packers Wednesday got tight end Jacque MacKinnon, 30, from the San Diego Chargers in exchange for an undisclosed choice in the 1971 draft.

MacKinnon, 6 feet 4 inches and 240 pounds, made the American Football League All-Star squad in 1968, and is regarded as one of the best blocking tight ends in football. He will be in his 10th pro season. He went to Colgate.

His acquisition will make tight end one of the most populous positions on the team. The Packers traded earlier to get John Hilton from the Pittsburgh Steelers, and used a first round draft choice to take Rich McGeorge of Elon College. The 1969 regular, Marv Fleming, will become a free agent at midnight Thursday and is expected to be traded shortly thereafter.

Mud Hens Beaten Again By Tides

By The Associated Press

The Toledo Mud Hens would be just as happy if the Tidewater Tides didn't come back during the rest of the International League season—especially pitchers.

The Tides completed a three-game sweep by routing the Mud Hens 15-4 Wednesday night and remaining within half a game of the league - leading Syracuse Chiefs. It was the heaviest bombardment of the series that saw the Tides bang out 51 hits and score 34 runs.

Les Rohr gave up 11 hits, two more than the Mud Hens had collected in the two previous defeats—10-2 and 9-1—but he also collected two hits of his own, giving Tidewater pitchers a 9-for-13 series at bat.

Syracuse held its lead with a 4-3 victory over the Columbus Jets, but the Rochester Red Wings tumbled to third place in an 8-6 defeat by the Louisville Colonels, their second in a row after eight straight victories.

Judge Claims Kennedy Negligent In Mishap

legal official says there is nothing to prevent it from reopening the case.

Boyle could not be reached for comment.

Destination Disclosed

In Kennedy's two hour appearance at the inquest in Edgartown District Court, he testified that his destination when he and Miss Kopechne left a Chappaquiddick party was the Katama Shores Motor Inn in Edgartown, where she was staying, and then the Shiretown Inn, where he had a room.

In his report, Boyle noted that Kennedy normally did not drive, and that John B. Crimmins, his chauffeur, was among the guests at the Chappaquiddick party. Six men were there, as were six young women who had worked in the presidential campaign of the late Robert F. Kennedy.

Among the other points Boyle cited:

"Kennedy told only Crimmins that he was leaving for Shiretown, and requested the car key . . .

"Kopechne roomed with Esther Newburgh, the latter having in her possession the key to their room.

Had No Room Key

"Kopechne told no one, other than Kennedy, that she was leaving for Katama Shores and did not ask Newburgh for the room key.

"It was known that the ferry ceased operation about midnight and special arrangements must be made for a later trip. No such arrangements were made."

Kennedy testified that after the plunge he recalled Miss Kopechne struggling, kicking "and I, at this time, opened my eyes and realized I was upside down, that water was crashing in on me, that it was pitch black . . .

"I realized that Mary Jo and I had to get out of the car."

Groped For Window

He said he remembered pushing at the door, groping for the window.

"And I remember the last sensation of being completely out of air and inhaling what must have been a half a lung full of water and assuming . . . that I wasn't going to get out of that car alive and then somehow I can remember coming up to the last energy of just pushing, pressing and coming up to the surface."

Kennedy said the tide swept him 30 to 40 feet from the car. He said he waded back against the current, began diving to the automobile in an effort to rescue Miss Kopechne.

Tells Of Diving

He said he dove seven or eight times, until he was exhausted, then crawled and staggered to the bank of the pond. After 15 or 20 minutes, Kennedy said, he started down the road, "walking, trotting, jogging, stumbling as fast as I possibly could."

Back at the cottage, Kennedy found Raymond S. La Rosa outside and asked for his cousin, Joseph F. Gargan, and Paul F. Markham, a friend and former U.S. attorney, who were in the cottage.

He, Gargan and Markham drove back to the bridge, Gargan and Markham stripped and began diving to the submerged car. Kennedy said they tried for 45 minutes to find Miss Kopechne. They failed, took Kennedy to the ferry crossing, urging him to report the accident to police, then returned to the cottage.

Quizzed About Delay

Kennedy faced extensive inquest questioning about the delay in the accident report.

Dinis: Was there any particular reason why you did not call either the police or the fire department?

Kennedy: Well, I intended to report it to the police. . . .

Dinis: I see, and did something happen to prevent this?

Kennedy: Yes.

Dinis: What was that?

Kennedy: . . . Mr. Markham and Mr. Gargan (said to me) at different times as we drove down the road towards the ferry, that it was necessary to report this accident.

"A lot of different thoughts came into my mind at that time. . . .

Kept Wandering

"I just wondered how all of this could possibly have happened. I also had sort of a thought and the wish and desire and the hope that suddenly this whole accident would disappear, and they reiterated that this has to be reported, and I understood at the time that I left that ferry boat, left the slip where the ferry boat was, that it had to be reported and I had full intention of reporting it, and I mentioned to Gargan and Markham something like 'you take care of the girls, I will take care of the accident'—that is what I said and I dove into the water . . ."

Wanted Secrecy

By that time, Kennedy said, he was convinced Miss Kopechne had drowned.

He instructed Markham and Gargan not to tell the other girls of the accident.

His explanation:

"I felt strong that if those girls were notified that an accident had taken place . . ., that it would only be a matter of seconds before all of those girls . . . would go to the scene of the accident and dive themselves and enter the water and with, I felt, a good chance that some serious mishap might have occurred to any of them."

Kennedy said he swam to the Edgartown side of the channel and went to his hotel room.

Quizzed By Pals

In the morning, he saw Gargan and Markham at the hotel.

"Well, they asked had I reported the accident and why I hadn't reported the accident and I told them about my own thoughts and feelings as I swam across that channel . . . and as I almost tossed and turned, paced that room and walked around that room that night . . . .

"I told them how I somehow believed that when the sun came up and it was a new morning that what had happened the night before would not have happened and did not happen, and how I just couldn't gain the strength within me, the moral strength to call Mrs. Kopechne at 2 o'clock in the morning and tell her that her daughter was dead."

Kennedy, Markham and Gargan took the ferry back to Chappaquiddick.

Notifies Police

"It was to make a private phone call to one of the dearest and oldest friends that I have and that was to Mr. Burke Marshall," Kennedy said.

"It was my thought that once I went to the police station that I would be involved in a myriad of details and I wanted to talk to this friend before I undertook that responsibility."

Marshall is a lawyer, a former assistant attorney general under Robert F. Kennedy. Sen. Kennedy did not reach him. Boyle's summary said Kennedy also telephoned his administrative assistant, David Burke, in Washington

Kennedy then returned to Edgartown and reported the accident to Police Chief Dominick Arena. "I think it was sometime before 10 a.m." he said.

Information Sought

As Kennedy left the witness stand, the judge again sought an explanation of his failure to seek further aid the night of the accident.

"It is because I was completely convinced at that time that no further help and assistance would do Mary Jo any more good," Kennedy said.

"I realized that she must be drowned and still in the car at this time and it appeared the question in my mind at that time was, what should be done about the accident."

Kennedy said that a week after the accident he was considering resigning from the Senate. Five days after that he said he would remain, would run again, and if re-elected, would serve a full term.

Ranked Top Demo

Until the accident and its aftermath, he had ranked at the head of the list of potential Democratic challengers to President Nixon in 1972. A six-year Senate term would take him past that election, and Kennedy said his full-term pledge meant he was out of the 1972 presidential picture.

In his inquest testimony, as in his televised account of the accident last July 25, Kennedy denied any involvement with Miss Kopechne.

"I have never in my life, as I have stated in my television talk, had any personal relationship whatsoever with Mary Jo Kopechne," he testified.

Kennedy said he had two drinks of rum and Coca Cola during the Chappaquiddick party, some beer earlier in the day.

Judge Boyle: In your opinion you would be sober at the time that you operated the motor vehicle to the Dike Bridge?

Kennedy: Absolutely sober.

COMING SOON: THE LITTLE CAR THAT DOES EVERYTHING WELL.

Late this summer, Chevrolet will bring out a new little car.

Truly new.

And truly little.

Who needs it, you ask?

Fair question. There's already a bunch of little cars on the market. And a few of them ,we'll reluctantly admit, aren't half bad. We'll also admit they all leave a little something to be desired.

EVERYTHING? EVERYTHING.

Our little car, which we're still finding ways to improve, will leave nothing to be desired.

Its talents will be impressive.

For instance, in our own highway tests, our new mini has been traveling almost as far on a quart of gas as some cars go on a gallon.

Yet the car moves like a rabbit.

Front disc brakes will stop you emphatically

It is uncommonly steady in crosswinds.

Nimble and easy to park.

Simple and easy to fix.

And strong. Strong body, strong chassis, strong engine, strong everything.

The inside isn't fancy. But it sure isn't plain. And there's room in there for four full-grown people. (Or, two full-grown people and three or four semi-grown people.)

All that, and considerable more, for the same kind of money people have been paying for ordinary everyday little cars.

We wouldn't blame you for being skeptical. The car does indeed sound too good to be true.

Bear with us. Read our future ads, in which we'll get progressively specific with facts, features, dimensions, statistics.

Then, in a few months, we'll hit you with the biggest little persuader of them all: the car itself. Four of them as a matter of fact.

A sedan, a coupe, a station wagon. And even a little panel truck.

YOU'LL SEE.

legal official says there is nothing to prevent it from reopening the case.

Boyle could not be reached for comment.

Destination Disclosed

In Kennedy's two hour appearance at the inquest in Edgartown District Court, he testified that his destination when he and Miss Kopechne left a Chappaquiddick party was the Katama Shores Motor Inn in Edgartown, where she was staying, and then the Shiretown Inn, where he had a room.

In his report, Boyle noted that Kennedy normally did not drive, and that John B. Crimmins, his chauffeur, was among the guests at the Chappaquiddick party. Six men were there, as were six young women who had worked in the presidential campaign of the late Robert F. Kennedy.

Among the other points Boyle cited:

"Kennedy told only Crimmins that he was leaving for Shiretown, and requested the car key . . .

"Kopechne roomed with Esther Newburgh, the latter having in her possession the key to their room.

Had No Room Key

"Kopechne told no one, other than Kennedy, that she was leaving for Katama Shores and did not ask Newburgh for the room key.

"It was known that the ferry ceased operation about midnight and special arrangements must be made for a later trip. No such arrangements were made."

Kennedy testified that after the plunge he recalled Miss Kopechne struggling, kicking "and I, at this time, opened my eyes and realized I was upside down, that water was crashing in on me, that it was pitch black . . .

"I realized that Mary Jo and I had to get out of the car."

Groped For Window

He said he remembered pushing at the door, groping for the window.

"And I remember the last sensation of being completely out of air and inhaling what must have been a half a lung full of water and assuming . . . that I wasn't going to get out of that car alive and then somehow I can remember coming up to the last energy of just pushing, pressing and coming up to the surface."

Kennedy said the tide swept him 30 to 40 feet from the car. He said he waded back against the current, began diving to the automobile in an effort to rescue Miss Kopechne.

Tells Of Diving

He said he dove seven or eight times, until he was exhausted, then crawled and staggered to the bank of the pond. After 15 or 20 minutes, Kennedy said, he started down the road, "walking, trotting, jogging, stumbling as fast as I possibly could."

Back at the cottage, Kennedy found Raymond S. La Rosa outside and asked for his cousin, Joseph F. Gargan, and Paul F. Markham, a friend and former U.S. attorney, who were in the cottage.

He, Gargan and Markham drove back to the bridge, Gargan and Markham stripped and began diving to the submerged car. Kennedy said they tried for 45 minutes to find Miss Kopechne. They failed, took Kennedy to the ferry crossing, urging him to report the accident to police, then returned to the cottage.

Quizzed About Delay

Kennedy faced extensive inquest questioning about the delay in the accident report.

Dinis: Was there any particular reason why you did not call either the police or the fire department?

Kennedy: Well, I intended to report it to the police. . . .

Dinis: I see, and did something happen to prevent this?

Kennedy: Yes.

Dinis: What was that?

Kennedy: . . . Mr. Markham and Mr. Gargan (said to me) at different times as we drove down the road towards the ferry, that it was necessary to report this accident.

"A lot of different thoughts came into my mind at that time. . . .

Kept Wandering

"I just wondered how all of this could possibly have happened. I also had sort of a thought and the wish and desire and the hope that suddenly this whole accident would disappear, and they reiterated that this has to be reported, and I understood at the time that I left that ferry boat, left the slip where the ferry boat was, that it had to be reported and I had full intention of reporting it, and I mentioned to Gargan and Markham something like 'you take care of the girls, I will take care of the accident'—that is what I said and I dove into the water . . ."

Wanted Secrecy

By that time, Kennedy said, he was convinced Miss Kopechne had drowned.

He instructed Markham and Gargan not to tell the other girls of the accident.

His explanation:

"I felt strong that if those girls were notified that an accident had taken place . . ., that it would only be a matter of seconds before all of those girls . . . would go to the scene of the accident and dive themselves and enter the water and with, I felt, a good chance that some serious mishap might have occurred to any of them."

Kennedy said he swam to the Edgartown side of the channel and went to his hotel room.

Quizzed By Pals

In the morning, he saw Gargan and Markham at the hotel.

"Well, they asked had I reported the accident and why I hadn't reported the accident and I told them about my own thoughts and feelings as I swam across that channel . . . and as I almost tossed and turned, paced that room and walked around that room that night . . . .

"I told them how I somehow believed that when the sun came up and it was a new morning that what had happened the night before would not have happened and did not happen, and how I just couldn't gain the strength within me, the moral strength to call Mrs. Kopechne at 2 o'clock in the morning and tell her that her daughter was dead."

Kennedy, Markham and Gargan took the ferry back to Chappaquiddick.

Notifies Police

"It was to make a private phone call to one of the dearest and oldest friends that I have and that was to Mr. Burke Marshall," Kennedy said.

"It was my thought that once I went to the police station that I would be involved in a myriad of details and I wanted to talk to this friend before I undertook that responsibility."

Marshall is a lawyer, a former assistant attorney general under Robert F. Kennedy. Sen. Kennedy did not reach him. Boyle's summary said Kennedy also telephoned his administrative assistant, David Burke, in Washington

Kennedy then returned to Edgartown and reported the accident to Police Chief Dominick Arena. "I think it was sometime before 10 a.m." he said.

Information Sought

As Kennedy left the witness stand, the judge again sought an explanation of his failure to seek further aid the night of the accident.

"It is because I was completely convinced at that time that no further help and assistance would do Mary Jo any more good," Kennedy said.

"I realized that she must be drowned and still in the car at this time and it appeared the question in my mind at that time was, what should be done about the accident."

Kennedy said that a week after the accident he was considering resigning from the Senate. Five days after that he said he would remain, would run again, and if re-elected, would serve a full term.

Ranked Top Demo

Until the accident and its aftermath, he had ranked at the head of the list of potential Democratic challengers to President Nixon in 1972. A six-year Senate term would take him past that election, and Kennedy said his full-term pledge meant he was out of the 1972 presidential picture.

In his inquest testimony, as in his televised account of the accident last July 25, Kennedy denied any involvement with Miss Kopechne.

"I have never in my life, as I have stated in my television talk, had any personal relationship whatsoever with Mary Jo Kopechne," he testified.

Kennedy said he had two drinks of rum and Coca Cola during the Chappaquiddick party, some beer earlier in the day.

Judge Boyle: In your opinion you would be sober at the time that you operated the motor vehicle to the Dike Bridge?

Kennedy: Absolutely sober.

SCHOCH CHEVROLET

COMING SOON: THE LITTLE CAR THAT DOES EVERYTHING WELL.

Late this summer, Chevrolet will bring out a new little car.

Truly new.

And truly little.

Who needs it, you ask?

Fair question. There's already a bunch of little cars on the market. And a few of them ,we'll reluctantly admit, aren't half bad. We'll also admit they all leave a little something to be desired.

EVERYTHING? EVERYTHING.

Our little car, which we're still finding ways to improve, will leave nothing to be desired.

Its talents will be impressive.

For instance, in our own highway tests, our new mini has been traveling almost as far on a quart of gas as some cars go on a gallon.

Yet the car moves like a rabbit.

Front disc brakes will stop you emphatically

It is uncommonly steady in crosswinds.

Nimble and easy to park.

Simple and easy to fix.

And strong. Strong body, strong chassis, strong engine, strong everything.

The inside isn't fancy. But it sure isn't plain. And there's room in there for four full-grown people. (Or, two full-grown people and three or four semi-grown people.)

All that, and considerable more, for the same kind of money people have been paying for ordinary everyday little cars.

We wouldn't blame you for being skeptical. The car does indeed sound too good to be true.

Bear with us. Read our future ads, in which we'll get progressively specific with facts, features, dimensions, statistics.

Then, in a few months, we'll hit you with the biggest little persuader of them all: the car itself. Four of them as a matter of fact.

A sedan, a coupe, a station wagon. And even a little panel truck.

YOU'LL SEE.

MARQUETTE—A 51st Birthday Testimonial Dinner, in honor of State Sen. Joseph S. Mack (D-Ironwood) will be held at 7:30 p. m. Saturday, May 9, in the Great Lakes Room of Northern Michigan University's University Center.

State Rep. Dominic Jacobetti (D-Negaunee) is the honorary chairman of the Testimonial Dinner Committee.

The Testimonial Dinner is to pay tribute to Sen. Mack for the many achievements which have been realized, both for his district and the State of Michigan, through his legislative leadership, the Dinner Committee said.

Business and political leaders from throughout the state are planning to attend the dinner, which is also open to citizens in the Upper Peninsula. Reservations for attending the dinner may be made by writing to Tom Jernstad, Northern Michigan University, Marquette 49855.

U-M Counsellor Sentenced, Fired

ANN ARBOR (AP)—A black counsellor at the University of Michigan was fired Wednesday from his job in the school's housing office after being sentenced Tuesday for perjury.

John Feldkamp, U-M housing director, announced the firing of Shawn Tarrant, who earlier had been suspended.

Tarrant was suspended by Judge Ross Campbell. He had been cited for perjury in giving false statements under oath about his educational background and police record.

Feldkamp said Tarrant also gave false information when he was hired by the university.

The perjury charge arose out of Tarrant's cross-examination at a contempt hearing. He had earlier refused to give the names of students involved in an assault on another student.

Recover Body Of Jack English

CHICAGO (AP) — Scuba divers recovered the body Wednesday of one of two men aboard a twin-engine private aircraft that crashed into fog-shrouded Lake Michigan Tuesday night.

The body, found strapped in a seat of the Cessna 336, was identified as Jack B. English, 45, of Wakefield, Mich., owner of the plane and operator of Indianhead Mountain Ski Lodge near Wakefield.

The second man, Richard Vitullo, 24, of Chicago, was not found. He was identified as the pilot of the plane which crashed shortly after taking off from Meigs Field, a small downtown lakefront airport.

NO DICE

LONDON (AP) — British model Lara Koski, 19, came back from the Paris collections with a "no dice" verdict on Frenchmen as wold-be lovers.

Said Lara: "We got pestered a bit more than we would in London but Frenchmen are just a laugh.

"They're so egotistical it's unbelievable. Little lumps of garlic, that's all they are."

House Facing New Turmoil On School Aid

LANSING (AP) — Gov. William G. Milliken's endorsement of a Senate GOP stand against any election-year tax increase has thrown the Michigan House into new turmoil over the controversial Spencer-Ryan school aid plan.

That $1.22-billion, House-passed proposal is $271 million above Milliken's recommendation. Added controversy is generated by the presence in the bill of a $22 million parochiaid section. In addition, the bill is predicated on an across-the-board increase in the state income tax to raise some $350 million in new revenue.

Minority Leader Robert E. Waldron, R-Grosse Pointe, an irrevocable parochiaid foe, is moving to force a vote on the long-stalled income tax bill in the House.

At the same time, Waldron and Rep. William R. Copeland, Democratic chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, reportedly are preparing a contingency plan that foresees no legislative enactment of any school aid bill this year. It proposes to inject additional funds into some other appropriation bill to allow a modest supplement to the $839 million that Michigan public schools are receiving this year.

Meanwhile, Democratic Speaker William A. Ryan and Rep. Roy Spencer, R-Attica, are attempting to hold their weakening coalition by proposing only a 2.9 or 3.1 per cent individual rate. Their original plan called for raising the present 2.6-per cent individual income tax rate to 3.5 per cent.

Glenn S. Allen Jr., Milliken's budget director, has met with both House caucuses, warning that failure to pass any school aid bill this year will substantially cut the aid schools now receive.

Allen contends that increases in local property assessments will cause the reduced state aid.

U-M Counsellor Sentenced, Fired

ANN ARBOR (AP)—A black counsellor at the University of Michigan was fired Wednesday from his job in the school's housing office after being sentenced Tuesday for perjury.

John Feldkamp, U-M housing director, announced the firing of Shawn Tarrant, who earlier had been suspended.

Tarrant was suspended by Judge Ross Campbell. He had been cited for perjury in giving false statements under oath about his educational background and police record.

Feldkamp said Tarrant also gave false information when he was hired by the university.

The perjury charge arose out of Tarrant's cross-examination at a contempt hearing. He had earlier refused to give the names of students involved in an assault on another student.

Recover Body Of Jack English

CHICAGO (AP) — Scuba divers recovered the body Wednesday of one of two men aboard a twin-engine private aircraft that crashed into fog-shrouded Lake Michigan Tuesday night.

The body, found strapped in a seat of the Cessna 336, was identified as Jack B. English, 45, of Wakefield, Mich., owner of the plane and operator of Indianhead Mountain Ski Lodge near Wakefield.

The second man, Richard Vitullo, 24, of Chicago, was not found. He was identified as the pilot of the plane which crashed shortly after taking off from Meigs Field, a small downtown lakefront airport.

NO DICE

LONDON (AP) — British model Lara Koski, 19, came back from the Paris collections with a "no dice" verdict on Frenchmen as wold-be lovers.

Said Lara: "We got pestered a bit more than we would in London but Frenchmen are just a laugh.

House Facing New Turmoil On School Aid

LANSING (AP) — Gov. William G. Milliken's endorsement of a Senate GOP stand against any election-year tax increase has thrown the Michigan House into new turmoil over the controversial Spencer-Ryan school aid plan.

That $1.22-billion, House-passed proposal is $271 million above Milliken's recommendation. Added controversy is generated by the presence in the bill of a $22 million parochiaid section. In addition, the bill is predicated on an across-the-board increase in the state income tax to raise some $350 million in new revenue.

Minority Leader Robert E. Waldron, R-Grosse Pointe, an irrevocable parochiaid foe, is moving to force a vote on the long-stalled income tax bill in the House.

At the same time, Waldron and Rep. William R. Copeland, Democratic chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, reportedly are preparing a contingency plan that foresees no legislative enactment of any school aid bill this year. It proposes to inject additional funds into some other appropriation bill to allow a modest supplement to the $839 million that Michigan public schools are receiving this year.

Meanwhile, Democratic Speaker William A. Ryan and Rep. Roy Spencer, R-Attica, are attempting to hold their weakening coalition by proposing only a 2.9 or 3.1 per cent individual rate. Their original plan called for raising the present 2.6-per cent individual income tax rate to 3.5 per cent.

Glenn S. Allen Jr., Milliken's budget director, has met with both House caucuses, warning that failure to pass any school aid bill this year will substantially cut the aid schools now receive.

Allen contends that increases in local property assessments will cause the reduced state aid.

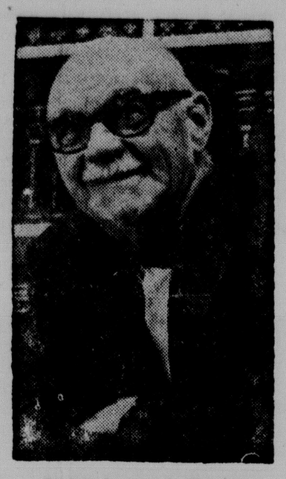
Judge Claims Kennedy Negligent In Kopechne Death



Judge James A. Boyle

BOSTON (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's claim that a wrong turn led to his plunge from a narrow bridge on Chappaquiddick Island has been disputed by an inquest judge who said the senator was negligent in the accident that killed Mary Jo Kopechne.

Kennedy said he rejected as unjustified the inference and the finding of Judge James A. Boyle, whose inquest report raised new questions about the accident that altered American politics.

Final Statement

And with his statement, the last of the Kennedy brothers said Wednesday he would speak no more of the fateful night on Chappaquiddick.

"The facts of this incident are now fully public," he said, "and eventual judgment and understanding rests where it belongs."

On Nov. 3, the 38-year-old assistant majority leader seeks re-election to the U.S. Senate. He said he did not know whether the inquest papers made public Wednesday would be used against him in the campaign.

No Clear Account

Kennedy's inquest testimony gave no clear account of his reasons for failing to report the accident to police until more than 10 hours after it happened. He denied any personal involvement with Miss Kopechne and said that at no time the night of the accident was he under the influence of alcohol.

In his tardy police report on the July 18 accident, and in his testimony to the secret inquest last Jan. 5, Kennedy said he turned by mistake onto the dirt road that led him to Dike Bridge and the accident. He said he and Miss Kopechne were headed for the ferry from Chappaquiddick back to Edgartown, on Martha's Vineyard.

Judge Doubts Facts

In the major surprise of the inquest papers, Boyle said he didn't believe it. The judge, who retires from the bench at midnight tonight, recited the inquest evidence, then declared:

"I infer a reasonable and probable explanation of the totality of the above facts is that Kennedy and Kopechne did not intend to return to Edgartown at this time; that Kennedy did not intend to drive to the ferry slip and his turn onto Dike Road was intentional."

That road leads away from the ferry crossing, across the bridge to a lonely, undeveloped beach on the easterly shore of Chappaquiddick.

Bridge Described

Boyle's report described the bridge this way:

"Dike Bridge is a wooden structure 10 feet, six inches wide, has timber curbs on each side four inches high by 10 inches wide, no other guardrails, and runs at an angle of 27 degrees to the left of the road. There are no signs or artificial lights on the bridge or its approach."

"A speed of even 20 miles per hour, as Kennedy testified to, operating a car as large as this Oldsmobile," the judge declared, "would at least be negligent and, possibly, reckless. If Kennedy knew of this hazard, his operation of the vehicle constituted criminal conduct."

Knew Of Hazard

The judge said Kennedy had been driven over the bridge twice on the day of the accident.

"I believe it probable that Kennedy knew of the hazard that lay ahead of him on Dike Road but that, for some reason not apparent from the testimony, he failed to exercise due care as he approached the bridge," the judge said.

Boyle's report, dated Feb. 18, did not explain why no additional charge was filed against Kennedy, who pleaded guilty on July 25 to leaving the scene of the accident. Boyle sentenced him to two months in jail, suspended, and a year's probation.

New Charge Possible

The possibility of new charges remained among the unanswered questions. By state Supreme Court order, the inquest papers were released only after Dist. Atty. Edmund Dinis pronounced the case closed and certified that he planned no further prosecution.

Until that time, the inquest transcript and the Boyle report were locked in a courthouse safe.

Further Criminal Action Possible Against Kennedy

BOSTON (AP) — A possibility remained today that further criminal action could result from Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's auto accident last summer in which Mary Jo Kopechne died.

"There would be nothing to stop a grand jury from reopening the case," said a highly placed legal source close to proceedings already completed. "Grand juries have great latitude in Massachusetts."

In the event of a new grand jury investigation of the accident, however, there would remain the question of a state Supreme Court ruling in the case last year.

The court, in directing that the inquest into the accident be closed to the public, declared that the testimony given at the proceeding "should not be released until all threat of prosecution was removed."

Earlier this month, Dist. Atty. Edmund Dinis, who requested the inquest, filed a formal statement saying that no further formal investigation was planned. Subsequently, the inquest transcript was ordered released and it was made public Wednesday.

Judge James A. Boyle of District Court, who presided at the inquest, said in his report, "There is probable cause to believe that . . . Kennedy operated his motor vehicle negligently."

Under Massachusetts law, this finding entitled Boyle to recommend that a charge of driving to endanger be brought against Kennedy.

He did not make that recommendation, however, nor did he explain why he refrained from doing so.

"This may be significant," the source said, "but it's difficult to say without an explanation."

Driving to endanger is a misdemeanor under Massachusetts law, with maximum punishment of a fine of $200 and up to two years in jail.

Missile Fund Cut Defeated

WASHINGTON (AP) — An effort to suspend part of the U.S. MIRV nuclear warhead buildup —which opponents said could wreck the U.S.-Soviet disarmament talks—has been defeated by the House.

An amendment to cut all $471.7 million for MIRV-tipped Minuteman III missiles from the $20.24 billion military weapons authorization was rejected Wednesday 85 to 39.

Rep. Jeffrey Cohelan, D-Calif., the amendment's sponsor, called the buildup incomprehensible in the face of U.S. efforts to negotiate disarmament with the Soviets.

He said the Soviet response could be to mount a capability to launch a first-strike nuclear attack against the United States.

But Rep. Leslie C. Arends, R-Ill., said the Soviets already appear to be building a first-strike capability and the U.S. MIRV buildup and Safeguard antimissile system are needed to deter it.

The Soviet arsenal of 275 SS-9 missiles appears aimed at knocking out U.S. retaliatory missiles in a first-strike attack, Arends said.

Russia would need only 200 SS-9s to retaliate against U.S. cities if the United States attacked first, he said.

"The fact is that the Soviets are still installing missiles that make no sense except as a threat to our Minutemen," Arends said. "We must take this threat seriously."

Military Aides See Cambodian Fight Helpful

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S.-supported South Vietnamese move into Cambodia could yield a double dividend military sources say.

As they see it, the action could ease the North Vietnamese threat to the Cambodian capital of Phnom Penh while disrupting a key base area from which the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong often have struck into South Vietnam.

Military officers suggested the apparently large-scale South Vietnamese operation into Cambodia's "Parrot's Beak" might help derail any enemy offensive moves into South Vietnam next month.

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP) — Lake Superior State College has announced it will offer a new program in natural resource management next fall. The two-year program is made possible by a $39,000 Kellogg Foundation grant, school officials said.

Blackmun OK Seems Assured

WASHINGTON (AP) — A three-hour hearing devoid of any opposition has cleared the way for prompt Senate Judiciary Committee approval of Judge Harry A. Blackmun's nomination to the Supreme Court.

Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss., called today's meeting in hopes of taking a vote but noted any member had the right to invoke a rule delaying action for a week.

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., said prior to the meeting he was inclined "to go a little more slowly" but hadn't decided whether to force a postponement.

At Wednesday's hearing, Bayh told Blackmun "the fact that a man of your caliber and excellence is before us now provides some salve for past wounds and confrontations."

"Perhaps these old battles have been worthwhile," said Bayh, a leader in Senate rejection of President Nixon's earlier nominations of Judge Clement F. Haynsworth of Greenville, S.C. and Judge G. Harrold Carswell of Tallahassee, Fla.

The committee's favorable attitude to Blackmun cut across party lines and political philosophies.

Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., predicted prompt confirmation of Blackmun and added "it appears you are a man of high ethical standards, as was Judge Haynsworth, and of competence, as was Judge Carswell."

Kopechnes Not Talking About Inquest Report

BERKELEY HEIGHTS, N.J. (AP) — The parents of Mary Jo Kopechne say they will defer comment on an inquest report released in Boston until they read it with a lawyer.

The Kopechnes said Wednesday night they would go to Wilkes Barre, Pa. to consult with attorney Joseph Flanagan, who has represented them in the case. Miss Kopechne was born in Wilkes Barre and was buried there last summer.

Flanagan, who was successful in preventing exhumation of Mary Jo's body for an autopsy late last year, said, "I heve ordered a copy of the inquest report and transcript and will have no comment at least until after I have read it thoroughly."

Flanagan also is representing the parents in a civil action against Sen. Edward M. Kennedy and his insurance firm in connection with the auto death. The amount of damages sought has not been disclosed.

Flanagan declined comment on what effect the inquest testimony might have on the lawsuit.

AEC Will Delay Nuclear Plant Opening, Report

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)— The president of the Michigan Steelhead and Salmon Fishermen's Association says the Atomic Energy Commission has agreed to delay opening the Palisades Nuclear Power Plant on Lake Michigan until after a public hearing.

Ronald McCandles said in Grand Rapids Wednesday that the hearing may be held in June in Kalamazoo.

The request for a delay had come from McCandles's group and five other conservation organization .

Conservationists fear that the nuclear plant would warm the nearby water and thus kill some fish, force others into deeper water, and har mthe lake.

They said the plant would use lake water and then return it to the lake 28 degrees warmer. Conservationists want assurances that a cooling system will be installed in the plant.

Criticism Running High Against Cambodia Move

Nixon To Explain Decision Tonight

WASHINGTON (AP) — Amid a storm of criticism in Congress, President Nixon addresses the nation tonight to explain his surprise decision to provide U.S. military support for a South Vietnamese thrust into Cambodia.

In a test of congressional reaction, the House scheduled a vote today on an amendment by Rep. Ogen Reid, R-N.Y., prohibiting the United States from sending ground troops into Cambodia.

Full Scale Airing

A fufll-scale airing of the administration's controversial move appeared certain when the Senate—and its Foreign Relations Committee—came back after a day's recess.

Nixon set his nationally televised address for 9 p.m. EDT. Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said the speech will relate to Cambodia and U.S. forces in Vietnam. Ziegler said a Cambodian request for direct U.S. arms aid remains under consideration.

Members of both parties joined in protest Wednesday after the decision was announced first in Saigon, then in Washington by the Pentagon, to provide advisers, air support and other aid for the South Vietnamese action.

Plan Denounced

Top Senate Democrats, including Sens. Mike Mansfield, Edward M. Kennedy, J. W. Fulbright, Edmund S. Muskie, and George S. McGovern, denounced it as a move to widen the Vietnam war.

Senior Republican members of the Foreign Relations Committee joined in. Sen. George D. Aiken of Vermont, a veteran GOP leader, cautioned the action might have an "extremely bad" effect on GOP political prospects in the November elections.

Two Back Move

The chairmen of House and Senate armed services committee, Rep. L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., and Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., backed the move. But Stennis added he opposes massive military aid to Cambodia.

Announcement of the new U.S. move came during the Senate recess and two days after a near-unanimous Senate Foreign Relations Committee strongly opposed both American aid to the new Cambodian government or help for South Vietnamese action against Communist forces in Cambodia.

The Pentagon announcement, by Asst. Defense Secretary Daniel Z. Henkin, said the U.S. Command in Saigon "is prepared to provide support" to the South Vietnamese, including "advisers, tactical air, air coordinators, medical evacuation and some logistics assistance."

Increasing Threat

Henkin said enemy sanctuaries in Cambodia "have imposed an increasing threat to the security of free world forces in South Vietnam."

The decision also came 10 days after Nixon announced further U.S. troop withdrawals from Vietnam—and predicted, "We finally have in sight the just peace we are seeking."

Noting this, Muskie told newsmen "the burden is on him to demonstrate convincingly there has been such a change" since then to warrant the new U.S. action.

Step In Wrong Direction

Mansfield called the decision to send U.S. advisers into Cambodia "the first step in the wrong direction." Noting that Capitol Hill was concerned and uneasy, the Democratic leader added: "This could now be called the Indochinese war. What is happening now is a whole new ball game."

Welfare Plan Costs Soaring; Finch Quizzed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Finance Committee called back Welfare Secretary Robert H. Finch today after his initial testimony produced sharp disagreement on the cost of President Nixon's plan to reform the welfare system.

The secretary, opening the administration's case for the bill Wednesday, acknowledged it may cost $400 million more than the original $4.4 billion estimate.

But Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., the committee's senior Republican, insisted the proposal is more likely to cost $1.25 billion over the first projection.

While several GOP members drew a bead on the program's cost and how it could be met, Democrats said the proposal raised hopes that clearly could not be fulfilled.

Finch agreed the plan cannot answer all the needs of the poor but added it is not intended as a cure-all for unemployment problems.

The secretary said the plan would reduce the nation's poverty gap by about 60 per cent, set up national standards to make the welfare system more equitable, and provide real incentives to welfare recipients to get jobs.

Williams said he believed the cost has jumped by $1.25 billion because the unemployment rate now is nearly a full percentage point higher than the 3.5 per cent figure used when the program's cost was estimated.

The Delaware senator also contended the higher benefit levels possible under the plan appeared to negate the argument that it can increase incentives for those on welfare to get jobs.

It would be possible, he said, for a family of four to get a $7,405 income without any family member doing any work.

Williams said this would be more than the after-tax income of a family whose head earned more than $9,000 in a job.

President Plans Mideast Review

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has ordered a full scale review of the Middle East situation in the wake of a State Department report that Russian pilots are flying combat planes in Egypt.

White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Wednesday, "The President has ordered an immediate and full evaluation of intelligence reports and the implication of them on the strategic balance in the Middle East."

"We regard this as a serious development and potentially dangerous," State Department Press Officer Robert J. McCloskey added.

In addition, a spokesman said, the United States plans to ask the Soviet Union what its intentions are in permitting such actions.

The Russian-piloted aircraft reportedly have not ventured into Israeli airspace, sources said, but stayed within Egyptian boundaries.

Soviet Crews also are reportedly manning Moscow-built surface-to-air missile sites.

Nixon pledged to keep a close watch on the Middle East balance of power in making his recent decision not to grant additional airplanes to Israel.

The administration reportedly will take a hard look at Israel's standing request for more warplanes. Israel currently has fewer planes than the Arab nations, but have achieved what was described as a "qualitative" balance of power through better trained pilots.

The Russian pilots are highly trained and considered better than their Arab counterparts. This sophistication by Soviets at the controls of MIG21s, it was reported, threatens the balance of power.

Speaking in New York, Undersecretary of State Elliot L. Richardson warned Russia against a new escalation in the Arab-Israeli conflict, saying it could increase "the danger of stirring up a wider conflict."

Guardsmen On Scene At OSU; 300 Arrested

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — National Guardsmen broke up a fresh demonstration at Ohio State University today as drifting crowds of students began a second day of campus disorders. More than 50 were hurt in a 24-hour span and arrests approached 300.

Guardsmen wearing gas masks fired an irritant gas into a crowd gathered on the Oval, a grassy park in mid-campus.

Columbus policeman Ralph Drown estimated up to 2,000 students were milling about the area.

Students scattered across campus as clouds of gas drifted about.

The gas broke the crowd into three or four groups and guardsmen with fixed bayonets kept the gatherings a block or more from the university administration building, scene of some of Wednesday's disorder.

Guardsmen wearing gas masks used highway department road barricades to encircle and seal off the administration building.

Gas fumes drifted into the administration building where executives closed offices and sent workers home.

Gas victims said that used by guardsmen was more irritating than gas used by city police and highway patrolmen to break up Wednesday's night's demonstrations.

Gen. Robert Canterberry of the National Guard denied his troops are using a stronger gas today than highway patrolmen used Wednesday night.

Canterberry estimated the crowd at "several hundred." He added, "We are not going to allow those people to congregate in groups of that size on the campus."

National Guardsmen had moved onto the campus at midnight to restore order after 12 hours of sporadic clashes between police and students.

More than 50 persons were injured, including 28 policemen. Seven students suffered minor gunshot wounds.

Gov. James A. Rhodes called 1,200 National Guardsmen to deal with the trouble, but only 200 actually went to the campus.

Israelis Kayo Egyptian Raid

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli troops, guns and warplanes repelled an Egyptian raid across the Suez Canal before dawn today and sank four Egyptian boats, the Israeli military command announced.

A spokesman said the Egyptians suffered losses, but there was no report of the number of casualties on either side. The Israelis said it was the third attempted Egyptian crossing in five days.

Military spokesmen said the raiders crossed the central part of the canal in eight-man boats and tried to storm an Israeli emplacement. After the Israelis drove off the attack, they continued to bombard Egyptian positions across the canal for three hours until dawn, the spokesmen said.

Tel Aviv also reported that Israeli planes pounded Egyptian positions along the entire length of the canal for more than two hours Wednesday. Israel said all the jets returned safely, but a military spokesman in Cairo said Egyptian antiaircraft fire brought down one plane.

Meanwhile, President Nixon ordered a full-scale review of the Middle East situation following Israeli and U.S. State Department reports that Soviet pilots are flying operational missions in Egypt. White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said the President had called for an evaluation of intelligence reports and the "implication off them on the strategic balance in the Middle East."

Tornado Funnels Noted Downstate

By The Associated Press

Tornado funnels were reported bobbing amidst drenching rains, scattered hail and rapid bursts of lightning in central Lower Michigan Wednesday night.

However, State Police and sheriff's offficers in the area said no major damage nor serious injuries were reported.

About the heaviest flooding was reported at Eaton Rapids in Eaton County, which had at least a foot of water in the streets. Deputy Sheriff Bill Kelly said the thunderstorm cut visibility to zero and felled many power lines.

The storm's main force was in Calhoun, Jackson, Shiawassee, Ingham County, where the weather bureau, issued tornado warnings. Law officers and the public reported numerous tornado funnels aloft, but none that caused major damage on the ground. Many trees and power lines were downed.

Viet Armored Force Making Progress

SAIGON (AP) — A South Vietnamese armored task force pushed 24 miles into Cambodia today, occupied one town from which the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese drove the Cambodian army earlier this month, and at dusk was rolling into another.

The large Vietnamese task force did not fire a shot in taking Chipou and entering Prasaut, on Highway 1. But another task force thrusting in from another direction encountered heavy enemy resistance early this afternoon.

U. S. Support Noted

With U.S. advisers accompanying them and American planes and artillery supporting them, more than 15,000 South Vietnamese troops were pushing across a section of eastern Cambodia in a pincer operation to smash North Vietnamese base camps.

South Vietnamese spokesmen reported 435 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese killed, many of them by American planes.

2 Advisers Wounded

Two American advisers were wounded, the U.S. Command said. They were the first U.S. ground casualties reported in an offensive operation on Cambodian soil, although other Americans have been wounded in planes that strayed across the border.

Field reports said South Vietnamese casualties so far were 32 killed and 168 wounded, including 55 wounded, their commander said, when U.S. helicopter gunships fired by mistake on a battalion of government troops.

Link-Up Expected

Associated Press correspondent Peter Arnett reported from Chipou that the task force moving into Prasaut expected to link up Friday morning with Cambodian troops operating out of Svay Rieng, the provincial capital. But a Cambodian government spokesman in Phnom Penh said the Americans and the South Vietnamese had not informed his government of the invasion, and Cambodian forces were taking no part in the operation.

Intervention Rapped

He told a questioner that since "Cambodia is a neutral country," the Phnom Penh government "does not approve this type of intervention by foreign forces."

The Saigon government said earlier its forces had been ordered to return to Vietnam "after the termination of the operation." Tri told newsmen his forces would remain "for many days—we need much time to search the whole area."

He also claimed he had a team in Svay Rieng for liaison with the Cambodian army.

C&NW Asks To Abandon 52.74 Mile Ore Route

The Chicago & North Western Railway Co. has petitioned the Interstate Commerce Commission in Washington D.C. for permission to abandon its "ore line" from Escanaba to Antoine in Dickinson County.

Iron ore hauling service from the two iron mines still operating at Stambaugh would be provided on another route through Powers, according to Paul Schilling, assistant ore superintendent of Escanaba.

He said the railroad hasn't used the line for hauling ore since last year and no longer has need to maintain the line for iron ore traffic. The only two mines still operating at Stambaugh are the Homer Mine of Hannah Mining Co. and the Sherwood Mine of Inland Steel Co.

No other service was provided on the line, Schilling said.

The line runs a total of 52.74 miles from Escanaba through Delta, Menominee and Dickinson counties to Antoine near Iron Mountain. It has been used strictly for iron ore hauling.

Schilling said the railroad formerly hauled empty cars to Antoine via Powers and returned the full loads over the line for which abandonment is proposed. With the decline in the iron ore mining in the Stabaugh-Iron River area, the problems of meeting trains no longer require that separate routes be maintained, he said.

During winters recently, the ore line right-of-way has not been plowed and has been used as a snowmobile trail.

Schilling said that if the application for abandonment is approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission that the railroad will use rails and ties from the line on other parts of its system.

The application has been given Finance Docket No. 26080 by the ICC.

If approved, the abandonment will be the third by the C&NW in the Upper Peninsula in the past year. Approval of abandonment of some 36 miles of C&NW track from Narenta in Delta County to Felch in Dickinson County was approved by the ICC, although an appeal to the order has been filed. Approval to abandon the Gibbs City line in Iron County also was granted.

H.N. Band Gets High Ratings

The 55-piece Holy Name High School band directed by C. J. Marrier earned one superior and two excellent ratings at the annual Upper Peninsula Band and Orchestra festival hosted by Menominee High School.

Judges awarded the band a superior (Division I) rating in sight reading and two excellent (Division II) ratings on regular festival selections.

Selections performed by the Holy Name band were "Pacific Grandeur" by Olivadoti; "Overture for Winds" by Carter and "Proud Heritage" by Latham.

A total of 19 bands and orchestras participated in the festival last Saturday.

Next appearance of the Holy Name band will be in the annual spring concert on Mother's Day, May 10, in the Holy Name gymnasium at which time Holy Name choral groups also will perform. The band also will march in the Memorial Day parade.

PELLETS MADE OF FLY ASH are examined by Michigan Tech University researchers, who have patented the process. They are Dr. Adnan Goksel (left) and Prof. M. E. Volin, director of MTU's Institute of Mineral Research (MTU Photo)

Curb On Pollution?

Tech Researchers Patent Pellets Made Of Fly Ash

HOUGHTON — A process to convert a major waste product and source of pollution into a commercially valuable material has been developed by Michigan Tech University's Institute of Mineral Research.

The waste product is fly ash, produced at the rate of 20 million tons a year by coal-fired electric power plants. This fine dust is collected to prevent air pollution, but storage is a problem and disposal is costly.

Michigan Tech research has patented a process to convert fly ash into small pellets. Potential commercial applications include use as aggregate in highway construction and as fertilizer in agricluture and forestry. Actual recovery of such metals as iron and alumina from the ash also is possible according to Prof. M. Earl Volin, director of the Institute.

Disposal Problems

Fly ash is considered one of the nation's greatest solid waste disposal problems. Each ton of coal produces 200 pounds. U. S. production of the material in 10 years is estimated at 40 to 50 million tons a year, a staggering 100 billion pounds. The ash's major components are iron, silica and alumina, with minor amounts of magnesia, lime, titanium, sodium, and potassium.

Michigan Tech's research began two years ago on a 15-ton sample provided by Detroit Edison's Trenton Channel Plant. The principal investigators were Dr. M. Adnan Goksel, associate professor of mineral research, and Dr. Stephen G. Shetron, research forester at Michigan Tech's Ford Forestry Center. Prof. Volin pointed out that Duane M. Thayer, associate professor of metallurgical engineering, and his students also played an important part in the basic research.

Additives Mixed

The pellets are produced by a low-temperature agglomerating process developed at the IMR. The ash is mixed with such additives as calcium hydroxide and hardened by steam at approximately 200 degrees centigrade.

Dr. Goksel noted that the pellets appear to be suitable as an aggregate for all types of medium-weight concrete, for highway construction and for the manufacture of bricks, blocks and other prefabricated building materials.

Fly ash has potential as a soil additive to conserve moisture and as a fertilizer for slow release of soil nutrients, Dr. Shetron said. Slow-release fertilizers currently available are too costly for use over large areas, such as forest tracts. This type of fertilization could be used to change a soil's physical characteristics and enable it to sustain more valuable trees.

Escanaba Gifts Help In Vietnam

The last of 14 packages of clothing, school supplies and candy gathered by members of the Calvary Baptist Church Women's Missionary Society and others under the direction of Rev. Ronald J. McDoneil have arrived in Vietnam from Escanaba, Mich.

Recipients were members of a small Protestant church and school led by Rev. Huynh Van Thien.

The Phu Cuong minister explained through an interpreter that he found excellent use for everything that came in the packages. Most of the clothing in the first parcels was given to the poorer members of the congregation. The remaining articles were presented "to those more fortunate," for further distribution, Rev. Thien said.

School enrollment has increased more than 50 per cent since last fall (from 130 to approximately 200) and the pencils, paper and other supplies were desperately needed and sincerely appreciated at the time of their arrival, Rev. Thein said. The candy provided the enticement Reverend Thien sometimes requires to keep his students coming to classes. Education is free, but some children wouldn't attend without additional motivation.

Rev. Thien expressed humble thanks to the congregation of the Calvary Baptist Church for their unsolicited assistance. The combined efforts of Rev. McDonell, the Women's Missionary Society, and others made this "Do something for someone else Project," an overwhelming success.

Lions To Send Young Escanaban To Switzerland

A free trip to Switzerland for a five-week visit this summer is awaiting a young person from the City of Escanaba.

The Escanaba Lions Club will send a representative to Switzerland in an International Youth Exchange program which will also bring a young resident of Switzerland to Escanaba this summer.

The trip is valued at between $1,000 and $2,000, said Gary Cry, youth exchange chairman for the Lions Club, and includes transportation, passport, required immunizations, lodging, food and spending money.

"It's the chance of a lifetime for someone," Cyr said.

Interested young persons, male or female, who wish to be considered for the trip have been invited to submit an essay on "Why I would like to represent my city and county in Switzerland" by May 13 to the Escanaba Lions Club, P. O. Box 627, Escanaba, 49829.

Interview Planned

Cyr emphasized that the essays do not have to be literary masterpieces and encouraged any young person between the ages of 16 and 20 to participate.

Essays should be confined to 500 words, Cyr indicated, but do not have to be that long.

Semi-finalists will be notified by May 20 by a member of the judging committee and will be asked to appear before the judging board for a personal interview.

Cyr said the interview will be weighed heavily in the final selection.

Young people interested do not have to be sons or daughters of Lions Club members to qualify, he said, and are not required to be attending either Escanaba or Holy Name High Schools or Bay de Noc Community College.

Leave July 11

Winner of the all-expenses paid trip to Switzerland will be announced by the Lions Club on May 27. A first runnerup also will be chosen as a "back up" for the nominee in event that the winner cannot participate.

The Escanaba representative will leave the city July 11 and stay in Switzerland through Aug. 15.

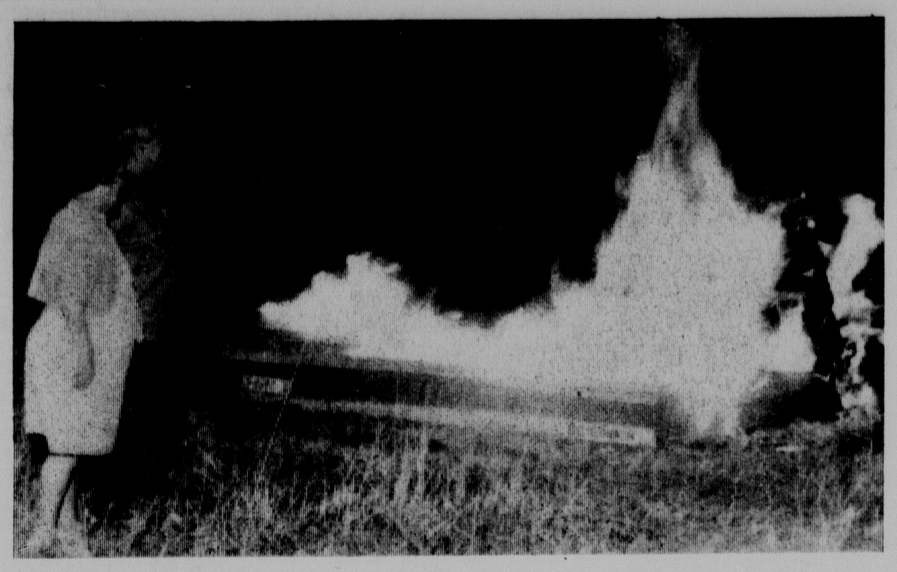
Chief To Retire

BENTON HARBOR (AP) — Fire Chief Ralph Hetherington says he will retire Aug. 7 after 25 years with the Benton Harbor department.

Hetherington, 49, has been chief since July, 1968. He will be able to retire at half pay.



ED MINNICH and his wife sentimentally watch 11 wooden fishing boats from their boat livery in Algonac go up in flames Tuesday because of the fishing ban on the St. Clair River. Minnich said he decided to burn the 14-foot boats because they were old anyway and "wouldn't be much good laying idle for the summer." Put out of business by the fishing ban brought on by mercury pollution, Minnich says he will keep his tackle and bait shop and remaining 14 aluminum boats "ready and waiting" for any change in the fishing situation. U-M Glee Club Sings Tuesday

In appearance, today's college students usually aren't too formal these days.

But the University of Michigan Glee Club which will appear in Escanaba next Tuesday at the William W. Oliver auditorium will present an entirely different picture in their concert attire of white ties and tails.

The ties and tails are traditional for the glee club. In fact, one of three long-playing albums the club has recorded is entitled "White Tie and Tails." The other two albums are "On Tour" and "Michigan Songs."

The Glee Club is directed by Willis Patterson, an associate professor of voice at the University's School of Music.

The two-hour concert begins at 8:15 p. m. and is sponsored by the Delta County University of Michigan Alumni Club and the Escanaba Kiwanis Club.

Tickets are available at $1.50 for adults and $1 for students from Escanaba Kiwanis Club members, at the University of Michigan Extension Service office, Gust Asp's, Beck's Western Auto, Ernie's Party Store and the Delta Music Center.

Grant Approved For U.P. Bridge

LANSING (AP) — The Upper Great Lakes Regional Commission has given final approval for a $600,000 supplemental grant to build a new bridge between Menominee and Marinette, Wis.

Gov. William Milliken said the grant will enable the communities to proceed with construction of the $2.4 million span.

Varnum Proposes Protest Penalties

LANSING—Rep. Charles H. Varnum (R-Manistique) today fired off a letter to University of Michigan President Robben Fleming proposing that money penalties be imposed on institutions and instructors when students are denied access to classes.

Varnum said his proposal was prompted by the recent student boycott at Ann Arbor, but that it should apply to all college campuses.

Varnum specifically proposed a policy of refunding a portion of a student's tuition money and docking the pay of an instructor who refuses to teach.

Varnum, a member of the House Committee on Colleges and Universities and a former teacher, said.

"It's my opinion, that the right to dissent, which is fundamental in a Democracy, does not include the liberty to deny another person's right to an education.

"If the institution allows a small minority of students to deny this right to others, it should suffer an economic penalty through refunding student fees. Likewise, if an instructor decides to refuse to teach due to sympathy for a protest or other reason then his pay should be reduced proportionately.

"Hopefully, this would reduce situations where campus protests trample on the rights of those who are not taking part in the demonstration. I want to assure that the normal educational process is not interrupted by any dissident minority."

Seven Persons Injured In Three Area Traffic Accidents

State Police of the Gladstone Post investigated three separate traffic accidents on Wednesday in which a total of seven persons were injured.

Officers said a car driven by Larry Johnson, 22, of Rock, northbound on County Rd. D-1, struck a car driven by Carlyn Kirschner, 20, of Powers, at the intersection of M-35, about 11 p.m.

Police said Johnson's vision was impaired by the heavy fog and he did not see the Kirschner vehicle, which was traveling east on M-35.

Johnson was ticketed for failure to yield the right of way, and sought his own treatment of injuries.

Carlyn Kirschner, and a passenger in the vehicle, Ann Kirschner, were both taken to the St. Francis Hospital where they were reported in fair condition today.

Another accident occurred on County Rd. 509, just north of County Rd. I-40, about 12:15 a.m.

Police said Kay F. Jackson, 22, 1404½ Wisconsin Ave., Gladstone, lost control of her car on a curve. The vehicle ran off the right side of the road, struck 13 trees, knocking 11 of them down, and rolled over, coming to rest upside down.

Kay Jackson and a passenger in the car, Joseph McGonagle, 22, 818 Wisconsin Ave., Gladstone, both received minor injuries and sought their own treatment, police said. She was ticketed for violation of the basic speed law.

A third accident occurred about two miles west of M-35 on County Rd. A-10, about 6 p.m., involving a head-on collision of two motorcycles.

Officers said Michael D. Nelson, Jaeger Rd., Escanaba, was traveling east on County Rd. A-10, when his motorcycle ran head on with a west-bound motorcycle, driven by Gerald T. LeClair, of 217 N. 10th St., Escanaba.

Both were taken to St. Francis Hospital. Nelson was treated and released. LeClaire was admitted and was reported in fair condition today.

State Police are continuing their investigation.

Hospital

Mrs. Jeanette Thibault of Rapid River was dismissed today from St. Mary's Hospital in Marquette where she had been a patient for the last week. She will enter St. Luke's Hospital, Marquette, on Monday and will undergo cataract surgery on Tuesday.

Delaying Tactic

A number of years ago when the State Highway Dept. was talking seriously about building the Gladstone to Rapid River freeway, the access road question at north Gladstone created quite a problem for the Highway Dept. engineering staff. The freeway will swing north around the existing trunkline, a feature that will direct most of the traffic away from the motels along present U. S. 2, and the plans developed at that time by the highway engineering staff for an access route off the freeway at north Gladstone simply were not acceptable to the resort owners in the area and consquently were not acceptable to the City Commission of Gladstone, either.

Quite of number of meetings and discussions were held with the end result that the project was delayed. Officially, the blame was laid to lack of funds, but the argument over the exit certainly was a major factor in the postponement decision. The Delta County Road Commission approved the proposal Nov. 8, 1965. It wasn't until March 11, 1968, that the City Commission of Gladstone finally agreed.

Now, with the badly-needed freeway back on schedule for this summer, the same problem pops up again.

A group of resort owners appeared before the City Commission this week to protest the proposed design. The exit to the north from the southbound lanes isn't acceptable, they said, and the City Commission agreed, voting to ask the Highway Commission for a change in the design.

Highway design engineering to provide maximum efficiency at the greatest safety with the least possible cost isn't exactly the newspaper's thing, but it appears that the basic problem rests in construction costs and possibly in available land.

To change the present design to avoid the 90-degree left turn off the southbound lanes would require an exit ramp off the right side of the proposed freeway in a cloverleaf design with an overpass or underpass so that vehicles could cross the northbound lanes in safety — a design which highway engineers apparently do not feel is justified by either use or cost or both. Instead, the design provides for a deceleration lane, allowing southbound vehicles to come to a stop or glide before proceeding across the northbound lanes for a northerly exit. A deceleration lane also is planned from the northbound traffic lanes.

From a safety standpoint, the design obviously isn't the best the Highway Dept. could develop if cost was not a consideration. Overpasses, underpasses and cloverleafs could be built which would allow traffic to proceed in almost any direction without being required to stop or even slow down greatly. But structures send the cost skyrocketing.

From an access standpoint, the design probably isn't the best, either.

But from a practical point of view, the design probably is the best.

Bids on the job are scheduled to be let June 17 with completion to follow in about two years. Money is available now. It may not be in several months or several years if the Highway Dept. is forced to redesign the entire intersection.

No question that construction of a four-lane, controlled access freeway leading north around the resort area at the head of Little Bay de Noc will significantly reduce the tourist traffic passing the motels. And, unless increased promotion and directional signing can compensate, the freeway probably will produce an adverse economic impact on the owners.

The complaint that the intersection does not facilitate easy traffic flow in a northerly direction on the present route of U. S. 2 and 41, however, is plainly a diversionary tactic to delay the whole project again. The intersection design is a minor point when compared to directing the mainstream of traffic away from the area.

A Gladstone-to-Rapid River freeway is necessary to eliminate the bottleneck of traffic which presently exists in the area. It also will be necessary to handle the tremendous volume of pulpwood track traffic which will be generated by the new pulp mill at the Escanaba Paper Co.

Anything to delay the project again now that the Highway Commission has put it back on the track would represent the height of irresponsibility for the highway users of the area and Upper Peninsula.

Who Will Be 'Goat' For Soviet Failure?

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

Some individuals are on the spot in Soviet Russia.

The economy has not been performing well, and considering that this is the 100th anniversary of Lenin's birth, when everyone is hailing the infallible Communist Messiah, nobody who values his head would dream of blaming economic failure on the Marxist-Leninist philosopohy. Individuals must be singled out as the culprits, and the Klemlinologists, most of whom were taken by surprise when Premier Khrushchev was ousted, are busy speculating on the identity of the sacrificial goats.

Conceivably the "collective leadership" of Leonid Brezhnev, the Secretary General of the Communist Party, and Premier Alexei Kosygin could be ousted from below, in a repeat performance of what they did to Khrushchev when the later was negligently taking a vacation.

Kosygin has been "sick," which may be a straw in the wind. He is vulnerable as an economic "planner." Brezhnev, however, has not been acting as a man who is about to leave his rear unguarded in the current jockeying for Kremlin position.

He has been making speeches about "serious shortcomings" in the construction industry, which has not relieved the Russian housing shortage. And he has been saying much about the failure of the plant managers to fulfill their quotas for steel and chemical production, and about the disasters on the farm front, which hasn't been supplying the cities with enough meat, milk, and eggs.

The impersonal villian mentioned by Brezhnev is vodka. However, someone must be responsible for letting drunkenness interfere with industry, and this means that Alexander Shelepin, who runs the trade unions, has something to explain.

Or the villain could be Mikhail Suslov, the party theorist and ideologist who could be put on the carpet for failure to inspire the masses with a sense of dedication to all the Leninist goals.

According to Radio Liberty's well-informed Kremlinologist, Christian Duevel, Brezhnev has neatly maneuvered himself into a position that sets him apart from co-leader Kosygin.

Some time ago Brezhnev's "collected works" were published in a two-volume edition in Bulgaria. The "tryout" performance, roughly equivalent to a Boston or New Haven opening of a show destined for Broadway, got rave notices in Bulgarian circles, one of which was reprinted in Kommunist in Moscow. Along with the reprinting of the Bulgarian review the prediction was made that Brezhnev would soon be published in Russia as a "Marxist-Leninist classic."

Now it has been made official: a two-volume edition of Brezhnev's speeches and articles is scheduled to appear sometime during "the second quarter" of 1970, to be sold for one ruble and ninety kopecks. The title will be "On a Leninist Course."

Ironically, as Duevel points out, the Brezhnev "classic" will be compelled to omit articles and speeches dating back to the pre-1964 period, most of which abounded in tributes to "Khrushchev's wisdom and insight." There is poetic justice in this, for Khrushchev himself was compelled to forget his own praise of Stalin when he began his deStalinization crusade.

Predictably nobody will make any published note of the fact that the Brezhnev "collected works" begin with speeches and articles of 1964.

★ ★ ★

The combination of Brezhnev's recent tough talk about the faltering Soviet economy and the announcement, in Novye Knigi SSSR, that "the speeches and articles of L. I. Brezhnev are a brilliant testimony to the firmness, scientific foundation, and consistency of the general course of the CPSU," does not indicate that Brezhnev is ready to give way to somebody else as the Soviet boss.

He has deftly maneuvered to place the blame for poor economic performance on the officials who are directly involved with production. Meanwhile, he has been promoting himself to a troika position with Marx and Lenin as a "classical" source of Communist wisdom.

If Brezhnev should fall in a future shakeup, it will be because of super-plotters whose existence is unknown to the West. There could be such plotters, but if they are really there our Kremlinologists have yet to spot them.

The bidding:

West	North	East	South
1 NT	Pass	Pass	2 ♠
Pass	4 ♠

Opening lead—king of diamonds.

The opponents' bidding frequently guides declarer to the best line of play, and in some cases it will cause him to make plays he would normally not even consider.

Take this case where South is in four spades. It does not take very much imagination for him to realize, when dummy comes down, that West has practically every missing high card:

There are 12 points in dummy and South sees 11 in his own hand, which means that even if West, for his 16 to 18 point notrump, has only 16, East still cannot have more than one point.

This knowledge, derived from the bidding, has an important bearing on the play. South's potential losers are a diamond, a spade, and either one or two hearts.

Ordinarily, declarer would try to limit his heart losers to one by leading the suit twice from dummy towards his K-Q, hoping to find East with the ace. If this dream came true, he would lose only one heart trick.

But, West having opened with one notrump, South knows that this plan cannot succeed. He can be sure that if he plays a heart to the queen it will be smothered by the ace and he will later lose a second heart trick.

Declarer therefore tackles the suit, after drawing trumps, by leading a heart from dummy to his nine. As it happens, this play succeeds because East has the J-10. Nor can East frustrate declarer by playing the ten when the suit is first led. South's reply to this would be to play the queen and later finesse the nine.

It is only fair to add that leading to the nine is a forlorn hope, since West more often than not will have either the ten or jack. But it is clearly the right play to make because it offers some chance for the contract, while a lead to the queen offers none.

Being Idle Pleases Former Video Star

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Take the high pressure out of a television star's life, and what do you have? Well, in the case of Garry Moore, you have a relaxed philosopher and a happy man.

"It would scare hell out of me if I were suddenly faced with doing a big hit show regularly again," he said. "I couldn't stand the anxiety."

Garry, one of the best-liked men in show business, remembers with pleasure—but with no desire to repeat them—the crowded years when he was the star of two of the nation's 15 top-rated network shows. In entertainment circles it was reported he was earning an awesome $30,000 a week.

"When you're real hot," said Garry, "you're working almost every moment you're awake. Somebody has you by the ear all the time, even when you're riding in a cab.

"This is why actors are so self-centered. They are constantly turned back in on themselves by other people as well as by their own inclinations."

Today Garry restricts his activities largely to a weekly broadcast for the "Voice of America" and a five-times-a-week chore as emcee of a new edition of "To Tell The Truth," the longtime television game favorite.

Since he probably has enough in the bank to keep steak on his table for several generations, why does he continue working at all?

"Well, I didn't do anything except occasional spot appearances for 2½ years," he said. "You get so you want to have a place to go when you wake up in the morning. Also it serves as a platform for other things you want to do.

"If you don't keep your name alive, you can't service the other things."

The "other things," which Moore didn't specify, are charities in which he is active.

"It may sound terrible to say so, but I have no big remaining goals in show business," he remarked. "My goals are to sail my boat"—he has a 40-foot ketch—"keep my friends, and enjoy life.

"One of the things I like most about being on 'To Tell The Truth' is that I'm just a hired hand.

"When I had two shows of my own running, I didn't know it was particularly difficult until I stopped. Now I could no more do that again than I could go to the moon.

"One of the big problems of having your own show is that you are responsible for the welfare of so many people. Too much hinges on you.

"You have to be aware even of the second trombone player's troubles with his wife—and do something about them."

Ann Landers

Youth, 16, Offering Some Sound Advice

Dear Ann Landers: Here's a message for "Had It," the mother of a teen-age Cop-Out. "Keep yourself clean. Respect older people. Accept responsibility. The world doesn't owe you anything. Get moving. Make a contribution." These are the same rules I was raised by and I'm 16—a member of your son's generation. Apparently you believe all teenagers are alike. You are mistaken.

It's obvious from your letter that you and your husband have given your son too much freedom and too much of everything. You probably feel guilty because you have let him walk all over you. You also let him mouth off and be obnoxious. You say your son has been kicked out of two schools for smoking marijuana but you would send him to a third school if he can get in someplace. Why? I'll bet he wouldn't have been out for smoking marijuana if it was his own money going down the drain. Why make the same mistake a third time?

Quit asking yourself where you failed and start to make some demands on that spoiled son. Don't let him give you that old line about inheriting a lousy world. Your generation inherited a lousy world, too. It's what we do with that lousy world that counts. Smoking marijuana won't help.

Lay down the law to your son, which is what you should have done years ago. If he rebels, kick him out. I know you love him, but maybe being forced to make his own way in this world will make a man out of him.—M. W. of Phoenix

Dear Ann Landers: We live in a four-family flat. The people below us work crazy hours—when they are on the night shift they sleep during the day. When they are on the split shift they sleep at unpredictable hours. We never know if they are in or out.

We have a six-month baby who makes a lot of laundry. My washing machine is directly above our neighbor's bedroom. I have to run at least two loads every day. The neighbors complain that this interferes with their rest.

Like most women I do my vacuuming in the morning and this also bothers them. Twice last month when we had guests they pounded on the pipes with a monkey-wrench and beat on our ceiling with a broom handle. This can be very embarrassing when you are trying to carry on a conversation.

Yesterday the baby cried and woke them up. They called on the phone and screamed "Don't you know this is Sunday?" My husband told them WE knew it was Sundoy but the baby didn't."

We have never had any trouble with neighbors before and we would like to resolve our problems with these people because we cannot move. Will you suggest a solution?—People Who Want Peace

Dear People: Invite the neighbors for a cup of coffee and let them know you want peace. Offer to do your laundry and vacuuming when they are at work. Explain that you can't control the baby's crying but you'll do your best. When they see you are interested in a better relationship the chances are good that they will cooperate. The solution in a word is—communication.

City Official's Allowance Cut, Rides Motorbike

ROSEVILLE, Mich. (AP) —Because the city plans to reduce his car allowance, Roseville Treasurer Raymond J. Raleigh is riding his neighbor's motorcycle while on official business this week.

Beginning July 1, Raleigh and other officials of this Detroit suburb will receive 10 cents for each mile they drive on city business, rather than the present prepaid $750 a year.

"There's no way I can come out even on 10 cents a mile," Raleigh said. "If I have to drive my 3-year-old car on the job, I'm going to lose money."

So, last Sunday Raleigh took a fast lesson on his neighbor's small trail bike, and Monday he "vro-o-omed" to work for the first time.

Raleigh says he'll try out his new transportation at least until the end of the week "to see if it's feasible for my work."

So far, he says, the only problem has been "a lack of luggage space to carry things in. But I guess we can get around that."

Raleigh's new wheels don't impress Acting City Manager James Bottomley, who recommended the reduced car allowance for all city officials while also assigning a city car to the city clerk.

"The clerk has a heck of a lot more work to do than the treasurer, who only collects taxes," Bottomley said.

Dinner Planned For Schweigert

SAULT STE. MARIE— Thomas F. Schweigert, who has announced his retirement from the state Senate after more than 10 years of service, will be honored here by friends of this community May 16 at 7:30 p. m. at a recognition dinner scheduled for Lake Superior State College's Canusa Hall.

W. H. Treloar of Marquette, retired publisher of Panax newspapers in the Upper Peninsula, will be the master of ceremonies.

A native of Detroit, Sen. Schweigert represents the 37th Senatorial district and is the acting lieutenant governor of the state of Michigan. He graduated from Highland Park High Schol in 1935 and earned a B. S. degree in forestry from Michigan State University in 1939.

A consulting forester and land surveyor, he was elected to the state Senate for the first time in 1960 and has been re-elected four times since.

As a senator, he has represented one of the largest districts in the state of Michigan. The 37th district includes areas of Alger, Alpena, Antrim, Charlevoix, Cheboygan, Chippewa, Delta, Emmett, Luce, Mackinac, Montmorency, Otsego, Presque Isle and Schoolcraft counties.

Before his appointment as lieutenant governor in 1969, Sen. Schweigert served as president of the state Senate.

In making the announcement that he would not be seeking re-election to a fifth term in the senate, Sen. Schweigert said, "I feel that in the 10 years I have served in the senate, I have accomplished many of the aims I had set for the people of the 37th district. I feel that a good start has been made on solving many of the problems facing the district and that a person with fresh ideas should carry on from here.

"For the last several months, I have been exploring other areas of public service and I may have an announcement of my future plans before long."

Besides being instrumental in making LSSC a separate four-year college, he has also been instrumental in reducing tolls at the Mackinac Bridge, expanding Petoskey, Alpena, Clear Lake and other state parks in the area, expanding the growth of community colleges throughout the State and expanding many airport facilitie in the district during his service in the Senate.

All Lake Erie Fish Remain Off Market

LANSING (AP) — All fish from Lake Erie will be kept off the market pending mercury tests and Michigan's commercial walleye season on Lake Erie will be delayed, Gov. William Milliken announced Wednesday.

Meanwhile, Michigan authorities are testing ringneck pheasants for mercury and plan also to test waterfowl. This follows the finding of mercury in four ringnecks.

In announcing the delay in the scheduled Friday opening of the commercial walleye season and the plans to test Lake Erie fish, Milliken also said:

—Sport-caught fish from Lake Erie should not be eaten, "until a more definitive determination can be made of mercury levels in various species of fish." Milliken said that while average mercury levels of Lake Erie fish are running below those of the closed-to-fishing Lake St. Clair and St. Clair River, some species are exceeding the government-specified danger level of .55 parts per million of mercury.

—A five-man task force, including two members of the Legislature, will be created to make recommendations on compensation for those affected by the mercury-scare bans.

—The advisory against eating fish from the Detroit River remains in effect, although "no conclusions can be made at this time" about the levels of mercury. So far, Milliken has not extended the fishing closure to the Detroit River.

—Preliminary results of fish testing in Lake Michigan and Lake Huron indicate "there is no basis for concern on mercury levels at this time."

—Continued sampling in Lake St. Clair and the St. Clair River show that 50 per cent of the fish tested have excessively high levels of mercury.

—The State Water Resources Commission is studying the feasibility of removing mercury contaminants in the bottom muds of the Detroit and St. Clair Rivers.

Milliken also said he has asked the Departments of Natural Resources and Public Health to determine whether a catch-and-release program of sport fishing can be permitted in the St. Clair River and Lake St. Clair.

"I will make a decision and public announcement on this shortly," Milliken said.

Abortion Reform Backers Witness Senate Hearing

LANSING (AP)—Women who want Michigan's 124-year-old abortion law reformed packed the Senate gallery Wednesday to listen to early debate on the question.

The only woman Senator, N. Lorraine Beebe, won their special attention when she opposed a suggestion to demand a popular vote on the issue before any approved measure became law.

"Partly tongue in cheek," Mrs. Beebe said, "I might support this if you specify that only women could vote."

The gallery erupted into long applause and Sen. John Toepp, presiding officer, rapped his gavel 10 times before quiet was restored.

"If there is any further outburst," said Toepp, repeating the rules of the Senate, "I will have the gallery cleared."

Many of the women had come to Lansing from across the state to talk to their own lawmakers about abortion reform and tell a news conference of their united support for the proposal.

Abortion Reform Debate Heats Up

LANSING (AP)—As the Michigan Senate struggles toward a showdown vote on abortion reform, some attorney members contend the pending bill is full of legal loopholes and should be sent to committee for further study.

"That would "bury" the abortion question, argues Sen. Gilbert Bursley, R-Ann Arbor, sponsor of the measure.

Others maintain, however, that if there are legal questions, the judiciary committee would clear them up and report out "a better bill."

Spurring the talk of "loop holes" are Sens. Basil Brown, a Highland Park Democrat who backs reform, and James Fleming, a Jackson Republican who heads the antireform faction in the Senate.

Coalition Hinted

"There is a coalition being formed to get this bill off the floor so we won't have to face abortion this year," charged Sen. N. Lorraine Beebe, R-Dearborn, chairman of the committee which wrote the substitute to Bursley's original bill.

Brown and Fleming, both attorneys and members of the judiciary committee, pointed specifically Wednesday to a 90-day residency requirement in the proposal, which would allow a woman resident to obtain an abortion for any reason during the first 90 days of pregnancy.

Calling the residency stipulation "unenforceable," Fleming offered an amendment calling for a woman to certify her residency under oath before any abortion proceedings might begin.

Proposal Defeated

The Senate defeated that proposal on a voice vote.

Also turned down were proposed amendments that would have granted a husband "veto power" over his wife's planned abortion or called for a public vote on abortion reform before any measures approved by the Legislature took effect.

Judiciary Chairman Robert Richardson, R-Saginaw, offered the "consent" amendment, with Fleming's support. It was defeated 15-6.

"Speaking as a husband and the father of three boys, I think the husband has the right to be consulted," said Richardson. "If he is a family man, living with his wife, he has the right to be consulted."

Objects To "Language"

Richardson objected to the "in-between language" of the bill, which calls for a doctor to take "all reasonable and diligent steps to notify the husband" if he is living with his wife.

Fleming called that language "undefinable and unworkable."

Sen. Alvin Degrow, R-Pigeon, opposed giving the husband "veto power over what his wife does in this instance. If there could be a choice — should he carry the child or should she carry the child? — then he should have consent rights."

Mrs. Beebe said that a couple would have discussed any planned abortion before the woman saw a doctor "if they have a working marriage." If they don't, she suggested, then the state had no business requiring such consent.

Levin Backs Women

"If there is a difference of opinion, then the woman should have the ultimate say," declared Sen. Sander Levin, D-Berkley. "This bill says that government and certainly the father not be king."

The Senate turned down the referendum proposal, offered by Sen. Charles Youngblood, D-Detroit, on a voice vote.

"This is a moral and religious question," Youngblood said. "We should give the people a chance to vote."

"It is a moral question, but it is a personal moral question," countered Mrs. Beebe. "Just because I'm for or against (abortion reform), I don't have the right to impose my will on others."

The Senate endorsed a Bursley Amendment that struck a penalty clause included in the bill, which would have set a 15-year jail sentence, $7,500 fine or both for violation of the law.

Nation's High Schools Like Boiling Cauldrons

By WILLIAM J. WAUGH

WASHINGTON (AP) — America's high schools—from the ghettoes to the suburbs—today are like boiling cauldrons.

No one can predict when the pot will boil over, but already violence, vandailsm and noisy protest are common.

In February alone, a government survey showed, there were 43 incidents at high schools resulting in police being called 19 times to make 257 arrests—and many incidents go unreported.

Like Steam From Teapot

These confrontations are like the steam issuing from a bubbling teapot—they are the most visible manifestation of the widespread student unrest detected in a nationwide Associated Press study.

The study indicated that only a tiny percentage of the nation's 18 million high school students are in open, sometimes violent, rebellion. But, at the same time, student complaints dominated scores of interviews.

Students from New York to California say their schools operate in a prison-like atmosphere—armed guards, fenced schoolyards and in one California school locked classroom doors.

Other Complaints

Other complaints range from racism to censored newspapers, uninspired teachers to unrealistic regulations and refusal of school administrators and parents to listen to student demands for an education relevant to the world they must compete in.

Government officials are becoming increasingly concerned.

"I'm upset with the trend in the country," said youthfufl Tobey Moffett, director of the U.S. Office of Education's section on students and youth.

As incidents increase there is a demand for stricter rules by parents, administrators and politicians.

Police Not Feared

"There is no evidence that tougher rules, stricter discipline or calling the police cools the situation. It only serves to increase the tension. You are not going to scare kids into submission. They have neither respect nor fear of the police."

What's behind the widespread unrest and the more limited outright rebellion and radicalization of America's teenagers?

It's a complicated jigsaw puzzle, but students say they are reacting to racism, poverty, war, low quality of education and denial of their rights by principals, administrators, parents and politicians.

Situation Inhuman

"The current generation in the high schools has discovered that the situation they confront as students is inhuman and the status they hold is one of subjugaion," said teacher Marc Libarle in the introduction of a book he co-edited, "The High School Revolutionaries."

"There is nothing radical about what the students are asking—the right to form their clubs such as anti-war or political the right to dress as they wish, the right to a fair trial if accused," said Ira Glasser, New York Civil Liberties Union attorney who has been active in student cases.

Youth Won't Take It

Glasser, 32, added "my generation used to gripe but didn't fight. Today's youngster is not willing to take it."

"Because of TV," he continued, "many youngsters are aware of social problems before they can read. Anyone under 25 years of age has always lived under the shadow of nuclear war. That's significant. They know doom is just around the corner."

Glasser said in almost every instance where a school has trouble the students were rebuffed when they sought redress of grievances in an orderly fashion.

"When students become militant, they do so because of long frustration," he concluded.

Agitators Blamed

Once turmoil starts, many school administrators blame outside agitators. But Moffett said "there is a lot of evidence that outside agitators can't be blamed as the chief perpetrators of trouble."

He adds, however, that "external influence such as drugs, racism and war does influence school conduct."

Students say drugs are easy to get, on or off school grounds.

Ken Blumenthal, a senior and top scholar at Sullivan High in affluent North Chicago, said:

"It's abundant. Kids don't go much for liquor. Pot is easier to get and cheaper."

Mrs. Lillyann Mitchell, associate editor of a Teamster Union newspaper and mother of four who took an active part in calming St. Louis' predominantly black Beaumont High, sees other factors underlying the tumult.

Children Ashamed

"Our children love us," she observed, "but they say 'you couldn't help yourself so you can't help us.' The white children are ashamed of what their parents have permitted. That's why they wear long hair, dress sloppily. They want to be identified with the underprivileged."

Beaumont is a typical school where trouble began to brew but school officials and parents didn't see it coming. Last Oct. 16 the students were refused permission to stage a special Vietnam Moratorium program. The pot began to simmer, and boiled over during a Negro History Week program earlier this year.

Skits Presented

Four of six skits depicting contemporary Negro history had been presented when a school official stopped the program on the grounds profanity had been used.

Mrs. Mitchell said the "profanity consisted of such words as honkey and pig, none of so-called four letter words."

In the wake, three popular teachers were fired by telegrams which said "the cause of your termination is insubordination to the school administration . . ." The dismissals have been withdrawn but the teachers are not yet back in school.

Students reponded with boycotts. Police were called and although, according to Mrs. Mitchell, the students were peaceful they were pushed around and some arrested.

Several Shutdowns

Beaumont got a new principal —but not until there were several shutdowns and some vandalism. Commented Mrs. Mitchell: "This may be a blessing in disguise. The kids may have shown us the way."

Halfway across the continent, Roosevelt High in east Los Angeles has run the gamut of disruption after student demands —more money for college counselling, elimination of IQ tests and more Mexican-American studies—have gone largely unheeded.

Student leaders Jorge Rodriquez and Freddie Plank, each 17 and both instrumental in setting up Euclid High school for 50 other expelled students, describe Roosevelt "as like a prison. It's fenced. Gates are locked. Guards patrol the grounds and halls."

Classroom Doors Locked

A new principal has inaugurated what is called the "clean sweep." When the tardy bell rings, classroom doors are locked. Monitors go through the halls and herd youngsters they find into a cafeteria. Caught three times and a student must have his parents come to school.

"How can a locked door create an educational atmosphere?" asked Marlin Foxworth, a young teacher who is sympathetic to the students.

Plank and Rodriquez accused Los Angeles police of brutality during a recent demonstration which ended with both of them expelled. Foxworth, watching the demonstration from a window, gave this description:

"The police gave the kids five minutes to clear out. The kids didn't move and the police formed a semicircle and moved in. Three girls hugged each other and police broke them up. One girl actually was thrown bodily through the air. Another's arm was twisted until she whined with pain. They called them foul names and referred to them as dirty Mexicans."

Ore Tailings Not Affecting Fish: Expert

DULUTH, Minn. (AP) — A federal expert said Wednesday that it does not seem probable—from data available to date—that taconite tailings discharged into Lake Superior have direct adverse effects on fish or public water supplies.

Dr. Donald I. Mount, director of the National Water Quality Laboratory at Duluth, reported on a study made by his staff the past year. He made the report Wednesday at a reconvened session of the federal-state Lake Superior Enforcement Conference at Duluth.

Dr. Mount said the tailings discharged by the Reserve Mining Co. plant at Silver Bay, Minn., cause green water along the Minnesota shore.

He said there is "an adverse public reaction to the aesthetic appearance of this coloration. In my judgment, the effect of Reserve's discharge should be assessed in terms of altering the lake's appearance, rather than the toxic effects on fish and fish food organisms, or endangering water supplies."

Mount said, however, that bacterial and algal growth promotion and contribution of dissolved solids from the tailings contribute in an adverse way to water quality.

In Washington, Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D - Wis., has urged the Lake Superior Conference to take strong action to halt pollution of Lake Superior by Reserve Mining Co. with its taconite tailings.

Federal evidence, Nelson said, shows the tailings from the big mining company have spread over areas of a 1,000 square mile portion of Lake Superior, including Wisconsin as well as Minnesota waters.

2 Police Chiefs Shot In Battle With Gunman

MEMPHIS, Mich. (AP)—Two police chiefs were shot, one fatally, by a gunman who later was killed by a police bullet in his barricaded home, some 15 miles southwest of Port Huron in the Michigan thumb.

Chief Clifford Anger of Memphis was wounded and Chief William Lewis of nearby Capac was killed in the shootout.

Police said the incident began when Anger stopped a man, identified as Clifford Dulaney, 53, near his home in Memphis to talk about an old traffic violation. Authorities said the two men had been feuding for some time.

After a brief conversation, the man told Anger he was going to his house, about 200 yards away. As he walked away, witnessed reported, the man pulled out a .45 caliber automatic pistol and fired five shots at Anger, hitting him in the leg and stomach. Anger was reported in serious condition Wednesday night in a Mount Clemens hospital.

An off duty officer who witnessed the shooting radioed for assistance from Anger's nearby patrol car. Officers from neighboring cities and State Police posts rushed to the Dulaney home, where the gunman had holed up.

Police said Dulaney opened fire at the officers with a .300 Savage rifle. One of his shots ricocheted off a tree and struck Chief Lewis, killing him, police said.

The police then opened fire on the home with guns and tear gas. After the shooting from the house stopped, police waited about 20 minutes for the gas to clear. Eight men wearing gas masks entered the home and found Dulaney dead on the floor with a bullet wound in the head.

DNR Predicts There Will Be Plenty Fish

TRAVERSE CITY (AP) — The chief of the fish division of the State Department of Natural Resources has predicted that there will be more steelhead, lake trout, Coho and Chinook salmon for Michigan sportsmen to catch this year.

Dr. Wayne Tody told the Traverse City Area Chamber of Commerce that this year's steelhead run was the best in recent years and should be still better in 1971.

Tody reported there are more lake trout than in 1969 and the number of Coho salmon has doubled from last year. In adition, he said the Chinook salmon caught this year should range from 20 to 50 pounds while last year's catch averaged about 18 pounds.

The only dark spot in Tody's evaluation of the fishing picture was perch numbers. He said there are still too many alewives in the Great Lakes—for good perch fishing. The alewives compete with perch for food.

Tody noted that the department has changed its policies in recent years and that now if there is conflict between sport and commercial fishermen, "the department will put sport fishermen first and commercial fishermen second."

He said that before 1966 about 95 per cent of the department's efforts were concentrated upon inland waters but now the only work in most inland waters "must be one primarily of maintenance."

Despite the bright fishing outlook, Tody warned that, "if we don't control the environment, we can't expect to have good fishing."

Man Faces Charge Of Manslaughter In Youth's Death

NEW BOSTON (AP)—Donald Sands, 40, of New Boston, a part-time Huron Township police officer, has been charged with manslaughter in the shooting death of a 17-year-old New Brunswick youth.

The shooting took place March 4 when, Sands said, he found David Patch, 17, prying open a vending machine in a gas station.

Sands said he fired his shotgun when the youth whirled around with an object in his hand that the policeman said he thought was a gun. The object was a screwdriver.

Buyers' Bill

LANSING (AP)—A bill Rep. Philip Pittenger, R-Lansing, says would "make developers of land in Michigan deliver to the buyer what is promised in a contract" has been introduced in the Michigan House.

Pittenger said the three main points in his bill would provide assurances to the buyer that promised improvements will be made; provide that the seller delivers a good title; and require a full disclosure about the property, includingt he condition of the land and whether it is suitable for a homesite.

Bill Backed

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit's City Council has given its unanimous approval to a resolution supporting a Michigan House bill calling for the legalizing of off-track betting in the state.

Such a law would bring in an estimated $6 million to $10 million in revenue for the city, according to Councilman Anthony Wierzbicki, who sponsored the resolution.

Draft Director Tarr Discloses Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — New Draft Director Curtis B. Tarr is about to review—and perhaps rewrite—the 30-year accumulation of orders left behind by his predecessor, Gen. Lewis B. Hershey.

In an exclusive interview Tarr said he wants to give local boards guidelines to make their decisions more uniform—a reform long demanded by draft critics.

Tarr's remarks—as veiled by academic caution as Hershey's were by folksy jokes—revealed a belief that after three decades of directives from Hershey, many local draft boards still are not sure how to do their job.

Chief Legal Adviser

He said Keith McWilliams, a Des Moines, Iowa, lawyer, will become his chief legal officer within the next month, wading into the legacy of orders and memoranda to local boards and state directors.

Questioned on other aspects of draft policy, Tarr:

—Confirmed for the first time that President Nixon plans for an all-volunteer army of 2.5 million men, as estimated by a commission headed by Former Defense Secretary Thomas R. Gates.

—Said the administration does not want this army full of career soldiers, and anticipates volunteers will drop out after four to eight years and make room for young newcomers.

—Disclosed he is campaigning to make the membership of local draft boards younger and more "racially representative."

—Disclosed that a reduction in the number of local boards, which now number 4,087, is being considered.

Pay Raises Sought

In a message to Congress last Thursday, President Nixon sought payraises and benefits to encourage an all-volunteer army. But he warned it could not be achieved quickly and said the draft should be made fairer in the meantime.

As a start, Nixon barred all future occupational, agricultural and parent deferments, and sought congressional authorization to phase out student exemptions.

Said Tarr, in the interview, "All of the other thinking that I know of concerning reform relates to administrative actions that we can take here and throughout the system.

Understands Job

He said McWilliams "understands that one of his first jobs is going to be to go through all of the information that is in the hands of people at the local board and is used as a guide for their activity—regulations, memoranda and all kinds of directives.

"We think we can improve the information in the hands of people at local boards and at state headquarters.

"We think that if we do this, it will lead to more uniform decisions throughout the nation."

At the same time, Tarr said he is trying to improve the local boards themselves.

"The President has made it reasonably clear to us that he would like to have the local boards more representative of the population from which young people are drawn and would like to see more youth in the system at all levels," he said.

Will Explain Philosophy

"I am seeking to do this by visiting state headquarters, trying to impress state directors with the kind of philosophy we hope to have."

Local board members are appointed by the President upon recommendation by state governors, who Tarr said usually rely on recommendations from the state draft directors.

"The thing I was the most pleased about," he said, "was the attitude of the state directors in recognizing this to be a problem."

He said it is not a matter of "rooting out" present board members, but of making appointments to replace the 12 to 15 per cent who leave annually and to fill new seats when boards expand.

Did Sample Studies

Tarr said the General Services Administration—housekeeper for the government—did some sample studies "and concluded that we could get along with fewer boards," Tarr said in answer to a question about reducing and consolidating the large number of draft boards.

This, too, has been a reform frequently proposed—most notably by a commission, which reported to President Johnson in 1967.

"They suggested a more extensive, more definitive study be udertaken and we have authorized them to go ahead in conjunction with the Budget Bureau," Tarr said.

Not Sure Of Plan

Questioned on prospects for achieving an all-volunteer Army through President Nixon's $3.5 billion program of pay and benefits, Tarr said the administration does not really know how well the plan will work.

But he said military life "attracts a unique type of personality" who would prefer it over civilian life "given the freedom of choice and reasonably comparable economic opportunities."

The administration does not want an all-career Army, however, he said.

"I think this point needs to be emphasized," he said, "because in the kind of armed forces we want, we need some people for long periods of time but we need other people, and perhaps even more, who are on a rotating basis.

"... The Army would be hurt, would be crippled, if all of their enlistments stayed for 20 years."

Will Not Run

LANSING (AP)—Rep. Harry Rohlfs, R-Akron, who has been in the Michigan House since 1964, said Wednesday he will not seek re-election.

"There comes a time in a man's life when retirement begins to sound good," Rohlfs said. "At nearly age 68, I think it is time to see some of this wonderful country and spend some time with my family."

Economic 'Hat Trick' Eyed By Pres. Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — The economic signs remain mixed—some up, some down—but the Nixon administration is mounting a strong campaign to convince the nation it can "pull off the hat trick of economic history," restore stability without a recession.

A strong stock market rally and the first drop in the Wholesale Price Index in 18 months gave economic planners some grounds for joy Wednesday. The Dow Jones industrial average gained 13.06 points in recovering from its lowest point in six years.

But on the other side, New York economist Pierre Rinfret, a former Nixon campaign adviser, said an escalation of the war in Southeast Asia would mean worsened inflation and "the end of the American economy as we have known it."

And two little-noticed indicators gave a further clue to the nation's troubled business conditions—a rise in factory layoffs and a drop in help-wanted newspaper ads.

Rinfret's view was challenged by Treasury Undersecretary Charles E. Walker, who asserted at a seminar both attended:

"I believe this administration is about to pull off the hat trick of economic history—restoring price stability after four years of inflation, without an old-fashioned recession or an unacceptable level of unemployment."

Another Treasury official gave the sensitive financial markets no cause for cheer, however. Paul A. Volcker, the undersecretary for monetary affairs, said corporate tax collections are $1 billion to $5 billion behind the amount predicted in January.

As a result, he said, the current federal budget is only "in the neighborhood of balance." President Nixon forecast a $1.3 billion surplus 2½ months ago.

The stock market's recovery from its earlier slump was nearly torpedoed by the Pentagon's announcement that U.S. advisers will go into Cambodia with South Vietnamese troops.

The average was up 7 points when the announcement came, but inside an hour had dropped 11. But it recovered for the largest gain in a month.

Mayor Awarded Emergency Power At River Rouge

RIVER ROUGE (AP) — The River Rouge City Council, meeting late into the night Tuesday, passed an emergency ordinance detailing the powers of the mayor.

These include the power to declare a state of emergency and to impose a curfew. They also spelled out his rights to limit the sale of gasoline and liquor and the numbers of people who can congregate on a city street at any one time.

Monday night the state legislature defeated a bill allowing the mayors such powers.

The River Rouge Council took the action after disturbances by youths broke out Monday. A curfew has been imposed since then.

Livery Owner Burns 14 Boats - No Fishing

ALGONAC, Mich. (AP)— Ed Minnich, who reported $25,000 income from his Algonac boat livery last year, burned all of his wooden boats this week.

Minnich figured he might as well because mercury pollution of Lake St. Clair will keep his boat livery closed this year.

The 11 wooden boats which Minnich and his wife watched go up in flames Tuesday night were old and needed repairs to keep them serviceable for another two or three years.

"They wouldn't be much good laying over idle for the summer," Minnich said, adding that it would be senseless to spend money on repairing boats that probably would never hit the water this year.

But Minnich said he'll keep his 14 remaining boats—all aluminum—"ready and waiting" in case Canadian officials lift their ban on fishing in Lake St. Clair.

Minnich and his wife aren't the only members of their family feeling the economic pinch created by the April 15 fishing ban.

Minnich's brother, Wilford, operates a boat livery and sells tackle, bait and gasoline along the Middle Channel on Harsens Island, not far from here. He figures to lose money too.

Price Of Beer To Be Raised?

LANSING — Michigan's troubled legislature is ready to tackle the price of beer.

And Rep. William B. Fitzgerald (D-Detroit) is confused by all the fuss.

Fitzgerald sponsored a bill April 3, 1969, to fix the merchant's markup on beer at 22 per cent, from an uncontrolled average of 15 per cent, or a 16-cent increase on a $4.25 case.

The bill passed the House and went to the Senate on June 9, 1969, and has lain in the Senate Liquor Committee since that time, unattended.

Opposes Bill

Now comes Dianne McKaig, executive director of the Michigan Consumers Council opposing "in principle any form of price fixing which manipulates retail prices . . .

"Price fixing is basically incompatable with the free enterprise system and if some retailers are able to sell beer at a lower price, it should be their right to do so," Miss McKaig said.

"It should be also the right of the consumer to purchase commodities at a cost reflecting marketplace competition. I don't know why he'd (Fitzgerald) want to stop loss leaders."

Fitzgerald said he sponsored the bill for the Michigan Package Liquor Dealers Association to halt loss leaders because it constitutes unfair competition.

$14 Million Boost

Miss McKaig said the bill, by boosting the markup from 15 to 22 per cent, would raise beer prices by $14 million a year on the 48.5 million cases sold each year in Michigan.

"Michigan consumers should not be required by State law to spend this additional $14 million a year, particularly when no economic necessity or justification for such a cost increase exists."

She said that the food chain stores and the independents both oppose the bill and the Department of Commerce said "enforcement . . . would be a practical impossibility."

It was enough to make Fitzgerald cry in his stein.

"What's this all about?" he asked. "The bill's been over in the Senate committee for almost a year. And where was Miss McKaig when the liquor commission gave the wine makers a raise last year, only that was a flat 60 cents a bottle.

Business Regulated

"The beer business is highly regulated. You can sell only during certain hours, you can't sell to the general public (you must be 21, remember).

"Here's a guy who runs a store on a 15 per cent markup, and we tip waitresses that much. Only theirs is 100 per cent profit."

Miss McKaig said she'd heard the bill was to be taken up in the Senate and wanted to state the Consumer Council's position before it was too late.

"But it's an old story around here," Fitzgerald said. "Things are going along and suddenly you get hit with a rock.

"What's going on?"

Cable Car Sex Victim Wins Damages

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A 29-year-old former Sunday School teacher who claimed a cable car accident left her with insatiable sexual desires has won $50,000 damages.

An eight-woman, four-man jury returned the award verdict Wednesday in favor of Gloria Sykes, who maintained that psychological injury from the accident six years ago led her to have sexual intercourse with 100 men in the past year.

Miss Sykes had sought $500,000 damages from the city-owned Municipal Railway.

During the trial Miss Sykes, wearing a miniskirt and with her long blonde hair in a pony tail, testified that she was a virgin until she was a 22-year-old coed at the University of Michigan, but subsequently had two affairs there.

She came to San Francisco two weeks before the accident on Sept. 29, 1964. A Hyde Street cable car on which she was riding slipped its cable, plunged down a hill and slammed into a power pole.

Her visible injuries consisted of bruises on her thigh, calf and forehead and two black eyes.

A parade of former lovers and psychiatrists testified during the month-long trial.

Miss Sykes told the jury she received no pleasure from the numerous sexual encounters and once underwent an abortion.

Fr. Louis Cappo Named To Group Backing Milliken

LANSING — Fr. Louis Cappo, pastor of St. Anne's Church in Escanaba, was included today as a member of a "Michigan For Milliken Committee" announced by S. John Byington, a Detroit communications executive who will serve as chairman.

Fr. Cappo was the only person from the Upper Peninsula named to the committee.

Gov. William Milliken, although he has made no formal announcement of his candidacy for governor, last week indicated his choice for lieutenant governor and his announcement that he is a candidate is considered simply a formality.

"We believe it essential to the future of our state that Gov. Milliken run for and win the Governorship of Michigan this fall," said Byington.

More than 50 citizens have volunteered for the committee.

Gantenbein Notes Hearing Problems

Andrew Gantenbein, who heads the program for the deaf and hard of hearing children at Berrien Springs, spoke to the Better Hearing and Speech Society Wednesday evening at the Chamber of Commerce building.

Gantenbein noted that parents of hearing handicapped children live with their problems, that they should have a long range view of their goal and high expectations. He stressed that parents of these children must demand that their children be well educated while living at home.

At the Berrien Springs schools, any hearing handicapped child is included in the program, regardless of what his physical or mental problem may be. The program covers children from babies right through high school.

The Berrien Springs school system now has 100 children in the program and 18 classrooms for the hearing handicapped

Troutt To Run For Four-Year School Position

Alfred H. Troutt, Ford River, has filed nominating petitions for the vacant four-year term on the Escanaba Area Public School Board. The election is scheduled Monday, June 8.

Troutt, supervisor of the Hiawatha National Forest, is presently filling the four-year seat after being appointed to the board when Dan Wellman resigned. He is also the president of the Ford River PTA and has five children in the public schools.

He is a 1957 graduate of the University of Missouri, where he secured his degree in forestry. He returned to Michigan in the summer of 1967 from Missouri, his native state. He had previously worked as an assistant supervisor of the Ottawa National Forest with headquarters at Ironwood.

Troutt and his wife, Nancy, are the parents of five children: Gary, Nicholas, Treva, Kenneth and Elizabeth. He is an active member of the Society of American Foresters and a veteran of the U.S. Navy, serving from 1948 to 1952.

Vacant positions on the school board are the four-year term and one year of the four-year term presently being filled by Albin Pearson Jr., whose resignation becomes effective on June 30. Pearson was recently elected to the Escanaba City Council.

Persons wishing to run for one of the two vacancies on the school board must file petitions no later than Monday, May 11. Petitions may be picked up at the Annex, 1219 N. 19th St., and each petition must be signed by at least 20 registered voters, although more names are recommended in case of errors.

Persons circulating petitions must be registered voters and candidates must be registered voters and property owners.

19 Prep Students Arrested In City School Rampage

DETROIT (AP) — Two Detroit junior high schools reopened today after student walkouts Wednesday led to sporadic looting and heavy window damage.

Two police officers were injured and 19 persons arrested in the flareup.

The incidents occurred at Drew Junior High on Detroit's Northwest Side and at Jackson Junior High on the city's East Side.

Some 300 students staged a brief rampage at Drew, smashing 37 plexiglass windows, 18 glass door panels, two drinking fountains and several fire extinguishers at the modernistic building which was opened last January.

An American flag was lowered from its pole and burned in the school entranceway.

At Jackson Junior High, some students refused to return to school after a false fire alarm was turned in. They roamed through the neighborhood, smashing windows in nearby homes and stores, including a jewlery store where looters grabbed some merchandise.

The trouble at Drew Junior High started at midmorning when about 150 students walked out to protest the transfer of a substitute teacher.

Bark River

Kindergarten registration at the Bark River-Harris Elementary School will be on Wednesday, May 6, 8:30 to 12 noon and 1 to 3:30 p. m. The child must be five by Dec. 1, 1970. Parents are to bring the child's birth certificate. Regular kindergarten will not be held on this date.

The Menominee County School Administrator's Association elected Clifford Luft, Hermansville superintendent, president and Charles Pearson, Bark River-Harris High School principal as secretary.

The Bark River - Harris Board of Education approved the purchasing of a convection oven and a milk cooler through the National School Lunch Program.

'Joint' Gifts Cause Uproar

LANSING (AP) — Gov. William Milliken and a group of Michigan legislators today received in the mail what some believed were marijuana cigarettes.

Several senators, including acting Lt. Gov. Thomas Schweigert, R-Petoskey, received the cigarettes, and Rep. Loren Anderson, R-Pontiac, said he counted at least 23 House members who got what appeared to be "joints," a slang term for marijuana cigarettes.

Anderson asked the Michigan State Police to analyze the contents of the cigarettes and, if possible, check for fingerprints on the envelopes.

The cigarettes were mailed in official Wayne State University envelopes, which Anderson said "in all fairness could have been stolen."

Rep. Leonard Walton, D-Detroit, meanwhile, checked with postal officials to check on the mailing which had gone through a stamping machine.

Along with the cigarette-like enclosure, the legislators received a sheet of instructions on how to smoke a "joint". In the lower left-hand corner was a White Panther symbol. The White Panthers were in Lansing Tuesday calling for legalization of marijuana as well as the release of John Sinclair, their leader, who was sentenced to prison for possession of marijuana.

In Detroit, Dr. William R. Keast, president of Wayne State University, received a similar envelope in the mail today. He turned it over to the WSU Safety Department for investigation.

Wayne State spokesmen said the envelopes which bore the mark of the College of Education were available in many places on the campus making the job of trying to track them virtually impossible.

Meanwhile, Rep. James F. Smith, R-Davison, said he had talked with WSU officials about the envelopes today.

"The main thing now is to find out who is responsible for this blatant launting of our laws and see that this action does not go unanswered," he said.

Both Anderson and Walton said the metered stamp machine used to print postage on envelopes sent to the Capitol had been traced to Wayne State.

Anderson said a second envelope had been sent to the State Police Crime LAB at East Lansing.

"This may be the biggest put-on," Anderson said, "but it does show what you can do." He said he was convinced the appeal was a "legitimate demonstration" of concern for modification of state narcotics laws.

Irish Defeat Michigan 10-4

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Notre Dame center fielder Rich Lucke batted in three runs and second baseman Nick Scarpelli pushed two more across the plate Wednesday as the Irish baseball team defeated Michigan 10-4.

Ron Schmitz pitched all the way for Notre Dame against three Michigan hurlers. Schmitz allowed nine hits while his teammates gathered 13 from Michigan's Micky Elwood, Peter Help and Ed Byson.

Committee Formed To Back Milliken

LANSING (AP) — Political supporters of Gov. William Milliken announced today the formation of the "Michigan for Milliken Committee," aimed at boosting the campaign for his first elected term as governor.

S. John Byington, former campaign manager for George Romney and a Milliken appointee, said he had not talked with the governor about the committee before today, but that Milliken had been "pleased" with endorsement by the group.

Byington admitted, however, that members of the governor's staff "were aware of what I was doing."

The committee announcement appeared to signal the opening of Milliken's campaign for the post for which he has yet to formally announce his candidacy.

Milliken recently told newsmen that "'if I am a candidate," he would select U.S. Atty. James Brickley as his running mate.

Byington said the committee first would circulate petitions for Milliken, then distribute Milliken bumper stickers and brochures.

A campaign biography written by Dan Angell has been distributed in recent weeks.

Mrs. John Finegan is to be executive director of the committee. She has been chairman of the Michigan's women's commission.

Byington said committee offices have been opened in Lansing and in Detroit's Industrial Building.

Captains, Crew Fined $200 For Illegal Fishing

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—The captains and crewmen of two Canadian fishing boats seized by Ohio officials on Lake Erie were assessed $200 fines Wednesday and had their nets and catches confiscated.

The fines were levied against Captains James Greenslade and David Ryerse and six crewmen.

The fishermen were hit hardest by confiscation of their nets, valued at a total of $7,000.

Ryerse, captain of the B&E, said he would try to replace the nets, valued at about $3,000, but said he could be out of business for the year.

"Confiscation went out with the stone age," Ryerse protested. He also lost 3,300 pounds of pike worth about $600.

Greenslade, captain of the Donna Gay II, had $4,000 worth of nets and $800 worth of pike confiscated. He said he had other nets at his home base, Port Dover, Ont.

Both captains pleaded guilty in Painesville Municipal Court to fishing in Ohio waters.

Lake Erie Fish Served; Milliken Irked With Menu

LANSING (AP) — It was billed as a "Michigan Fish Dinner," but those who dined in the Capitol rotunda Wednesday evening ate fish from Ontario Waters of Lake Erie.

An aide to Gov. William Milliken said that when the governor learned of the origin of the menu, he sent someone out to seek Michigan fish on the market.

However, the aide said, most of the fish available in the Lansing area this season are from Canada.

The fish served at the dinner all were tested for mercury contamination, he added.

The feed was sponsored by the Great Lakes Fisheries Council, with the governor and legislabors as co-hosts.

Assassination Plot Backfires

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Police say a group of extremists who were "anti-Negro, anti-Jewish and antipolice" plotted to assassinate Superior Court Judge Alfred Gitelson who last February ordered integration of Los Angeles public schools.

The plot was foiled, police say, by undercover policemen who infiltrated the group so well that they were chosen as the assassins.

Police Chief Edward M. Davis disclosed the asserted plot Wednesday and said the 64-year-old judge and his family were under police protection.

Police said they found literature at the home of one of five men arrested indicating the group was "anti-Negro, anti-Jewish and anti-police." Gitelson is Jewish.

Market Loses Ground After Early Upswing

NEW YORK (AP) The stock market began a modest retreat from early morning gains in moderately active trading.

At 11 a.m. the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 1.59 to 738.98, after earlier having been up more than 4.

Advances outnumbered declines by nearly 2 to 1. In the opening, advances were ahead almost 4 to 1.

Analysts said the early morning upswing centered around professional traders, with the general public staying on the sidelines. Uncertainty over new Cambodian developments is adding to the caution, analysts said.

The market Wednesday staged what analysts called a strong technical rally in one of its best sessions in over a month. Trading was heavy with 15.8 million shares changing hands.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials closed up 13.06 at 737.39. This was the largest single day gain since March 25, when the Dow average jumped 16.37 to 790.13. The New York Stock Exchange's index of some 1,200 common stocks rose 0.90 at 44.98.

The rally came on the heels of a heavy sell-off following news that the U.S. was providing advisers and tactical air strikes for South Vietnamese operations in Cambodia. Analysts attributed the selling wave to a temporary panic reaction.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange also closed higher in the most active trading of the year. The Amex price-change index closed up .28 at 22.03. Volume was 5.67 million shares, heaviest since last Dec. 31 when more than 11 million shares changed hands.

FDA Investigating Agency Cover-Ups

By G.C. THELEN Jr.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Food and Drug Administration is investigating charges that agency officials have manipulated laboratory results for years to avoid weakening or contradicting established government policies on food additives and pesticide safety.

The charges, leveled by Dr. Howard L. Richardson, chief pathologist in the FDA's Bureau of Science, contend middle-level bureaucrats with limited scientific training have expunged conclusions and recommendations from reports on animal experiments because they cast doubt on FDA policies.

The findings might have caused FDA policy makers to reconsider "safe" labels for certain food additives and coloring agents and to re-estimate permissible pesticide levels for food.

Richardson's Oct. 20, 1969—dated memorandum to then FDA Commissioner Herbert L. Ley triggered a high-level, ongoing investigation, headed by Dr. Dale R. Lindsay, associate commissioner for science.

Ley, in an interview this week, termed Richardson's allegations "extremely sensitive and of major importance." Ley left the FDA last December and is now a private consultant.

A pathologist employed by the FDA especially to probe the charges has found substantial support for Richardson's position.

Reports Modified

"There have been modifications of statements and reports" said the consultant, Dr. Harold B. Stewart, retired chief pathologist for the National Cancer Institute. Stewart emphasized in an interview his findings were still preliminary.

Richardson's allegations, according to one congressional expert on the FDA, "cast doubt on the integrity of all FDA scientific positions for decades."

The FDA is a primary research center on the effects of additives and pesticides on human health and Richardson's charges deal with these factors —not drugs.

Richardson went directly to Ley, avoiding bureaucratic channels, after reviewing an FDA seeding experiment involving the artificial sweetener cyclamate done 20 years before.

Restrictions Imposed

The government imposed restrictions on cyclamates in 1969 after outside experiments linking the chemicals to bladder cancer, genetic damage and birth defects in animals.

Richardson, who joined the agency in 1968, said the old FDA slides and laboratory work sheets revealed what he termed a suspiciously high incidence of cancer in the test animals. The cancer findings were not mentioned in the published report.

The pathologist who conducted the original research told Richardson a nonpathologist superior had written the report and that he, the pathologist, had only signed it.

Decisions Supported

Richardson quoted the superior who prepared the 1951 report as saying policy decisions were "made on high level, and it was up to him, Dr. F to see that the official positions were carried out . . . the pathologist had to support such decisions, as he, Dr. F had been reinterpreting data for 30 years."

Richardson's memorandum—as supplied to the Associated Press by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare —used initials rather than names of involved officials. The original memo included names.

Experts believe cyclamates might not have been widely used—or possibly even permitted — if the 1951 cancer findings had been known by scientists.

Separation Blamed

Richardson blamed what he termed the disgraceful scientific climate in the FDA on separation of research experts from top policy officials by a middle level of bureaucracy.

The middle officials are determined to protect their jobs by supporting top level policy decisions at all costs, he said.

Asked to comment on the probe, current FDA Commissioner Dr. Charles C. Edwards said through a spokesman: "I am determined that we will make the maximum effort to make the judgment of our scientists available as quickly as possible to top officials of the FDA and the department."

Edwards has taken at least one step to meet the complaints of Richardson and other like-inded scientists.

He has inaugurated a special new reporting channel to allow scientists to take "extremely important information" directly to the commissioner, bypassing normal bureaucratic stops.

Policeman Shot; Suspect Faces Murder Charge

BENTON HARBOR (AP) — A 33-year-old Florida man was charged in a warrant Wednesday with first - degree murder in the fatal shooting of Benton Township police officer.

Everett Harrison, whose last known address was Pompano Beach, Fla., was being held as a police prisoner at a Benton Harbor hospital in fair condition with bullet wounds.

Harrison was arrested after the early morning shooting of Benton Township Sgt. Robert Stevens, who was killed while he was drinking coffee with another officer in a Benton Harbor restaurant.

Sheriff's deputies said Stevens and Deputy David Tiefenbach were drinking coffee when a man entered, grabbed Steven's pistol and fired at him.

The man was later shot and wounded by other officers outside the restaurant.

Funeral services for Stevens will be held Friday in the town of Fairplain, near Benton Harbor. He is survived by his widow and two children.

Right To Curb Speech Under Fire In Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three states whose laws are under attack before the Supreme Court say they have the right to curtail speech if it endangers the security of the state.

"New York has the right to prevent advocacy," said Maria L. Marchs, that state's assistant attorney general," "which is one step before the explosion."

Frederick J. Ludwig, chief assistant district attorney general for Queens County, said New York's criminal anarchy statute was used to foil a plot by black militants to sabotage subways, power plants and other facilities.

Eleanor J. Piel, attorney for a youth charged under the statute, told the court police used the statute in a harrassing action directed "against the thoughts of these defendants."

The New York law was upheld by a three-judge federal panel, but California's criminal syndicalism law and Illinois' law against threats have been overturned by similar courts.

New arguments in all three cases were heard Wednesday because the Supreme Court was unable to reach decisions in the various appeals heard last year.

The court also is hearing reaguments on Texas' "disturbing the peace" law which has been declared an unconstitutional restraint on peaceful protest by a lower court.

The 1902 New York criminal anarchy statute was used against 10 black militants charged with advocating overthrow of the government through sabotage and assassination.

An issue raised in all the cases was whether the federal courts should not have intervened in the state prosecutions because of a federal law limiting the use of federal injunctions in such cases.

Eye Moratorium On Reassessments

LANSING (AP)—Two Democratic state senators want a three-year moratorium on property reassessments.

Sens. John Bowman, D-Roseville, and John McCauley, D-Grosse Isle, have proposed a bill to that effect.

"Public outcry against dramatically escalating increases in property taxes calls for immediate and positive action on the part of the Legislature," Bowman said.

Parents Against 'Shuttling' Plans

Parents at the Hiawatha School don't want their children "shuttled around" to other schools as evidenced by open discussion during Tuesday night's board of education meeting at the township school.

No decision was made on how the board will absorb an anticipated "surplus" of sixth graders at Hiawatha next year. All of the 28 parents at the meeting felt their children should attend their Hiawatha School and not be bused to the Lincoln School, one of the alternatives the board is considering.

The board said they were attempting to resolve the problem with the least possible inconvenience to students and parents, preserve the quality of education by not creating combination or double grades and in the least expensive way (not hiring an additional teacher).

Suggested was leasing or buying a portable classroom (discarded because of excessive expense and because an additional teacher would have to be hired), transferring the kindergarten to the gym thereby providing an additional classroom (unsatisfactory to the kindergarten teacher), reopening the Mueller School and transferring students throughout the district back to their respective township schools (also too expensive).

A hint of dissatisfaction, coupled with a misunderstanding of the complexity of the Area Board's problems in the total school district, was obvious in off-handed remarks various parents made throughout the discussion.

The dissatisfaction is apparently linked with the reorganization of the individual school districts into the Manistique Area Schools—voter-approved four years ago—and emanates from a feeling that "the township has lost control of our school which we built and are still paying for," as one parent said.

Board President Denton Nelson said the board is concerned about every single child in the Manistique Area Schools—city and township alike—and is attempting to provide the best education possible with the money available.

No immediate decision is necessary on the Hiawaha pupil situation since the board was seeking parent reaction to the situation in an effort to find the best possible solution.

Four architectural firms will be interviewed next month as the board attempts to explore the possibility or a building remodeling program.

The four firms, including G. Arntzen & Company, Escanaba; Gjelsteen & Seaborg, Menominee; Warren Holmes, Lansing; and Kainlauri, Ann Arbor, were chosen from 17 firms who indicated an interest.

A special committee will evaluate the $500 bid of Jim Tennyson of Gulliver for the old Doyle School property and report at the May 12 meeting which will be held at the new Doyle School.

Nelson announced a special education meeting in Rapid River this weekend and a conference on School Building Programs in Marquette on May 8.

Female Jockey Slated To Ride In 96th Derby

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Diane Crump stood on the threshold today of becoming the first girl to ride in the Kentucky Derby, America's most glamorous horse race.

Standing between her and racing history were possible injury to her mount, another change of mind by the colt's interests and mud—the latter the most likely.

Early today trainer Don Divine told The Associated Press by telephone from his Louisville motel room that W. L. Lyons Brown's Fathom would run in Saturday's derby and Miss Crump would ride him.

Earlier, Divine had said that Fathom, who had finished seventh of 10 3-year-olds in Tuesday's Derby Trial, would not start in the 1¼ mile $125,000-added Derby. He said Brown had left the decision on whether to start the colt in the Derby to him.

But of the change in plans, Divine said "the owner wants to run and he pays the bills, so okay we'll run."

Asked his opinion of Fathom going in the Derby, Divine answered "if it comes up really muddy, I believe he'll let me take him out."

The Trial was run on an off-track and the weather forecast for Saturday said there was a 40 pct. chance of showers.

Should Fathom run in the Derby he is expected to join at least 16 other 3-year-olds.

The field was to be officially set today with entries being made from 7-9:30 A.M. EDT. The draw for post positions was to be held at 10 a.m.

Listed as the top probables for the 96th running of the Derby are Raymond Curtis' My Dad George, Samuel Agnew's Terlago, Mrs. Ethel D. Jacobs' Personality, Sonny Werblin's Silent Screen and Mr. and Mrs. Ted Gary's Corn Off The Cob.

Other probables included E. V. Benjamin III's and J. M. Jones Jr.'s Action Getter, Lin-Drake Farm's Dr. Berhman, Robert Lehmann's Dust Commander. Alan Magerman's George Lewis, Mrs. Jacob's High Echelon, Mrs. J.S. Dean's Holy Land, Her-Jac Stable's Naskra, Charles Engelhard's Protanto, W. C. Robinson's Admiral's Shield, Dr. Richard Kuhn's and Walter Hickey's Robin's Bug and Steve Carson's and Irving Apple's Rancho Lejos.

Plenty Of Hitting Occurs In Oriole, Bosox Clashes

By The Associated Press

It was just about a tosssup where the most hitting was taking place—in Chicago where Baltimore was using bats or in Boston where the Red Sox and Oakland A's were using balls.

The Orioles contented themselves with legitimate hitting, using five home runs—three by Paul Blair—to bury Chicago 18-2.

The Red Sox and A's aimed at each other instead of the ball with Boston pitcher Sonny Siebert and Oakland slugger Reggie Jackson the main participants in an old fashioned beanball war. When they got back to baseball, the Sox beat the A's 5-3.

Elsewhere in the American League Wednesday, Detroit trimmed Kansas City 8-2, Minnesota blanked Cleveland 1-0, Washington shut out Milwaukee 4-0 and California topped New York 3-2.

Home Run Power

Blair, Ellie Hendricks and Boog Powell all walloped three-run homers for the Orioles, who sprayed 20 hits around Comiskey Park.

Blair's first homer with two on came in the third inning and an inning later, he connected with one on. He capped his big night with a solo shot in the ninth inning.

The White Sox were never in the game with Baltimore building a 16-0 lead in the first five innings. The heavy hitting made it easy for Jim Palmer, who notched his third victory and contributed to the offense with two singles. Bill Melton homered for the White Sox.

Siebert struck out nine batters in the first five innings but got himself thrown out of the Boston-Oakland game in the beanball melee.

Fight Begins

It all started when Oakland's Chuck Dobson hit Siebert with a pitch in the Red Sox's fifth. When Siebert headed menacingly towards the mound, both benches emptied out, but the umpires kept the peace. They couldn't quite do that an inning later when Siebert's first pitch plunked Jackson.

Jackson was restrained by Umpire Bill Haller but the Oakland bench charged the mound and decked Siebert. Players poured on the field from both dugouts and bullpens and just when order seemed restored, Jackson charged through a crowd of players at Seibert and both went down in another brawl.

Siebert, Jackson, Oakland pitcher John Odom and Boston Coach George Thomas all were thrown out of the game. The umpires didn't have to bother ejecting Dobson. The Red Sox took care of that with two doubles and a single by Luis Alvarado keying Boston's attack.

Twins Win

Stan Williams bailed Jim Kaat out of a ninth inning jam and Minnesota shaded Cleveland on an unearned run.

Williams came on with runners on first and second and two out in the ninth and picked Tony Horton off second base to end the game.

The Twins got the only run they needed in the third inning when Tony Oliva scored from second as Cleveland third baseman Graig Nettles let Rich Reese's two-out bouncer get through for an error.

Aurelio Rodriguez and Frank Howard slammed homers and Dick Bosman scattered seven hits as Washington trimmed Milwaukee.

It was the second homer in as many days for Rodriguez, who was acquired Sunday from California. Ed Stroud added three hits for the Senators.

Bosman's complete game was only the second this season for the Washington pitching staff.

California trimmed New York with Andy Messersmith, Paul Doyle and Ken Tatum combining to limit the Yanks to seven hits.

Ken McMullen, who came to the Angels from Washington in the Rodriguez trade, drove in the deciding run with an eighth inning single as the Angels won in New York for the first time since Aug. 27, 1968.

Horton, Tigers Whip Royals

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Willie Horton is an impatient man with a baseball bat in his hands, and he says that is his biggest downfall.

"If I ever conquered that — being patient — I'd take my chances in this game," the barrel - chested Detroit outfielder said Wednesday night after slamming his first homer of the season and a triple to lead the Tigers to an 8-2 victory over Kansas City.

"I want to do so well; I want to hit so well, and the pitchers know that," Horton said. "I should have 20 walks, but it's the other way around...strikeouts..."

Horton claims he isn't concerned about hitting home runs, just hitting. For that reason, he said, he didn't surprise himself by not hitting a homer until the Tigers' 17th game.

However, Horton his nine home runs in spring training and had hit four by this stage of the 1969 season. So, the silence of his bat came as a surprise to a lot of other people.

"I don't worry about home runs, really, as long as I'm swinging all right," he said. "With me, it's just getting a ball to hit.

"Ted Williams proved that to me. In Washington, I didn't see a fastball. He showed me that they're going to pitch me slow breaking stuff. And I've just got to be patient."

Horton's homer, a towering blow to left-center, gave Detroit a 2-0 lead in fourth inning and his triple was the key blow in a two-run Tigers sixth that gave young Mike Kilkenny all the runs he needed to post a victory in his first start of the season.

"I didn't know what to expect," said Kilkenny, who had pitched only 1 2-3 innings of relife until Wednesday night. "I think I got tired. A pitcher hates to admit that, but it's the truth. All in all, I was fairly saisfied."

Kilkenny said he felt strong, perhaps too strong. "You tend to overthrow when you feel that strong," he said, "and that affects your control. Mine wasn't the best, but it was adequate."

The Royals broke Kilkenny's shutout bid with a run in the eighth on Ellie Rodriguez' single then added another on Amos Otis' triple and a sacrifice fly in the ninth. Fred Lasher spelled Kilkenny and got the final two outs.

Besides Horton's heroics, rookie outfielder Elliott Maddox hit his first major league homer for the Tigers, a two-run blow in the ninth, Al Kaline had a triple and Mickey Stanley got three hits.

Penguins Face Crucial Game

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Pittsburgh Penguins will need their characteristic resilience to bounce back against the St. Louis Blues in the sixth game of the best-of-seven Stanley Cup semifinals tonight.

The Blues lead the series 3-2 and this game could spell elimination for the Penguins.

For two years the Penguins watched while other teams in the National Hockey League's Division made the playoffs.

This season the Penguins finished second in the division behind the Blues.

The Blues took the first two games of the playoffs on their home ice, and the Penguins won the next two at Pittsburgh. Tuesday night St. Louis handily won 5-0.

"We haven't done anything easy all year," says Penguin Coach Red Kelly. "We've bounced back before. Don't be surprised if we're in St. Louis again Sunday."

To win, the Penguins will need to muster more offense than they did in the last game when they got only 21 shots on goal.

"I've said all along that no matter what game it is, we still have to beat them there," said Kelley. "Now it looks like game No. 7."

The Blues have won 15 straight playoff games on their home ice and the Penguins have scored only four goals in seven games during the season and playoffs. They have not won a game at St. Louis all year.

"We weren't outskated that badly," Kelly said of Tuesday's game. "We just stood around and let them roam all over the ice."

Knicks In Lead; Win In Overtime

LOS ANGELES (AP) — New York's Knickerbockers proved once and for all they can't be shocked out of the National Basketball Association championship.

Jerry West put them to the test Wednesday night. The Los Angeles Laker ace lofted a desperation shot with less than two seconds remaining. It dropped through the hoop 55 feet away at the buzzer.

Knicks Fail To Falter

The score then stood 102-102 going into overtime in the third game of this best- of-seven championship playoff. If New York was to falter, the Laker ace had provided them the cause.

Yet Dick Barnett, the guard the Lakers traded away five years ago, and Willis Reed reacted to the challenge to bring the Knicks a 111-108 victory.

Reed's free throw, his last of 38 points, and a windup field goal by Barnett finished the scoring to give the Knickerbockers a 2-1 series edge.

Barnett tallied 11 in the final quarter when the Knicks scored 34 to 29 for Los Angeles.

West scored 34 for the losers and Wilt Chamberlain added 21 plus 26 rebounds, although once again Reed, Most Valuable Player in the NBA, outplayed the veteran ace of the Westerners.

Reed Stars

In addition to his 38 points, Reed hauled down 17 rebounds, ably assisted by Dave DeBusschere with 15. The latter also contributed 21 points, including key baskets from outside in the final regulation period.

New York remains in Los Angeles to meet the Lakers Friday night, again at the Forum, where a sellout crowd of 17,000 watched the third game.

The Lakers, who won the second outing at Madison Square Garden 105-103 after losing the opener 124-112, jumped into a quick lead and held a 56-42 halftime advantage.

West accummulated 16 points by the intermission but New York limited him to a single free throw in the third period.

Walt Frazier explained: "Burnett and I alternated guarding him. Nobody can guard him an entire game and expect to do any offense. You just run out of gas. At that, we weren't getting as many open shots as in the first game."

Pressure Shooter

Barnett commented: "I thought the shot West made was the greatest pressure shot that I've ever seen."

Dick said he took the last shot in the overtime period because he was open but actually it had been planned for Bill Bradley to take it.

Coach Red Holzman said: "Obviously there is not much difference between our two clubs. I don't think off that game anybody could say which club was better."

Holzman said the Knicks did not have any particular strategy and intimated the same would be true Friday night.

The Lakers coach, Joe Mullaney said: "We've had trouble all year getting rebounds on the offensive board and we had the same trouble this time. We just had too many turnovers in the second half."

Packers Acquire Veteran Player

GREEN BAY, Wis. — The Green Bay Packers Wednesday got tight end Jacque MacKinnon, 30, from the San Diego Chargers in exchange for an undisclosed choice in the 1971 draft.

MacKinnon, 6 feet 4 inches and 240 pounds, made the American Football League All-Star squad in 1968, and is regarded as one of the best blocking tight ends in football. He will be in his 10th pro season. He went to Colgate.

His acquisition will make tight end one of the most populous positions on the team. The Packers traded earlier to get John Hilton from the Pittsburgh Steelers, and used a first round draft choice to take Rich McGeorge of Elon College. The 1969 regular, Marv Fleming, will become a free agent at midnight Thursday and is expected to be traded shortly thereafter.

Mud Hens Beaten Again By Tides

By The Associated Press

The Toledo Mud Hens would be just as happy if the Tidewater Tides didn't come back during the rest of the International League season—especially pitchers.

The Tides completed a three-game sweep by routing the Mud Hens 15-4 Wednesday night and remaining within half a game of the league - leading Syracuse Chiefs. It was the heaviest bombardment of the series that saw the Tides bang out 51 hits and score 34 runs.

Les Rohr gave up 11 hits, two more than the Mud Hens had collected in the two previous defeats—10-2 and 9-1—but he also collected two hits of his own, giving Tidewater pitchers a 9-for-13 series at bat.

Syracuse held its lead with a 4-3 victory over the Columbus Jets, but the Rochester Red Wings tumbled to third place in an 8-6 defeat by the Louisville Colonels, their second in a row after eight straight victories.

Carty Extends Hit Streak As Braves Dump Cardinals

By The Associated Press

Rico Carty claims he is not a streak hitter but National League pitchers haven't stopped the Dominican Dandy in three weeks with the St. Louis Cardinals moundsmen his latest victims.

19 Games

Carty, whose ninth inning double got Atlanta a tie before the Braves exploded four more times in a 10-6 victory over the Cards Wednesday night, also extended his hitting streak to 19 games.

"I'm not a streak hitter," the 29-year old Braves' left fielder said. "I don't know what kind of hitter I am."

Cards reliever Chuck Taylor found out in the ninth when Carty drilled a double to right, tying the game at 6-6 before Richie Allen's error of Felix Millan's bouncer sent across the lead run.

Before the inning was over, Nelson Briles had wild pitched another run across and winning reliever Bob Priddy drove in the last pair with a single.

In other National League contests, Chicago belted Pittsburgh 10-5, Cincinnati downed Houston 5-3, Los Angeles stopped Philadelphia 6-1, Montreal routed San Diego 10-0 and San Francisco edged New York 8-6.

Braves Rally

Carty, 29, who went hitless opening day April 7, hasn't been without a hit in a game since. Wednesday night, Rico was shut out in three at bats before walking in the eighth when the Braves rallied for four runs to get within 6-5 of the Cards.

Then in the big ninth, Atlanta's Tony Gonzalez drew a one-out walk, moved to second on Hank Aaron's single and crossed on Carty's two-bagger. The hit—in his last chance—raised his batting average to .411 on 30 hits. He also has 18 runs batted in.

Carty, a .311 lifetime hitter in his six years in the majors says "I'm a lucky hitter. Sometimes it's better to be lucky than good."

But teammate Clete Boyer disagrees with the Dominican Republic slugger, who was sidelined in 1968 with a bout of tuberculosis. "This guy can hit anybody alive," he said.

Cards' Manager Red Schoendienst didn't have too much to say but did say, "They got nine runs in a hurry, didn't they?

Billy Williams, playing in his 9th consecutive game, slammed a homer and single for three RBI as the Cubs battered the Pirates, who had stopped their 11-game winning string Tuesday. Willie Smith added a homer for the Cubs, his first.

Pitches No-Hitter

DETROIT (AP) — Freshman Doug Konieczny, who turned down a Detroit Tiger contract to attend Wayne State University, pitched a no-hitter Wednesday to give the Tartans a 3-0 victory in the second game of a doubleheader with the University of Detroit.

Detroit won the first game 7-5.

Konieczny struck out 10 in the game, but made going rough for himself as he loaded the bases three times on walks. He gave up a total of 10 walks in the game.

Williams' blast was his seventh of the season.

Merritt Wins No. 5

Jim Merritt became the major's first five-game winner but needed relief help in the Reds' triumph, which maintained their West Division lead to 5½ games over San Francisco and Los Angeles.

Clay Carroll bailed out left-hander Merritt in the eighth inning after Houston, losing its eighth straight, cracked the sixth double off Merritt, who has lost once this season. John Bench had a two-run double for Cincinnati while Joe Pepitone had a solo homer for the Astros.

Andy Kosco's two-run homer helped the Dodgers end the Phillies' six-game winning streak and Claude Osteen twirled a five hitter for his second straight victory after three losses. Kosco's third homer of the season, in the fifth inning, keyed a three-run gdodger explosion.

Padres Win

Home runs by Ollie Brown and Al Ferrara backed the three-hit pitching of Pat Dobson, snapping the Padres' six-game losing streak in the romp over Montreal.

Dobson, 2-2, became the first Padre to go the distance this season in San Diego's first 21 games. The right-hander struck out 11 and walked six.

Ron Hunt, who rapped out four hits, singled in the eighth with the bases loaded, driving in the lead run in San Francisco's triumph. Hal Lanier added a three-run homer and Bobby Bonds a solo shot for the Giants. Mike Jorgensen and Donn Clendenon had homers for the Mets.

Colonels Advance In ABA Playoffs

By The Associated Press

Gene Moore of the Kentucky Colonels finally solved his foul problems—and in the process led his team into their first American Basketball Association Eastern Division finals.

Moore, who picked up four quick fouls Wednesday night and played only 10 minutes of the first half, came back to lead a second half Kentucky rally as the Colonels downed the New York Nets 112-101 to win their best-of-seven division semi-finals 4-to-3.

The Colonels travel to Indianapolis Friday night to open their best-of-seven division finals with the Indiana Pacers. The division - winning Pacers gained their berth by sweeping their semi-final series with the Carolina Cougars in four games.

The Western Division finals open tonight with Los Angeles playing at Denver. The Stars upset Dallas by taking their semi-final playoffs in six games, while Western Division champ Denver needed seven games to eliminate the Washington Caps.

Moore, who at 6-9 and 225 pounds is the mainstay of the Colonels' front line, led the league in disqualifications during the regular season and fouled out of four of the playoff games — including Wednesday night's contest.

However, he managed to stay in the game until the final minute — and by that time Kentucky had a 14 point lead. Moore finished with 19 points and hit nine of 14 shots from the field.

A pair of Colonel substitute — George Tinsley and Wayne Chapman — also played a major role in the victory. They combined for nine points in the final two minutes of the first half to bring Kentucky from a 10-point deficit to within 48-46 at halftime.

The Nets fade-out continued in the second half, as Kentucky went ahead at 52-50 with 10:38 left in the third quarter and never looked back.

New York managed to come within four points on two occasions in the final period but never caught up.

Seven Colonels hit double figures — Louie Dampier 22, Moore 19, Jim Ligon 15, Sam Smith and Darel Carrier 14 each and Tinsley and Chapman 11 apiece.

Sonny Dove had 24 points for the Nets, while Levern Tart added 23 and Ed Johnson 20.

New York had a 3-2 edge in the series, but lost at home 116-113 to the Colonels Tuesday night.

Judge Claims Kennedy Negligent In Mishap

legal official says there is nothing to prevent it from reopening the case.

Boyle could not be reached for comment.

Destination Disclosed

In Kennedy's two hour appearance at the inquest in Edgartown District Court, he testified that his destination when he and Miss Kopechne left a Chappaquiddick party was the Katama Shores Motor Inn in Edgartown, where she was staying, and then the Shiretown Inn, where he had a room.

In his report, Boyle noted that Kennedy normally did not drive, and that John B. Crimmins, his chauffeur, was among the guests at the Chappaquiddick party. Six men were there, as were six young women who had worked in the presidential campaign of the late Robert F. Kennedy.

Among the other points Boyle cited:

"Kennedy told only Crimmins that he was leaving for Shiretown, and requested the car key . . .

"Kopechne roomed with Esther Newburgh, the latter having in her possession the key to their room.

Had No Room Key

"Kopechne told no one, other than Kennedy, that she was leaving for Katama Shores and did not ask Newburgh for the room key.

"It was known that the ferry ceased operation about midnight and special arrangements must be made for a later trip. No such arrangements were made."

Kennedy testified that after the plunge he recalled Miss Kopechne struggling, kicking "and I, at this time, opened my eyes and realized I was upside down, that water was crashing in on me, that it was pitch black . . .

"I realized that Mary Jo and I had to get out of the car."

Groped For Window

He said he remembered pushing at the door, groping for the window.

"And I remember the last sensation of being completely out of air and inhaling what must have been a half a lung full of water and assuming . . . that I wasn't going to get out of that car alive and then somehow I can remember coming up to the last energy of just pushing, pressing and coming up to the surface."

Kennedy said the tide swept him 30 to 40 feet from the car. He said he waded back against the current, began diving to the automobile in an effort to rescue Miss Kopechne.

Tells Of Diving

He said he dove seven or eight times, until he was exhausted, then crawled and staggered to the bank of the pond. After 15 or 20 minutes, Kennedy said, he started down the road, "walking, trotting, jogging, stumbling as fast as I possibly could."

Back at the cottage, Kennedy found Raymond S. La Rosa outside and asked for his cousin, Joseph F. Gargan, and Paul F. Markham, a friend and former U.S. attorney, who were in the cottage.

He, Gargan and Markham drove back to the bridge, Gargan and Markham stripped and began diving to the submerged car. Kennedy said they tried for 45 minutes to find Miss Kopechne. They failed, took Kennedy to the ferry crossing, urging him to report the accident to police, then returned to the cottage.

Quizzed About Delay

Kennedy faced extensive inquest questioning about the delay in the accident report.

Dinis: Was there any particular reason why you did not call either the police or the fire department?

Kennedy: Well, I intended to report it to the police. . . .

Dinis: I see, and did something happen to prevent this?

Kennedy: Yes.

Dinis: What was that?

Kennedy: . . . Mr. Markham and Mr. Gargan (said to me) at different times as we drove down the road towards the ferry, that it was necessary to report this accident.

"A lot of different thoughts came into my mind at that time. . . .

Kept Wandering

"I just wondered how all of this could possibly have happened. I also had sort of a thought and the wish and desire and the hope that suddenly this whole accident would disappear, and they reiterated that this has to be reported, and I understood at the time that I left that ferry boat, left the slip where the ferry boat was, that it had to be reported and I had full intention of reporting it, and I mentioned to Gargan and Markham something like 'you take care of the girls, I will take care of the accident'—that is what I said and I dove into the water . . ."

Wanted Secrecy

By that time, Kennedy said, he was convinced Miss Kopechne had drowned.

He instructed Markham and Gargan not to tell the other girls of the accident.

His explanation:

"I felt strong that if those girls were notified that an accident had taken place . . ., that it would only be a matter of seconds before all of those girls . . . would go to the scene of the accident and dive themselves and enter the water and with, I felt, a good chance that some serious mishap might have occurred to any of them."

Kennedy said he swam to the Edgartown side of the channel and went to his hotel room.

Quizzed By Pals

In the morning, he saw Gargan and Markham at the hotel.

"Well, they asked had I reported the accident and why I hadn't reported the accident and I told them about my own thoughts and feelings as I swam across that channel . . . and as I almost tossed and turned, paced that room and walked around that room that night . . . .

"I told them how I somehow believed that when the sun came up and it was a new morning that what had happened the night before would not have happened and did not happen, and how I just couldn't gain the strength within me, the moral strength to call Mrs. Kopechne at 2 o'clock in the morning and tell her that her daughter was dead."

Kennedy, Markham and Gargan took the ferry back to Chappaquiddick.

Notifies Police

"It was to make a private phone call to one of the dearest and oldest friends that I have and that was to Mr. Burke Marshall," Kennedy said.

"It was my thought that once I went to the police station that I would be involved in a myriad of details and I wanted to talk to this friend before I undertook that responsibility."

Marshall is a lawyer, a former assistant attorney general under Robert F. Kennedy. Sen. Kennedy did not reach him. Boyle's summary said Kennedy also telephoned his administrative assistant, David Burke, in Washington

Kennedy then returned to Edgartown and reported the accident to Police Chief Dominick Arena. "I think it was sometime before 10 a.m." he said.

Information Sought

As Kennedy left the witness stand, the judge again sought an explanation of his failure to seek further aid the night of the accident.

"It is because I was completely convinced at that time that no further help and assistance would do Mary Jo any more good," Kennedy said.

"I realized that she must be drowned and still in the car at this time and it appeared the question in my mind at that time was, what should be done about the accident."

Kennedy said that a week after the accident he was considering resigning from the Senate. Five days after that he said he would remain, would run again, and if re-elected, would serve a full term.

Ranked Top Demo

Until the accident and its aftermath, he had ranked at the head of the list of potential Democratic challengers to President Nixon in 1972. A six-year Senate term would take him past that election, and Kennedy said his full-term pledge meant he was out of the 1972 presidential picture.

In his inquest testimony, as in his televised account of the accident last July 25, Kennedy denied any involvement with Miss Kopechne.

"I have never in my life, as I have stated in my television talk, had any personal relationship whatsoever with Mary Jo Kopechne," he testified.

Kennedy said he had two drinks of rum and Coca Cola during the Chappaquiddick party, some beer earlier in the day.

Judge Boyle: In your opinion you would be sober at the time that you operated the motor vehicle to the Dike Bridge?

Kennedy: Absolutely sober.

COMING SOON: THE LITTLE CAR THAT DOES EVERYTHING WELL.

Late this summer, Chevrolet will bring out a new little car.

Truly new.

And truly little.

Who needs it, you ask?

Fair question. There's already a bunch of little cars on the market. And a few of them ,we'll reluctantly admit, aren't half bad. We'll also admit they all leave a little something to be desired.

EVERYTHING? EVERYTHING.

Our little car, which we're still finding ways to improve, will leave nothing to be desired.

Its talents will be impressive.

For instance, in our own highway tests, our new mini has been traveling almost as far on a quart of gas as some cars go on a gallon.

Yet the car moves like a rabbit.

Front disc brakes will stop you emphatically

It is uncommonly steady in crosswinds.

Nimble and easy to park.

Simple and easy to fix.

And strong. Strong body, strong chassis, strong engine, strong everything.

The inside isn't fancy. But it sure isn't plain. And there's room in there for four full-grown people. (Or, two full-grown people and three or four semi-grown people.)

All that, and considerable more, for the same kind of money people have been paying for ordinary everyday little cars.

We wouldn't blame you for being skeptical. The car does indeed sound too good to be true.

Bear with us. Read our future ads, in which we'll get progressively specific with facts, features, dimensions, statistics.

Then, in a few months, we'll hit you with the biggest little persuader of them all: the car itself. Four of them as a matter of fact.

A sedan, a coupe, a station wagon. And even a little panel truck.

YOU'LL SEE.

MARQUETTE—A 51st Birthday Testimonial Dinner, in honor of State Sen. Joseph S. Mack (D-Ironwood) will be held at 7:30 p. m. Saturday, May 9, in the Great Lakes Room of Northern Michigan University's University Center.

State Rep. Dominic Jacobetti (D-Negaunee) is the honorary chairman of the Testimonial Dinner Committee.

The Testimonial Dinner is to pay tribute to Sen. Mack for the many achievements which have been realized, both for his district and the State of Michigan, through his legislative leadership, the Dinner Committee said.

Business and political leaders from throughout the state are planning to attend the dinner, which is also open to citizens in the Upper Peninsula. Reservations for attending the dinner may be made by writing to Tom Jernstad, Northern Michigan University, Marquette 49855.

U-M Counsellor Sentenced, Fired

ANN ARBOR (AP)—A black counsellor at the University of Michigan was fired Wednesday from his job in the school's housing office after being sentenced Tuesday for perjury.

John Feldkamp, U-M housing director, announced the firing of Shawn Tarrant, who earlier had been suspended.

Tarrant was suspended by Judge Ross Campbell. He had been cited for perjury in giving false statements under oath about his educational background and police record.

Feldkamp said Tarrant also gave false information when he was hired by the university.

The perjury charge arose out of Tarrant's cross-examination at a contempt hearing. He had earlier refused to give the names of students involved in an assault on another student.

Recover Body Of Jack English

CHICAGO (AP) — Scuba divers recovered the body Wednesday of one of two men aboard a twin-engine private aircraft that crashed into fog-shrouded Lake Michigan Tuesday night.

The body, found strapped in a seat of the Cessna 336, was identified as Jack B. English, 45, of Wakefield, Mich., owner of the plane and operator of Indianhead Mountain Ski Lodge near Wakefield.

The second man, Richard Vitullo, 24, of Chicago, was not found. He was identified as the pilot of the plane which crashed shortly after taking off from Meigs Field, a small downtown lakefront airport.

NO DICE

LONDON (AP) — British model Lara Koski, 19, came back from the Paris collections with a "no dice" verdict on Frenchmen as wold-be lovers.

Said Lara: "We got pestered a bit more than we would in London but Frenchmen are just a laugh.

House Facing New Turmoil On School Aid

LANSING (AP) — Gov. William G. Milliken's endorsement of a Senate GOP stand against any election-year tax increase has thrown the Michigan House into new turmoil over the controversial Spencer-Ryan school aid plan.

That $1.22-billion, House-passed proposal is $271 million above Milliken's recommendation. Added controversy is generated by the presence in the bill of a $22 million parochiaid section. In addition, the bill is predicated on an across-the-board increase in the state income tax to raise some $350 million in new revenue.

Minority Leader Robert E. Waldron, R-Grosse Pointe, an irrevocable parochiaid foe, is moving to force a vote on the long-stalled income tax bill in the House.

At the same time, Waldron and Rep. William R. Copeland, Democratic chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, reportedly are preparing a contingency plan that foresees no legislative enactment of any school aid bill this year. It proposes to inject additional funds into some other appropriation bill to allow a modest supplement to the $839 million that Michigan public schools are receiving this year.

Meanwhile, Democratic Speaker William A. Ryan and Rep. Roy Spencer, R-Attica, are attempting to hold their weakening coalition by proposing only a 2.9 or 3.1 per cent individual rate. Their original plan called for raising the present 2.6-per cent individual income tax rate to 3.5 per cent.

Glenn S. Allen Jr., Milliken's budget director, has met with both House caucuses, warning that failure to pass any school aid bill this year will substantially cut the aid schools now receive.

Allen contends that increases in local property assessments will cause the reduced state aid.
